THREAT OF SCANDAL IN MRS. BULL'S SUIT

Qualey Asks Her Lawyer Why He Doesn't Tell Whole Thing and Says It Will All Come Out.

HINT OF HIDDEN LETTERS

Mrs. Bull Gets an Injunction Tying Up Bank Deposits of the Two Asbestos Promoters.

Mrs. Mary Nevins Bull, widow of Dr. William T. Bull, had served on two banks yesterday injunctions restraining them from paying out deposits made by John A. Qualey and Harvey Wiley Corbett, whom she accuses of defrauding her of $35,000.

Supreme Court Justice Lehman reserved decision on applications of the accused men for writs of habeas corpus. He declined to reduce their bail, fixed at $20,000 each by Magistrate Krotel. He will probably hand down his decision to-day.

Qualey and Corbett kept the Justice waiting at the Court House yesterday evening to sign their bail papers, but at the last minute set by the Justice, John F. McIntyre, their attorney, telephoned that the bail could not be given till to-day.

Qualey made a scene in the courtroom during the habeas corpus hearing by shouting to Charles L. Craig, one of Mrs. Bull's lawyers:

"Craig, why don't you tell this whole thing? Why don't you tell about the Van Valkenburg letters? It will all come out soon and be a great scandal."

"Tell anything you want to," Craig replied.

"I will at the proper time," Qualey responded.

An old man who said he had been duped by Qualey entered the courtroom and tried to talk to Qualey. Qualey jumped up and ran to the clerk's desk, where he cried out:

Corbett Loyal to Qualey.

"I want a bailiff to protect me from this man!" Court officers ejected the intruder from the room.

Gilbert Colgate, the son of the soap manufacturer, came to court late in the afternoon to give bail for Corbett. Corbett insisted that bail for Qualey be given first. Mr. Colgate declined to offer bail for Qualey. Speaking to reporters in the presence of his counsel, John F. McIntyre, Corbett said:

"If only one of us is to get out on bail, let it be Mr. Qualey. If we can raise $40,000, then I will go out, too, but if it is to be only $20,000, I want Mr. Qualey to be free.

"Mr. Qualey is all right. He is the head and shoulders of this company. [the Magnesia Asbestos Company.] He made it what it is, built it from the ground up. I have every confidence that if he is released he can save it from the attack now made upon it.

"I know the company is all right. I know every dollar that has been taken in, and I know where every dollar has gone. I know every piece of property the company owns.

"Every representation that Mr. Qualey has made I personally back up. The properties of the company are worth to-day $1,000,000. The property in Newark is worth $500,000. The realty alone would sell under the hammer for $150,000. You don't think we could get a forty-thousand-dollar mortgage on it if it weren't worth something, do you?

"The Boston property is worth $500,000, and would sell for over $100,000 under the hammer. That has a $50,000 mortgage on it. We haven't paid the Newark mortgage, because we were not pressed to do so. We used the money for improvements. We were out to make a paying factory, not to buy Jersey real estate."

More Warrants Awaiting Them.

While the negotiations for bailing out the two men were in progress, word was received at the County Court House that Magistrate Krotel had issued warrants for Qualey and Corbett, on affidavits by Mrs. Bull charging grand larceny in New York State. The affidavits had been prepared after Mrs. Bull had consulted with Assistant District Attorney Perkins at the Criminal Court Building. Detective Price of Headquarters came to the County Court House to serve the warrants should the two men be released on bail on the Rhode Island charge. His presence discouraged Qualey and Corbett in their hunt for bail from surety companies. Later the two men were taken back to Jefferson Market Prison, and Magistrate Krotel withdrew the warrants, stating that new ones could be obtained if the writ of habeas corpus proceedings should be decided in favor of the prisoners. The Magistrate said it would savor of oppression to hold a second warrant over the head of a prisoner already incarcerated on another charge growing out of the same transaction.

The injunction tieing up the money of the two accused promoters was granted by Justice Lehman just after he had heard the argument on the writs of habeas corpus. It was directed against the accused men, the Fifth National Bank of New York, the First National Bank of Hoboken, the Stone Age Plaster Company, and the Magnesia Asbestos Company. Mrs. Bull made affidavit that some of her $35,000 was in the two banks and in the possession of the two companies and Corbett and Qualey.

Friend Browning Doesn't Help.

Clarence P. Browning, who holds the $41,000 mortgage on the Newark plant of the Stone Age Plaster Company, which will be foreclosed under an order of the New Jersey State Court of Chancery to-day, made an affidavit submitted to Justice Lehman with Mrs. Bull's affidavit. He had been classed by Qualey and Corbett "as one of our friends." They said he would force the sale to-day under the court order. They declared that the Magnesia Asbestos Company owns all the stock of the plaster company.

Browning said he had visited the plant in April and again in July and found no indication of any operations being carried on there or that any product was ever shipped. His last visit to the factory was on Friday, July 29.

Qualey looked very tired and nervous in court. He edged his chair up close to the counsel table and continually offered suggestions to Mr. McIntyre's clerk, while Mr. McIntyre was talking. After the argument he was asked what he meant by his challenge to Attorney Craig. He said:

"Well, I've stood almost too much. So much mud has been thrown at me. Why, if I wanted to throw mud I could tell you things"—

"Don't do it, John," broke in Corbett, placing a slim but powerful hand on Qualey's arm. The athletic Corbett, immaculately groomed, towered over the small, nervous Qualey. Qualey's mouth stopped twitching for a moment, as Corbett threw a big muscular arm around his body.

"No, I'll play white man this time.

TWO FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Woman Believed to Have Killed Doctor on Eve of His Marriage.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—Dr. George Murray Stewart, one of the most prominent young physicians of the fashionable East Liberty district, was found shot dead in his apartments at 5,604 Penn Avenue, at 11 o'clock to-night, and beside him lay the body of Edna Wallace, a middle-aged woman. A shot through her right temple was apparently self-inflicted after she had shot and killed the doctor. A revolver lying by the woman's side strengthens the police in this theory.

The double killing comes almost on the eve of Dr. Stewart's marriage to a Virginia woman. The police believe that jealousy of the doctor's coming marriage prompted the double tragedy.

The woman's body was removed to the Morgue and that of the young physician was turned over to an undertaker. The police believe the shooting occurred late last night or early this morning.

Dr. Stewart was a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore. He was 27 years old, and although in practice here only three years, he had become well known in the East Liberty section, having succeeded to a large practice held by his uncle, Dr. E. C. Stewart. He is said to have come from a prominent family at Winchester, Va.

The discovery of the bodies was made by Dr. George W. Ely, a friend of the dead man, who, becoming alarmed at Dr. Stewart's absence, broke into his apartments to-night. Dr. Stewart was to have been married Aug. 10.

BRAWN TO COUNT MORE.

Croker's Ideas of Examining Policemen and Firemen to be Carried Out.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has at last decided in what way it will go about the revision of the mental tests for applicants for places as firemen and policemen, advocated some time ago by the Mayor, at about the same time that Chief Croker declared that more attention was being paid in the examination to "brain rather than brawn."

The entire list of mental questions will be revised by the commission with a particular view to the reduction of the restrictions which have heretofore shut out many applicants for appointment from outside the city. One of the first requirements which will be taken up is that of "localities," which embodies many questions which only a man most familiar with the city could answer offhand.

Since the probation period of firemen and policemen was raised to six months, the commission believes that it might well do away with these questions entirely, allowing the men, otherwise passing the examination, to familiarize themselves with the city during this six months. The Mayor is thoroughly in accord with the commission in its move.

While he was discussing this question yesterday the Mayor was asked if he had received a report from the Police Commissioner with reference to the identity of the fourteen policemen found drinking with three firemen in an Amsterdam Avenue brewery last week. He replied that he had not. The three firemen have been identified and will be put on trial shortly.

TO DEVELOP HAITI.

Contracts Submitted by an American Syndicate Are Ratified.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Aug. 1.—The Senate has ratified the railroad and plantation contracts submitted by an American syndicate, of which James P. McDonald of New York is the head.

The railroad concession permits the construction of a railroad in Haiti and gives an interest in the banana trade and other fruit interests. The contracts provide for the extension and consolidation of the concessions previously granted to the National Railroad Company of Haiti. The company will issue bonds, the interest and principal of which will be guaranteed by the Republic of Haiti.

The railroad will connect the interior of the country with four seaports and will run through the Artibonite River Valley.

According to the terms of the contracts the syndicate obtains all the unoccupied public lands up to a distance of twelve miles on both sides of the railroad. It is intended to establish a central sugar refinery, for which the Artibonite River will supply the power. The concession gives the syndicate the right to run a line of steamships between Haitien and foreign ports.

Construction work on the road, it is stated, will begin within the next two months, and it is expected that many thousands of men will have employment.

Considerable opposition on the part of the German interests here to the ratification of these contracts developed during the past year, and at one time a violent anti-Government campaign was carried on in several of the newspapers.

FIND MOTHER; CHILD GONE.

Demented Woman Who Disappeared with Three, Has Only Two with Her.

After being sought by the police for thirty-six hours, Mrs. Esther Polan of 264 Prince Street, Newark, N. J., and two of her children were found yesterday afternoon wandering in Stapleton, S. I. She was sent to the Smith Infirmary for observation as to her sanity. The little ones were sent to the care of the Children's Society.

Mrs. Polan, who is said to be slightly demented, left home on Friday evening, taking with her her seven-year-old daughter Yetta, her five-year-old daughter Celia, and her three-year-old son Arthur. Her husband, Herman, reported their absence to the police, and has spent his every waking hour since looking for them.

After the report that his wife and children had been found reached Newark, Polan went to Staten Island and claimed the children and asked the police to send out a general alarm for the missing child. The father said she had black hair and eyes, black shoes and stockings, and that she wore no hat.

TRUNK HAD FALSE BOTTOM.

Customs Men Send to Kansas for the Key and Find $150 in Fine Lace.

Among those who arrived in the steerage of the Red Star liner Lapland some days ago was Mrs. Edgar van der Eecken, a Belgian. When her trunk was being examined the Inspector discovered that it contained a six-inch false bottom.

A cooper was unable to get the bottom out without smashing the trunk, so Mrs. Eecken locked it and went with it to Ellis Island. There she abandoned the trunk and went to Atchison, Kan. The customs authorities wrote there for the trunk key, and it was sent on and the trunk was opened. Under the false bottom was found $150 worth of fine laces, which were seized.

NEW YORK CAMPAIGN DISCUSSED BY TAFT

KNOW ROOSEVELT INFLUENCE

Williams and Stimson in the List of Those Considered—President to Make Few Speeches Now.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 1.—New York State politics brought Vice President Sherman and William L. Ward, Republican National Committeeman for that State, to Beverly late this afternoon, and they were in conference with the President for an hour or more. Like Senator Crane, Messrs. Sherman and Ward came unheralded. There was no attempt to conceal the fact, however, that the visit had to do almost wholly with the situation in New York. General politics were discussed also, and the President found his visitors quite optimistic, he said, over the outlook.

Candidates for the New York Governorship were talked over with the President. Among those mentioned were Clark Williams of Albany, State Superintendent of Banking, and Henry L. Stimson, former United States District Attorney and now in charge of Sugar Trust prosecutions. It is said that the talk was not confined to these two, but they were the only names recalled by the parties to the conference. The President is said to have confirmed to his New York callers the position he took in the Ohio State fight, that of keeping "hands off." The President said that he was interested, of course, in the choice of a good man to head the State ticket, but he would leave the selection to the State Convention.

As to the influence of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in New York politics, there is every reason to believe that the State leaders fully recognize its potency. This phase of the situation entered into to-day's conference at Burgess Point, and President Taft was told that it is the hope of the New York Republicans that a candidate may be selected upon whom all factions can unite and who will command the approval and support of the President, Gov. Hughes, and Col. Roosevelt.

The Vice President and Mr. Ward told the President that there has been no crystallization of sentiment in favor of any one man as yet. The State Convention is not to be held until the latter part of September, and the leaders feel there is plenty of time to work out the situation. William Loeb, Jr., Collector of the Port of New York, apparently has removed himself from consideration for the Governorship by the announcement that he does not care for the nomination. His name was not discussed to-day.

President Taft followed up to-day the recent cancellation of his Western and Southern engagements by announcing that his speeches for the future will be few and far between. He told a committee of citizens from Providence, R. I., that he could not reconsider the cancellation of his engagement to speak before the Atlantic Deeper Waterway Association in that city in September. Mr. Taft said he regretted having to say no, but that important matters of public business would claim his attention from now until the convening of Congress.

The President did not give a definite answer to-day to Gov. Eberhardt of Minnesota and a delegation of fifteen representative men of St. Paul who came to urge him to accept the invitation to speak before the National Conservation Congress in that city on Sept. 5. Mr. Taft is inclined to accept this invitation. Conservation seems to be the theme of the hour, and the President is anxious that his position on the subject shall be fully understood. He contemplates devoting a large proportion of his coming message to Congress to this subject. If he goes to St. Paul he will simply write the conservation feature of his message in advance and deliver it in an address before the Conservation Congress. In this way the St. Paul engagement would interfere but little with the President's plans for the next three months.

Mr. Taft announced positively to-day that if he goes to St. Paul it will be on a flying trip, and he will make no speeches either going to or returning from the Minnesota city. The President's only definite speaking engagement, as matters now stand, is at Provincetown, on Friday, when the Pilgrims Monument is unveiled. This address will be brief and will be devoted wholly to the Pilgrims.

President Taft has received a number of letters of late urging the appointment of Associate Justice Harlan as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Other letters have been coming in recommending various lawyers and Judges for the two vacancies on the Supreme Court bench. All of these communications are being indexed and filed away for reference when the President takes up the matter of appointments.

President Taft played golf this morning with Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, official "trust buster." Mr. Kellogg is here in connection with the President's proposed visit to St. Paul to attend the National Conservation Congress with regard to which Gov. Eberhardt of Minnesota and a committee from St. Paul saw the President this afternoon.

Gen. Leonard Wood, who comes to Beverly to report on his mission as special Ambassador to the Centennial celebration in the Argentine Republic, will not reach here until to-morrow.

Dr. Cyrus Northrup, having declined to serve on account of a pressure of business affairs, it was announced here to-day that the commission to the Mexican Centennial celebration will be composed of ex-Gov. Curtis Guild of Massachusetts, as special ambassador; Justice James Gerard of New York, Col. C. Rook of Pittsburg, and Gen. Harrison Grey Otis of Los Angeles.

HITCHCOCK DUE TO-DAY.

Postmaster General Comes from Bremen—To Visit Taft.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Postmaster General Hitchcock is a passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which is expected to arrive in New York from Bremen to-morrow at noon.

Mr. Hitchcock will make a visit to Beverly to see the President, and afterward will spend several weeks in this city. He then will make a tour through the West, visiting, among other places, Arizona.

TO CONFER ON RAILROAD BILL.

Railroad Attorneys Meet To-day to Discuss Its Probable Effect.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 1.—Railroad attorneys, representing practically every railroad system in the United States, arrived here to-day to attend a conference to-morrow.

Col. Henry L. Stone of the Louisville & Nashville system, who called the meeting, announces that the purpose of the gathering is to discuss the railroad bill enacted by the last Congress, and to consider the probable effect upon railroads engaged in inter-State traffic.

The conference will probably last three days.

FEAR SON IS HELD IN HYPNOTIC SPELL

The Rev. S. W. Wyman and His Wife Say 17-Year-Old Hollis Won't Leave Friend's Farm.

THERE NOW TWO MONTHS

Young Student Was Overcome by the Heat and Since Then, His Parents Say, He's Acted Peculiarly.

Special to The New York Times.

PENNINGTON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Believing that his seventeen-year-old son Hollis is under hypnotic influence in the home of W. D. Starr, a farmer living two miles east of here, the Rev. S. W. Wyman of Cherry Valley, Mass., to-day will invoke the assistance of the law to regain possession of his boy. Hollis Wyman was graduated last Spring from the Pennington Seminary. During his study there he became intimate with the eldest son of Starr. The two were fast friends, and when vacation came Starr invited the minister's son to stay upon his farm.

Young Wyman went there intending to stay two weeks. He has been on the farm now more than two months. He refuses to leave, even though urged by his father and mother. Some time ago while pitching hay Wyman was overcome by the heat. He became partly paralyzed and the Starrs notified his parents. The boy's elder brother was formerly a teacher in the manual training department of the Pennington Seminary. He came here and remained with his brother until assured of his recovery.

He left to go to Massachusetts, but before he reached there the parents received a telegram that Hollis was worse. Mrs. Wyman immediately came on.

She found the boy in bad shape and nursed him until he was on the road to recovery again. She decided to take him home with her. The boy, to her surprise, refused to leave the Starr farm. In vain she pleaded with him. The mother then appealed to Mr. Starr. He refused to persuade the boy to go home. Mrs. Wyman determined to take the boy with her without his consent. She accordingly demanded from Starr her son's trunks and clothing.

Mr. Starr said he knew nothing of the boy's trunk, but his eldest son might know about it. She asked young Starr to give her the trunk, but, it is said, he refused to look for it. She grew insistent and she charges that Starr, the elder, declared she was crazy and must leave the farm.

Mrs. Wyman then sent for her husband. The Rev. Mr. Wyman got here Saturday. With his wife he went to the Starr farm and met Mr. Starr and young Hollis in the barn. The boy refused to leave with him, and Mr. Starr again refused, say the Wymans, to tell anything about the boy's trunk.

The minister and his wife have consulted W. J. Crossley, Prosecutor of Mercer County, and Justice A. D. Naar. They went out to Starr's place to-day with a constable. On the way they met Starr's adopted daughter, who said that Mr. and Mrs. Starr had gone to Trenton, and the boy, with young Starr, had gone to the railroad station. They had a trunk with them, she said. At the farm they were not able to find Mr. Starr or their son's trunk. They visited the railroad station, where, it is said, they learned that their son had not been there.

The Rev. Mr. Wyman, who is a Methodist minister, believes that his boy is hypnotized. To-day, he said, he will go to court and begin an action against the farmer to obtain possession of his son and obtain his clothing.

SEE HUGHES ON FIGHT FILMS.

Clergymen Protest to Governor Against Their Exhibition Here.

ALBANY, Aug. 1.—A delegation of clergymen registered a formal protest to Gov. Hughes to-day against the exhibition of the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures in this state, particularly in New York City. The protest grew out of the Cooper Union meeting last week, which protested against the pictures in the name of decency and morality.

After the Governor had been requested to use his powers to stop the pictures he asked the delegation if they had taken any steps to bring the matter before the courts or the District Attorney of New York, saying if the law was being violated the ordinary processes of the courts were available. The delegation informed him that they had sent a protest to Mayor Gaynor, but had taken no other action. The Governor said he would give the matter careful consideration.

Rev. Dr. J. Emory Price of the Washington Heights M. E. Church, Manhattan, was the principal speaker before the Governor, while Rev. Charles L. Clist of the First Collegiate Reformed Church, Harlem, acted as chairman of the delegation.

HORNET'S MASTER ARRESTED.

Charged with Violating Neutrality Laws by Madriz Agents at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1.—Capt. W. O. Moon, master of the converted yacht Hornet, was arrested late to-day on a Federal warrant sworn out by the local representatives of the Madriz Government of Nicaragua, charging him with violating the United States neutrality laws in attempting to aid in hostilities against a country with which the United States is at peace. Similar charges against the master of the Madriz steamer Venus were dismissed when the Venus cleared for Nicaragua several months ago.

Capt. Moon was released on a $5,000 bond. He will be tried by the United States Commissioner to-morrow morning.

The Hornet was preparing to clear for Bluefields when the warrant was sworn out by the United States Commissioner. Clearance papers were refused pending the disposition of the case before the Commissioner. In the papers which the ship owners filed when they attempted to clear the ship it was reported that the Hornet had aboard nine cases of shotguns, four boxes of machine guns, one hundred and forty-seven cases of cartridges, forty-one drums of gasoline, and a lot of flour, rice, lard, and sugar.

PLAZA GUEST JAILED ON FORGERY CHARGE

TAXICABS HIS UNDOING

Ventured in One Back to East Rutherford, N. J., Where a Cousin He Duped Recognized Him.

After a week of high life at the Hotel Plaza, where he enjoyed all of the pastimes of a millionaire, and spent his money like a prince of good fellows, Frank Forsch, alias Ray Thorne, of Chicago, is to-day a prisoner in the jail at Hackensack, N. J. It is a long cry from Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street to Hackensack; and just to tell how miserable and unhappy he was in a cell, the young man called up his friends at the Plaza yesterday by telephone from the jail.

"I'm in jail in Hackensack," said Forsch, in a despairing voice. "Can you imagine anything more depressing? I don't know when I shall get back to gay old New York. Would you mind looking after my luggage until I return?"

As the specific charge against Forsch is forgery, and he is being held under $1,000 bail, coupled with the fact that he is also wanted by the Chicago police, the chance of his getting back to the giddy whirl of the metropolis before the beginning of the Winter season is extremely dubious.

If the young man had not taken a taxicab ride across the swamps of New Jersey on Saturday he might still be enjoying the gayeties of town. A taxicab run through East Rutherford, N. J., was not made fast enough to evade the unerring eye of Councilman William Gramlet, who recognized the fare in the cab as his cousin, who had a week before prevailed upon him to indorse a check on a Chicago bank for $500, which soon came back marked N. G. The young man's arrest followed.

Forsch at this time came East to make a visit and ran short of funds. He remembered that he had a cousin in East Rutherford, and so called upon the Councilman and presented his check for indorsement. As soon as he had received the $500 from a local bank he went away, presumably to New York. Councilman Gramlet, when the check came back marked worthless, started a search for the young man. He was just about as surprised later to see him in a taxicab as Forsch was to be recognized and placed under arrest.

Forsch is described as a handsome young man about 30 years old. He registered at the Plaza on July 25. He signed his name as Roy Thorne with an aristocratic flourish, and then ordered an expensive room. He showed a big roll of money and paid his bill in advance for three days.

For the rest of the week he spent the day riding about in motor cars at $6 per hour, and would jump into a taxi even if his destination was only a couple of blocks away. At night he took in all of the lobster palaces along Broadway, and ordered the most costly foods and wines. When the first three days were up he paid for another three days in advance at the hotel.

On account of his unmistakable signs of breeding and his general good conduct the hotel management thought nothing strange about his lavish manner of spending money, and the news of his arrest and imprisonment was most unexpected.

Forsch makes an effort almost every day now to establish telephone connection between the hotel and the Hackensack Jail. He seemed to get so much relief by telling how unhappy and lonesome he was in his cell the first day he succeeded in telephoning that he wants to keep it up to break the monotony.

The clerks at the hotel ring off now as soon as they hear his voice over the telephone. His luggage, as he termed it, consists of one solitary bag, and this is now being kept by the hotel porter until the young man either comes himself or sends for it.

It was learned yesterday that the young man is wanted by the Chicago police, but no particulars have been received as yet by the police authorities of East Rutherford. Meantime the gay young spender languishes in his cell.

FOREST FIRE 8 MILES LONG.

Help Organized to Check a Wall of Flames Eating Into Montana.

MISSOULA, Mon., Aug. 1.—With a wall of flames eight miles long eating its way over the Montana-Idaho divide into this State, with another fire raging at the head of Cedar Creek, and still others reported in various sections, a cry for help was raised here to-day by the officials of the Forest Service.

Street runners are out accosting every likely candidate as a fire fighter, and when it was found that Missoula would fail to supply anything like the needed number, a request was sent to Butte, and there another fire-fighting army is being recruited by forestry agents.

The Cedar Creek fire is rapidly eating into the heavy forests of the Trout Creek district. A crew of sixty men left Missoula to-day for Saltez, where a pack train of horses waits, loaded with supplies to go into the Copper Creek fire district.

LED BY DOG TO DROWNED BOY

Drags Woman to a Pond Into Which Her Grandchild Had Fallen.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Aug. 1.—George D. Smith, 3d, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Smith, Jr., of this place, was drowned this morning while playing in the Ripley duck pond here. Mrs. Smith is in a hospital recovering from an operation, and during her illness the baby was sent to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Allum, whose husband is caretaker of the Sidney Dillon Ripley estate.

Mrs. Allum was working in the kitchen this morning when her pet collie rushed into the kitchen grabbed her dress and pulled her toward the door. Then he galloped ahead toward the duck pond.

Mrs. Allum followed and saw the child's dress in the water. He was pulled out, and it is thought he must have hit his head on a stone in falling into the water, as it was bruised. The Hempstead Hospital was notified, and the child was placed in an automobile from the Ripley sheds and rushed there. Ambulance and auto met midway, but the child was dead.

ENGLISH THREAT TO US.

Our Territoriality in Delaware and Chesapeake Bays May Be Denied.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 1.—Sir W. S. Robson, the British Attorney General, resumed his summing up speech in the arguments upon the Newfoundland fisheries case before The Hague Arbitration Tribunal to-day, taking up the arguments advanced by the American representatives.

Combating the American point of view regarding the status of bays, Sir William declared that if large bays could be regarded as territorial waters only when other nations agreed to it, America would lose its jurisdiction over Delaware and Chesapeake Bays; for if the court upheld the erroneous American claim in regard to Newfoundland waters Great Britain would withdraw its recognition of the territoriality of those American bays.

INVALID STRANGELY MISSING.

Bedridden Woman Walks from Her Home, Takes a Train, and Disappears.

Special to The New York Times.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The disappearance of Mrs. John Burfit, 62 years old, who walked out of her home here a week ago and was last seen on Tuesday boarding a train for New York still is unsolved. The strange feature of the case is that for a long time Mrs. Burfit had suffered with rheumatism and was not able to walk. She had not left her home for years.

Last Monday night without help she got up, walked out of the house dressed in a house gown and slippers. She walked to Tarrytown and was seen to board a train.

NIGHT RIDER FIGHT FATAL.

Tenant on Farm of State Witness Dies of Injuries.

KUTTAWA, Ky., Aug. 1.—Axeltree Cooper, a tenant on the farm of Milton Oliver, died late last night as a result of wounds received when he was attacked by three men at a barbecue Saturday afternoon, near Lemasco precinct.

Oliver is a confessed night rider and a witness for the State in the coming night rider trials, and there have been many rumors lately of a contemplated attack on him. The shooting of Cooper is thought to have been the forerunner of an assault on Oliver, and a detachment of State guards was put around Oliver's home last night.

Three men arrested for shooting Cooper are held under guard of a squad of militia, awaiting instructions from Gov. Willson.

MADE VICTIM HOLD DOG.

Then Robber Ransacked Mrs. Davidson's House and Got $1.50.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Mrs. H. L. Davidson asked the police to-day to find a robber who compelled her to guard him from the attacks of her own watchdog while he ransacked her house in daylight. Mrs. Davidson said the man came to the rear of her home, and, finding her on the screen porch, fastened her to a post by means of a rope tied to one of her feet. Then he told her to call the dog, which was taking a nap inside the house.

"Now you hold Fido," he instructed her, "and if you let him loose and he bites me I will shoot you and him."

Mrs. Davidson held Fido, and the robber found $1.50 in a purse.

PUNCTURE TIRES TO ROB.

Highwaymen Scatter Nails and Attack Automobilists When They Stop.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—In offering a reward of $500 to-day for information leading to arrests the Pittsburg Automobile Club revealed the details of an attempt to hold up autoists in a forest some miles out on the road from Pittsburg to Butler. The highwaymen placed nails and spikes in the way of autos. This punctured the tires, and while the occupants were fixing them the attempt at robbery was to have been made.

Frank D. Saupp, Dr. John Hawkins, L. G. Martin, and Paul C. Wolff are among those who have been attacked in the forest while trying to repair their punctured tires.

MRS. BRUGUIERE LOSES PURSE

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 1.—Mrs. Peter Bruguiere of New York has called in the police to search for her gold and jeweled studded purse bag, containing a large sum of money, which Mrs. Bruguiere lost last Friday. She left the bag in her automobile, to the best of her knowledge.

What the police are working on, how much the jeweled bag is worth, or the amount it contained is not known. No arrests have been made.

CELEBRITIES AT MACKINAC.

Cannon, Mack, Conners, Fairbanks, and Day at Same Hotel.

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Aug. 1.—The simultaneous presence at Mackinac Island of Speaker Cannon, Norman E. Mack, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee; William J. Conners of Buffalo, Justice W. R. Day, and former Vice President Fairbanks has excited much comment.

They are all staying at the same hotel, and are frequently seen in each other's company.

JERSEY TOWNS GROWING.

Jersey City, Hoboken, and Bayonne Show Gains in Population.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Jersey City, N. J., has a population of 267,779, according to a census bulletin issued to-day. This is an increase of 61,349, or 29.7 per cent., over 1900.

Hoboken, N. J., has 70,324 inhabitants, as compared with 59,364 in 1900, an increase of 10,960, or 18.5 per cent., while the population of Bayonne, N. J., is 55,545, as compared with 32,722 in 1900, an increase of 22,823, or 69.7 per cent.

CRIPPEN AND GIRL WILLING TO GO BACK

Examined Separately Yesterday, Say They Do Not Desire to Fight Extradition.

MISS LENEVE NOT IN JAIL

Is Living in a Magistrate's House—Inspector Dew Thinks Police Can Obtain Crippen's Conviction.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—Neither Dr. Hawley H. Crippen nor Miss Ethel Leneve will resist extradition to England if they adhere to the statements they made to-day, and they will probably be taken across the Atlantic on a liner sailing in three weeks.

The principal topic of conversation here to-day among residents and visitors was the capture of Crippen and his companion by what the French Canadians called "Marconi, the invisible detective." It excluded all other news, and even took away the interest from the convention of the Knights of Columbus, which began to-day, and for which the city had been gayly decorated and illuminated.

It was reported that the prisoners were to leave the Parliament Building at 10:30 A. M. to appear before the Judge in the court house, but long before that hour the approaches to the two buildings were so thronged that the police reserves had to be called out to keep the roadway clear. It was 11:30, however, before Dr. Crippen left the prison and was taken to the court house. He sat on the front seat, with his back to the driver, in an open carriage, with Detective Dew's bride him and Inspector Dew and Chief Constable McCarthy opposite. Crippen wore his brown suit, the only one in his possession, a soft gray shirt, canvas shoes, a gray Fedora hat, and handcuffs. He looked better than he did on the Montrose yesterday and had a little color. The crowd which had gathered to see him did not seem to have any effect on him.

Crippen gazed calmly at the buildings on either side of the road with an interested air, as if the handcuffs and his arrest were not his business. There were no cries from the crowd except from some young students near the Court House gates, who called out: "A bas l'assassin des femmes! Conspuez Crippen!" But they were immediately moved away by the police on guard.

When Crippen got out of the carriage to enter the court the rush was so great that the camera men found it almost impossible to obtain good snapshots of the prisoner. Well-dressed women, leading children by the hand, fought and pushed their way into the court, with newsboys, messenger boys, clerks, priests, soldiers, sailors, and reporters.

Crippen was taken through the courtroom, filled with the surging mob, into the Magistrates's private room and the door was shut. One small photographer forced his way past the police and snapped the prisoner as he sat at a desk, but the daring picture taker was promptly seized by two policemen and thrown outside. The photographer was happy, however, until he discovered that in his hurry he had forgotten to turn the film. Then he sat down and burst into tears.

Crippen's Replies.

The proceedings were purely formal and very brief.

Magistrate Anger said: "Are you Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen?"

"I am," was the reply.

"Are you a fugitive from justice?"

"No."

"Do you know Inspector Dew?"

"Yes."

"Are you willing to go with him to England?"

"Yes."

"Do you propose to contest your extradition?"

"No."

"Do you wish to have a lawyer?"

"No."

"Is the woman who was found with you in disguise on the Montrose yesterday Ethel Clara Leneve?"

"Yes," replied Crippen, and that ended the interrogation by the Magistrate. Crippen was then remanded until Aug. 8, when he will again be remanded until Aug. 16, in order to comply with the Fugitive Offenders' act, which demands that all prisoners must have fifteen clear days before being taken away from the Dominion of Canada, so that they can have time to contest extradition should they wish to do so.

The crowd had increased while the prisoner was inside the Court House until there were fully 2,000 persons at the door leading into the courtyard. It was 12:15 when Crippen came out, and the rush was so great that the carriage outside was nearly turned over and the horse became frightened. The police pushed the crowd back right and left and managed to get Crippen and his escort safely back to the prison.

Miss Leneve was unable to appear, it was stated, owing to the shock she received yesterday, and she was taken from Chief Constable McCarthy's home, where she had spent the night, to Magistrate Anger's house, where the same questions were put to her that had been put to Crippen in the Court House. She gave similar replies and also evinced her willingness to return to England for trial. She was remanded until Aug. 8.

Mrs. Fred Ginnet, President of the Ladies' Music Hall Guild in London, of which Belle Elmore was the Honorary Treasurer, had an interview with Miss Leneve at Magistrate Anger's house this afternoon in the presence of the Magistrate and Inspector Dew.

Three diamond single stone rings, a diamond brooch, and a cluster ring with a large diamond in the centre, found on Crippen and Miss Leneve, Mrs. Ginnet had previously identified as the property of Belle Elmore.

The Magistrate to-day received two cablegrams for Miss Leneve from her parents. The first said: "Dear Ethel: Tell all you know. Papa." The other, from her mother, read: "With all the love you may have for your husband, don't forget me, your father, brothers, sisters. Tell the authorities all you know. Mother." Miss Leneve read the telegrams without comment.

Miss Leneve Reticent.

When Mrs. Ginnet asked the girl in the presence of the police officials if she intended to take her parents' advice and tell all she knew to help in clearing up the case, the prisoner bowed her head, but did not make any audible reply.

"She looked very pale," said Mrs. Ginnet afterward, when seen at the Château Frontenac before starting for New York, "but she was not in a state of collapse by any means. I said to her: 'Did you have a bad day yesterday?' and she replied: 'Yes, very bad.'

"'Did you cut your hair yourself?' I asked. 'No,' she said, 'I had it cut for me,' inferring by her answer that Dr. Crippen had acted as the barber. 'Did you have an eventful voyage?' I said, and after a few seconds' hesitation the girl answered: 'Very,' but did not look up. When I said: 'You must have made a very pretty boy with your hair cut short and a Fedora hat,' she smiled faintly, but made no answer.

"In my opinion, Ethel Leneve is still trying to shield Crippen by not telling the police what she knows, but perhaps when she gets to London and sees her family they may induce her to speak.

After seeing her to-day I am more than ever convinced that she is innocent of all knowledge of the murder."

In a conversation with THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent this evening Inspector Dew, when told of the sympathy in London for Miss Leneve and the belief in her innocence, said he was glad to hear it. "I don't think she knows about the murder," he said, "and I hope the girl will come out of it all right. She did not look a day more than 16 when I entered her cabin on the Montrose and found her in boy's clothing.

"Crippen is no fool, let me tell you, with all that quiet air of his, which nothing seems to penetrate. This is the most memorable experience I have ever had. Climbing up that rope ladder over the side of the Montrose yesterday nearly caused me a serious accident. When I stepped on the lower rung from the thwart of the rowboat one of the sailors gave the ladder a twist which spun it around, and for a few seconds I thought I was going into the water, but I clung on with all my strength and managed to clamber up."

When asked if he expected lengthy proceedings before the extradition of Crippen and his companion, the Inspector replied that he did not, as the prisoners seemed willing to return to England. If Crippen fought the case it might last two or three months, but there would be nothing for him to gain by doing so. So far as arrangements had been made at present, the prisoners would leave Quebec in three weeks, but the vessel on which they would sail had not yet been decided upon.

Why Police Let Crippen Escape.

It became known to-day through a conversation between Inspector Dew and members of the Quebec detective force that the reason Dr. Crippen managed to slip away from London was that Dew did not at first think he was dealing with a case of murder. After Crippen failed to keep his appointment with the Inspector the servant employed at the Crippen house told Dew that her mistress had disappeared one night, leaving all her effects behind her. Even her outdoor garments—coat, hat, veil, and every other necessary article she would have taken away—had been left behind.

This made the Inspector begin to believe that murder might be the explanation, and the search of the house which resulted in the finding of the body under the floor of the cellar was ordered.

It was suggested to Inspector Dew that it might be a difficult matter for the Scotland Yard authorities to prove that the remains found were those of Belle Elmore, the wife of Dr. Crippen.

The Inspector replied that the servant knew enough to identify the remains. He added that it was intended to keep Ethel Leneve at Magistrate Anger's house for two or three days and to treat her with kindness until she had recovered. Inspector Dew added that he thought the girl had some information that, in conjunction with the testimony of the servant, would be sufficient to result in a conviction. Miss Leneve was not as ill as had been reported. All she needed, in the opinion of Inspector Dew, was a little sympathy and encouragement to follow the advice cabled by her parents that she tell all she knew about the case.

In contrast with the condition of Miss Leneve, Crippen, according to his jailors, did not appear any more perturbed to-day than he did when he was arrested on the steamer. He slept well last night on his hard wooden bench, which was exchanged to-day for an iron bedstead and a mattress. He ate a hearty breakfast, had dinner on his return from court, and had an equally good appetite at supper. He is at liberty to send out for meals, providing he has the money to pay for them.

Gebhard Wilbrick, the United States Consul here, said to-day that he did not at present propose to take any steps in the case, but if Crippen appealed to him as an American citizen he would write to the State Department at Washington asking for instructions.

Many visitors boarded the Montrose early this morning to look at the cabin which Crippen and the girl occupied on their voyage. Capt. Kendall and his officers were worried by the questions put to them by the eager sightseers, especially by questions about the reward of $1,250 which Scotland Yard offered for the apprehension of the fugitives.

The visitors wanted to know if the Captain was to get it all or whether the Chief Officer and the Third Officer, who were the first to notice something strange in the appearance of the younger "Robinson," were to get a share. To all these queries Capt. Kendall replied tersely that he did not know there was any reward, and he said something about sailors being always willing to do their duty.

The Montrose started up the river for Montreal at 8 A. M. The majority of the passengers were still on board.

SCOTLAND YARD CONFIDENT.

Believes Sufficient Evidence Has Been Obtained to Convict Crippen.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—With a view to preventing the remote possibility of the escape of Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve through a technicality, Scotland Yard today decided, upon the advice of the Attorney General, that, so far as they control in the matter, all formalities involved in the extradition laws of Canada shall be complied with in the case of the prisoners under arrest at Quebec.

Accordingly, Inspector Dew was instructed to ask simply that the Canadian court remand the accused until the arrival from London of a formal application for their extradition to England with evidence supporting the request.

Sergt. Mitchell, who assisted Dew in the preliminary investigation, will sail for Canada as soon as the necessary papers are ready, which will be either next Wednesday or Thursday. The evidence to be submitted to the Canadian authorities will include that taken at the inquest on the mutilated body unearthed in the Crippen cellar. This will be supported by more detailed depositions of the witnesses who were examined at the inquest and all the additional testimony since gathered by the police. It may possibly include also the preliminary report of Prof. Pepper, who made the analytical examination of the body.

Prof. Pepper is now preparing his conclusions, which, it is junderstood, will establish the sex of the victim—a point on which the physicians were unable to swear at the inquest.

"So far as we are concerned," said Supt. Froest of Scotland Yard to-day, "we are satisfied that we have got the most complete chain of evidence. Still, we are busy picking up the threads, but the evidence already in our hands is believed by the law officers of the Crown to be quite sufficient to convict."

Supt. Froest added that any stories that Dew had subjected or would subject the fugitives to a "third degree" grueling must not be believed. The Inspector, he said, was too careful an officer to do so, and knew that any evidence obtained in such a way would completely upset the case in the English courts. Dew's own evidence was sufficient, Froest said, to justify Canada in holding the prisoners until Mitchell arrived.

In the meantime Scotland Yard does not expect anything from Dew, but will keep him informed of development here. If the wishes of the police respecting the formalities of extradition are complied with, the case is not likely to be opened in this city until September.

GRIEF OF CRIPPEN'S FATHER.

A Pathetic Figure—Wants to Go Away Alone and Die.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Bowed down by grief and broken by the shock of his son's flight and arrest, M. A. Crippen, father of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, is today a pathetic figure.

"I have not the money to go to Hawley, but if I had I would gladly go and be of whatever use I might be to him," he said to-day. "I have not received any word from him and do not expect to do so. It is hard to have to be alone and suffer, but I don't think it will last long. I am not long for this world now, and since this trial has come to me I have not had a single day of good health.

"They cannot prove anything on Hawley. They cannot even prove that Belle Elmore is dead. Why should I believe him guilty? I know he would not do such a thing. It passes belief. I may never know the truth, as I don't feel I can stand this worry much longer. I feel as if I would like to go away alone and die. I did my best to educate Hawley and his son. I did the best I could, and now in my old age I am alone and overwhelmed by this disgrace."

LEGISLATIVE BOARD BEGINS GRAFT PROBE

Will Meet To-day to Arrange for Public Hearings Perhaps This Week.

THE TIMES'S DISCLOSURES

Committee Will Look Into the Accounts of Black Horse Cavalry Legislators with Brokerage Firm Here.

About the first piece of work to be undertaken by the legislative committee appointed to investigate alleged graft in the Legislature and the State departments will be to follow up the disclosures made by THE NEW YORK TIMES last April with reference to the credits of certain powerful legislators back in the days of Odell with the brokerage firm of Ellingwood & Cunningham, in which G. Tracy Rogers, the traction lobbyist, was one of the active partners.

In the light of revelations made in the Allds trial before the Senate and in the course of the investigation conducted by State Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss into the management of the fire insurance companies and their various campaigns at the State Capitol, this firm has come to be looked upon as a clearing house for the sort of legislative "retainers" which were the vogue when the Black Horse Cavalry dominated the Legislature.

The committee will meet at the Murray Hill Hotel at noon to-day to make final preparations for the public hearings which may commence before the week is over. Ex-Lieut. Gov. M. Linn Bruce, who will be chief counsel of the investigating committee, said last night at the Murray Hill Hotel that a subpoena had been issued already for James W. Cunningham, one of the principal members of the brokerage firm.

"Mr. Cunningham has notified me that he will be on hand to testify when he is wanted," said Mr. Bruce. "The books of the concern containing the record of operations in which legislators have been concerned have been subpoenaed, too. I don't expect we will have any difficulty in procuring these records."

State Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss was compelled to cut short his investigation with references to the operations of favored legislators through the medium of Ellingwood & Cunningham because of the stumbling blocks placed in his way when he attempted to get possession of the books of that concern. These, it developed, had been hidden away in a barn in New Jersey. It was learned yesterday that from that time until the present this barn has been watched by detectives retained by Mr. Hotchkiss.

The operations recorded in the books of Ellingwood & Cunningham cover a period of five years, from 1900 to and including 1905. The names of these men who, in those years, virtually dominated the Legislature, appeared in the accounts of the brokerage firm:

John Raines, who until his death last December was leader of the Senate;

George R. Malby of St. Lawrence, now a member of Congress, but then a State Senator;

Jotham P. Allds of Chenango, who was ousted from the Senate this Spring after a trial on a bribery charge;

Edgar T. Brackett of Saratoga, a member of the Senate then, as he is now;

Louis A. Goodsell of Orange, who was known as the personal representative of Benjamin B. Odell, from whose district he came. Mr. Odell was Governor;

Louis Bedell, formerly of Newburg, now of this city, who was known as Mr. Odell's personal Assemblyman;

S. Fred Nixon of Chautauqua, who was Speaker of the Assembly until his death in 1905.

James T. Rogers of Broome, who served in the Assembly for a number of years, and Archie Baxter, who was Clerk of the Assembly from 1895 to 1908.

At the time when the disclosures were made nearly all the men whose names had been mentioned declared that the appearance of their names on the books of the brokerage firm was merely in connection with regular speculative accounts. In most instances also there came emphatic assertions that they had been unfortunate in their speculation. Supt. Hotchkiss at the time, after examining such records as he could get access to, made a statement with reference to Senator Brackett in which he said he felt certain that the Senator could readily explain all of his transactions with the firm.

It is believed in many quarters that the possession of all the books of the brokerage firm may bring to light other names that may interest the graft hunters. G. Tracy Rogers, it is generally felt, holds the key to any secret that may lurk behind the Ellingwood & Cunningham speculative accounts. Mr. Bruce was asked last night if he intended to subpœna the traction man, who early this year made arrangements to take up his residence in New Hampshire.

"That will depend entirely on developments," was the reply. "If it should turn out that his testimony is essential and he can be reached by the committee I imagine he will be called."

"Will you call ex-Senator Benn Conger with a view of getting some further light on the operations at Albany of the bridge companies with which he was connected?" Mr. Bruce was asked.

"I do not care to make any statement with reference to that at the present time," was the reply. It is understood, however, that Mr. Conger will be one of the first witnesses.

The committee will meet in executive session to-day, and it was said last night that the first batch of subpoenas would be made out then. The date for the first hearing also will be announced. It is thought likely that the taking of testimony will not begin until next week.

The question of who is to be associated with Mr. Bruce as counsel for the committee had not been decided up to a late hour last night. It was said that this matter had been left for Mr. Bruce to decide, and that he had not reached a decision yet. Henry M. Franklin, a lawyer of 320 Broadway, and Edwin A. Watson, who rendered considerable aid to the counsel of Benn Conger at the investigation of the bribery charges against Jotham P. Allds, and who, it is said, was instrumental in unearthing the record on the books of Ellingwood & Cunningham, have been discussed at the meetings already held by the committee in connection with the legal work of the investigation.

The committee, it was learned last night, will organize a secret service corps of its own, and in connection with this it was said that the services of at least one investigator who took active part in the unearthing of the Sugar Trust frauds would be placed at the disposal of the committee by the Department of Justice at Washington.

HUNT LAUNDRY TRUST ALSO.

Washington Officials Considering Evidence of Combination in Capital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Some of the laundry concerns of this city are having their troubles because the Government is considering evidence bearing on the existence of a Laundry Trust here.

The papers in the case are under consideration by United States District Attorney Wilson, but no final conclusion has been reached so far as the officials will admit. It is asserted that some of the leading laundry concerns in this city are operating in restraint of trade. Several years ago Representative J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia made a speech in Congress in which he complained of the ravages of the Washington laundries on shirt bosoms and other linen.

NOT STRONG FOR OSBORNE.

Democratic League Men Here Look for Another Candidate for Governor.

Members of the Democratic League in this city read with interest yesterday the letter from Thomas M. Osborne, ex-Mayor of Auburn and former Public Service Commissioner, to the Cayuga County Democratic Committee, in which he declared his willingness to accept the Democratic nomination of Governor this Fall if that would make for party success.

"If Mr. Osborne can get the nomination he would make a good candidate," was all Col. Robert Grier Monroe, Chairman of the league in New York County, would say.

From another member of the League it was learned that while the local organization is friendly to Mr. Osborne, he is looked upon as a factional candidate. Not only is it regarded as certain that in case he should run he would be bitterly assailed by the Hearst newspapers, but he would fall short of getting the support of the more radical element in the organization in a year when a determined effort is to be made to unite all factions.

Among members of the League in this city there is considerable talk of Edward M. Shepard as the most available candidate.

FOR REPUBLICAN HARMONY.

R. C. Morris Planning to Call Such a Conference Soon.

A prospective "get together" movement among the Republicans is the latest on the political calendar. Robert C. Morris, President of the Republican County Committee and President of the Republican Club, said yesterday that there ought to be a harmony conference among the Republicans, inasmuch as Chairman John A. Dix, Jr., of the Democratic State Committee, has arranged for a harmony conference.

"While I do not care to suggest at the present time the methods by which such a conference is to be brought about, yet I think it is important that prominent Republicans should think it over to the end that some steps may be taken in the near future to have it called."

Mr. Morris said that in the next few days he would write to leaders throughout the State elaborating on his plan and asking them to get busy. Mr. Morris would not comment on the chances for Republican success in the State this Fall, and declined to say anything that would add to the deep gloom that already prevails among active Republicans.

CHEER UP, SAYS PINCHOT.

Progressives Should Feel Encouraged by Their Showing in Ohio.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—"My message to the Ohio progressives is to cheer up," said Gifford Pinchot to-day. Returning from a stumping tour in support of the California insurgents, he stopped over in Cleveland for a visit with James R. Garfield. After hearing the details of the Republican State Convention, Pinchot insisted that the progressives in Ohio have every reason to feel cheerful if not contented.

"From surface observations and the signs of heated controversy," Pinchot said, "the stand-pat element do not seem to be getting much joy out of their supposed victory. It looks as if about one more victory of this sort would destroy them.

"The Columbus convention certainly demonstrated the progressive Republican strength in Ohio, and a progressive Republican sentiment which will cheer and encourage pregressives all over the country. The showing made was sufficient to throw the stand-pat leaders into a state of panic and to expose their real weakness."

Pinchot said he had not heard of the boom for his nomination for Governor of New York. He refused to take the report seriously.

ROOSEVELT'S POSITION PLAIN.

Says Telegram on California Contest Needs No Addition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—The Bulletin prints to-day this telegram from Col. Theodore Roosevelt, which it says was in an answer to a message informing him that his recent telegram to Philip A. Stanton concerning the Gubernatorial fight was being distorted.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 30, 1910.
Fremont Older, San Francisco, Cal.:

It is simply nonsense to suppose that my statement has any other than its face value. It is impossible to twist it, and it needs no supplementary statement whatever of any kind or form. It was the statement in the Johnson papers that I had sent Pinchot to speak for Johnson which rendered my statement imperative.

I refuse positively to make any statement in favor of Stanton, in spite of his past services in the Japanese matter, and it is equally impossible to make a statement on the side of Johnson, though I fully appreciate Johnson's attitude.

All you have to do is to take my flat statement of yesterday, and you can construe it in the only way it can possibly be construed. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

IOWA TO INDORSE TAFT.

Republican Platform Will Do So in So Far as He Has Performed Pledges.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 1.—President Taft will not be ignored in the platform of the Iowa Republican Convention which will be held on Wednesday. His Administration will be indorsed "in so far as it has carried out the pledges of the National platform of 1908."

This was determined on at a meeting of leaders to-night. Among those present was Joseph Lane of Davenport, who held the deciding vote in the Resolutions Committee. He declined to-night to serve on the Resolutions Committee, thereby clearing the political atmosphere materially.

SWANSON GETS COMMISSION.

Will Be Candidate to Succeed Himself as Senator.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 1.—Gov. Mann signed a commission to-day appointing ex-Gov. Claude A. Swanson of Chatham to succeed the late John W. Daniel in the United States Senate. The appointment is for the unexpired term, which will end on March 3 next.

There was practically no opposition to the selection of Mr. Swanson. He will be a candidate for the full term to succeed himself.

Senator Hamilton Renominated.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Republicans of the Chautauqua-Cattaragus Senatorial district renominated Charles M. Hamilton for the State Senate to-day.

Paper Company Raises Wages.

FRANKLIN, N. H., Aug. 1.—The wages of thousands of paper mill workers in New Hampshire, New York State, Vermont, Maine, and Massachusetts were advanced an average of 5 per cent. to-day by the International Paper Company. The increase was one of the conditions of the agreement which ended the protracted strike in several States last Spring. All future differences between the company and its employes are to be submitted to arbitration.

MOBS IN COLUMBUS STONE CARS AND MEN

BUSINESS GREATLY HURT

Mayor Is Denounced at Chamber of Commerce Meeting — Harmon Trying to Settle Strike.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Despite the presence of 3,500 militiamen in the city, Columbus was again the scene of rioting to-day, growing out of the street car strike.

Mobs stoned cars and attacked crews in the district about Collins, Harrison, and Pennsylvania Avenues. They also stoned cars in North High, North Fourth, and Summit Streets, breaking windows and injuring one woman, who was struck by a brick and knocked senseless. Her skull was bared. None of the employes of the car company was seriously injured. Many of them were beaten with fists. On First Avenue a motorman drew a revolver when a crowd hooted him, and a rush was made for him. The police arrived in time to protect him.

A mob threw stones at the North High Street barn, and a detachment of troops was sent there to reinforce the small number of guards. The trouble was stopped.

A fuse blew out of a car at Harrison and Collins Avenues. The conductor saw a small crowd gathering and fled, followed by his motorman. Both were struck by members of the crowd. When the police arrived the crowd was trying to break up the car, but had not succeeded in doing much damage. No arrests were made.

Cars were held up in the northern and western part of the city, and three cars were disabled so that they had to be returned to the barn. On many of the lines of the city, particularly High, Parsons, Neil, Summit, and North Fourth Streets a fusillade of stones was kept up all day. Troops were used to keep the streets clear in the riot districts.

Bessie Newbrough, a young woman who was shot in the head by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Carl Ford of the Sixth Regiment, is dying. The soldier seems to have lost his mind since the accident.

If the strike is not soon broken, business will be completely prostrated. Most of the stores have dropped half of their clerks. The Summer parks have all closed, and the theatres have begun to follow suit. The railroads are bringing very few people into the city from surrounding towns. Few cars were run today, with fewer passengers. A large majority of the general public seem to have made up their minds not to patronize them.

At a meeting of business men with the Chamber of Commerce to-day Mayor Marshall was severely censured by speakers for his failure to suppress disorder, and resolutions were adopted calling on the executive officers of the State, county, and city "to suppress the mob, if and when such mob exists, with an iron hand."

Mayor Marshall, in a speech, said he was willing to resign if it could be proved that he had not done his duty in suppressing mobs and violence.

Gov. Harmon and Gen. Dick made an attempt to-day to settle the strike, but without avail. Both sides, formerly firm in standing by their positions, are getting into a conciliatory mood now that the Governor, armed with the power to declare martial law and to employ drastic legal measures, is taking the lead in the matter. The suggestion from him that concessions be made with a view to settlement comes with quite different effect from that with which it has been made by citizens and loyal organizations. Governor has power to enforce his suggestions. For this reason it is believed a settlement may yet be reached.

To-night Gov. Harmon is seriously considering the idea of calling an extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of enacting a special law making the findings of the Board of Arbitration final. With such a law the strike could quickly be brought to a close.

D. & H. ASKS SHERIFF'S AID.

Can't End Strikers' Acts of Violence—Armed Guards Patrol Tracks.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Delaware & Hudson Railroad officially notified Sheriff Washburn to-day that it is unable to put an end to the acts of violence committed by strikers along its line, and called upon him for assistance. The Sheriff immediately hurried Deputy Sheriffs to the scene of last night's wreck near Ballston Lake, and is prepared to call out the National Guard if trouble continues.

The situation, in the opinion of the railroad officials, is rapidly becoming serious. Although every mile of track north of Albany is patrolled by armed guards, rioting and attempts at train-wrecking continue. The car repairers at the Mechanicsville shops to-day joined the strike, asking an increase of 25 cents a day in their pay.

COBBLER HELD AS FIREBUG.

Two Suspicious Fires in His House Cause Fire Marshal to Act.

After investigating a peculiar fire which began Sunday evening at 4,101 Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn, Acting Fire Marshal Brophy made a charge of arson last night against Andrew Galloso, a shoemaker, who lives with his wife and children at that address. Two Italians who were visiting the man last night were held as suspicious persons.

Fireman Halpin of Manhattan was passing, when he saw the blaze through the window. He forced an entrance, and found a lounge all in flames. Upstairs a matters was burning.

Brophy learned that bits of candle were set about the floor, with trails of gunpowder leading to oil-soaked clothing. On the ground floor a dynamite bomb was found.

None of the family was at home. Galloso said all were at Coney Island and knew nothing of the fire. He carries $900 in insurance. He will be arraigned in the Adams Street Court this morning.

DEMOCRAT CAMPAIGN BOOK.

Main Issues in Congress Fights, Tariff, High Cost of Living, Extravagance

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The Democrats have completed their campaign textbook and will send it out for distribution in every Congressional district in a few days. The main issues dealt with by the Democrats are the Payne-Aldrich tariff, the high cost of living, which they say resulted from it, and the extravagant appropriations under Republican rule.

The book contains many speeches from both Democrats and insurgents, little distinction being made between the two groups.

The publication takes up briefly a number of other points, including injunctions, the Panama Canal, the Postal Savings Banks, and rural free delivery. It also strikes at the Sugar Trust and the Steel Trust.

The campaign book contains not a word of new or original matter. This feature is frankly admitted by the Congressional Committeemen, and the explanation is simply that by having the book composed entirely of excerpts from the Congressional Record the payment of postage can be avoided, and the whole volume will be sent out under frank.

Knights of Columbus Convene.

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—The annual convention of the Knights of Columbus of America opened here to-day, headed by hundreds of delegates from Canada and the United States, New Foundland, Cuba, and Panama. At the close of the convention on Thursday a pilgrimage to Rome and Genoa will be made under the leadership of a number of the original incorporators of the organization. Among the original charter members present are Daniel Colwell, Dr. M. C. O'Connor, and William M. Geary.

NEW ALASKA COAL INQUIRY.

All Claims Except Cunningham Group to be Reinvestigated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—All of the Alaskan coal land claims, with the exception of the Cunningham group, will be reinvestigated by order of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger. The work will be in charge of Andrew Christensen, who succeeded Louis Glavis when the latter was dismissed as chief of the field division of the General Land Office, with headquarters at Portland, Ore., and in charge of the Alaskan district. It was Mr. Christensen who, during the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, directed the opening of a box stored in the Federal Building in Seattle and belonging to Mr. Glavis, which resulted in the finding of twenty-four letters that had been missing from the Juneau Land Office. Glavis declared the letters were put there without his knowledge and the action was a "frame-up" arranged by his enemies. The two men have been bitter foes ever since.

In view of the importance of the Alaskan coal fields, the investigation of the claims has been separated from the Portland office, and Mr. Christensen, with the title of chief of field division in charge of Alaskan coal lands investigation, will examine the 900 or more entries, averaging 160 acres to the claim. Some of these claims were examined by Mr. Glavis. The Cunningham claims will be excepted from the investigation because they have already been reinvestigated, and the record is now in the General Land Office, awaiting action by the Commissioner.

Mr. Christensen is in Washington conferring with officials of the Interior Department regarding the work. He says he has received instructions from his superiors to see that every one gets a fair show including both the Government and the claimants.

TO GREET PRESIDENT MONTT.

Government Designates Representatives of Army, Navy, and State.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The army and navy are to unite with the State Department in making the reception to President Montt of Chile on his arrival in New York on Thursday a highly notable event. The Chilean President will stop in this country three or four days on his way to Europe.

Third Assistant Secretary of State Chandler Hale has been selected by the State Department, Major Gen. William H. Carter, Assistant Chief of Staff, by the War Department, and Capt. H. McL. P. Huse, Captain of the navy yard at Philadelphia, by the Navy Department, to receive the distinguished visitor. They will go down the bay to take the Presidential party off the Tagus, on which it sailed from Panama. The party will land at about Fifty-ninth Street.

At the Narrows a salute will be given in honor of the visiting President, and a body of troops will be at the landing to serve as a guard. The entertainment of the Chileans during their stay in New York will depend largely upon the health and inclination of President Montt.

According to the plans for his entertainment, he will visit President Taft on Friday. Arrangements are being made for the Chilean President to go to Boston by rail and to make the trip from there to Beverly on the Mayflower, the President's yacht.

BAN ON BLEACHED FLOUR.

Government Will Prosecute Millers for Any Shipments Between States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Millers must stop bleaching flour, pending adjudication by the higher courts, or stand criminal prosecution for each shipment made in inter-State commerce, according to a decision reached here to-day at a conference between Acting Attorney General Fowler and Solicitor McCabe of the Department of Agriculture, the latter representing Secretary Wilson. It was decided that the Inspectors of the Bureau of Chemistry should be instructed to procure samples of bleached flour shipped in inter-State commerce by millers and jobbers since the date of the decision in the Kansas City case, with a view to criminal prosecution of those responsible for the shipments.

The Kansas City case was a seizure of certian flour which the Government claimed was adulterated and misbranded because it had been bleached with nitrogen peroxide. After a five weeks' trial and exhaustive testimony on both sides the verdict in the case sustained the contention of the Government, and the bleachers have appealed the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals. The Government holds that, inasmuch as a jury has decided that bleached flour is adulterated, during the pendency of the appeal and until determination is made by a higher court bleached flour must not be shipped in inter-State commerce.

IRON PRODUCTION GROWS.

Shipments from Mesaba Range 23,200,000 Tons in 1909, 13,300,000 in 1902

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A great advance in iron ore production has been made in the Mesaba range in Minnesota, where the shipments have increased from 13,300,000 tons in 1902 to 28,200,000 in 1909, according to the report of the Geological Survey on the movement of Lake Superior iron ores. The Lake Superior iron ores represent about 80 per cent. of the total iron production of the United States.

The Adirondack region of New York from which the Eastern furnaces draw ores, has produced since it was opened over 100 years ago, about 36,000,000 tons, mainly from the Lake Champlain district, which supplies magnetite to furnaces in New Jersey and in Eastern and Central Pennsylvania and New York. There are numerous other sections supplying ore, and during the last year the foreign iron ores imported aggregate 1,700,000 long tons, which is the maximum quantity imported in any one year. Most of this was received at New York and Philadelphia. Over one-half of the imports were from Cuba. To meet a prospective increase in the Cuban trade considerable expenditures have been made for unloading facilities.

POSTAL BANK PASS BOOKS.

Government Will Adopt Familiar System for Savings Depositors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The long-established passbook system used in ordinary savings institutions will be adopted for the proposed postal savings banks when they are opened by the United States Government. The committee of officials that has been perfecting the plans for the postal banks had been considering what is known as the coupon system, according to which depositors would receive with each deposit a slip representing their deposit, together with a coupon for the amount of interest that would be paid on their money.

This, it was argued by those who proposed the system, would facilitate the handling of the business. The committee, however, decided there were many objections to flooding the country with millions of deposit slips, with coupons attached, many of which would represent values of only a few cents.

MANY MORE SMALL CITIES.

Census Will Show 220 in 25,000 Population Class.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The present census will show at least sixty more cities in the 25,000 population class than were counted ten years ago, according to advance information received at the Census Bureau. This growth in cities seems to be chiefly in the Western States.

According to the last census, there were 160 cities in the 25,000 class; it is said there are now 220. About 66 per cent. of the new 25,000 cities are in the West, and the section between the lakes and Kentucky. Of the remaining 30 per cent., two-thirds are in New England and one-third in the South.

SENATOR CRANE AND BALLINGER CONFER

Chairman Nelson of Investigating Committee Also Present at St. Paul Meeting.

SECRETARY IS BITTER

Says Garfield and Pinchot Are Trying to Foment Trouble Between Roosevelt and Taft.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 1.—Senator W. Murray Crane spent the day in St. Paul as a special agent of President Taft, who has been invited to speak at the conservation Congress in St. Paul on Sept. 5, but who wants Senator Crane's advice as to whether he shall come. By a coincidence, Senator Crane met Secretary Ballinger and Senator Nelson here and the talk became insistent that there was some attempt to drag the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy into the conservation congress programme. Senator Nelson is Chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee.

Senator Crane said his meeting here with Secretary Ballinger was purely accidental. Ballinger is on his way East from a Western trip, and Senator Crane left for the East to-night, instead of going on to the Pacific Coast, as political scouting agent for President Taft, as had been originally planned.

In the course of the three-cornered interview to-day, Senator Nelson took occasion to deny emphatically the report that the majority of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee had agreed upon even a tentative draft of their report. There will be a meeting of the committee, which, by another coincidence, has been called for Minneapolis on the same date that the conservation congress will be held in St. Paul.

As a net result of the visit of Senator Crane, eliminating all talk of complications at the conservation congress, it may be stated without fear of contradiction that Senator Crane will advise President Taft to open the congress.

In an interview which he gave out tonight at Minneapolis, Secretary Ballinger bitterly arraigned his enemies as demagogues, and charged that not only are they seeking to make a scapegoat of him, but that they are also trying to foment trouble between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt. He said:

"Pinchot, Garfield, and that bunch have been after me, trying to make a scapegoat of me. The President and I have done all we could to make this administration a success. The President is heartily in favor of rational conservation, and so am I.

"There are a lot of demagogues that would like to see a breach forced between Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft. But President Taft has been wise. He has taken a broad and liberal stand for constructive and upbuilding policies.

"There's too much lying about this conservation. There are certain fanatics who would lead us to believe that we won't have enough timber left to kindle a fire in the next generation and not enough coal left to keep it going.

"Why, they are deluding the people of the East; absolutely fooling them. They employ figures with recklessness. They tell the country that their resources are about gone. They suggest all sorts of absurdities."

SEVEN THROWN FROM CAR.

Dump Car Breaks and Laborers Are Buried Beneath Load of Rock.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, Aug. 1.—An automatic dumping car of the construction department on the New York, East Chester & Boston Railroad Company jumped the track at Rocky Dell, the country estate of Nathaniel S. Reyhal, near here, to-day, and seven employes were caught under an avalanche of rocks and earth and injured badly. Six of them were taken to the White Plains Hospital in ambulances, and it is feared that several of them will die. The injured were John Ragan, fractured skull, whose condition is critical; Julius Hotz, lacerations; Joseph Condora, fractured clavicle; Genero Ambroa, sprained wrist, contusions; Luigi Catalini, cuts; Frank Gallo, contusions, and another man who was injured but who did not give his name, and was treated at the works, refusing to go to the hospital.

A string of dirt carts, fully loaded, was backed out over a deep cut, and the seven employes were on top of one of the cars, when the automatic lock on a car became released and the car jumped the track, turning its load to the side of the track. The men were thrown down the embankment, a distance of thirty feet.

This is a business proposition, and we'll demonstrate that it's a business proposition," said Qualey. And then he subsided and let Corbett do the talking.

Mr. McIntyre's View of It.

Mr. McIntyre was bitter in his argument. He said of the prosecution: "They are buncoing the courts of Rhode Island for their private ends in this State. I think I am justified in saying that there will never be a real prosecution in this case. I say, and in doing so I do not reflect or intend to reflect in any way upon the District Attorney's office in this county, that this whole prosecution of these honorable defendants is a sandbag game—the case of a disappointed woman, who, believing she may lose some money, wants to get her money back, and is attempting to use the courts of this State for that purpose. Either that or some persons want to get possession of the very valuable plant of the company controlled by these defendants by prosecuting them."

Mr. McIntyre said that while Corbett was incarcerated thousands of dollars worth of business had accumulated on his desk.

Assistant District Attorney Fallricant answered Mr. McIntyre's long legal argument that the papers on which the defendants were held were insufficient by pointing out that the proceeding was not one for extradition or to review an extradition. In that case, he said, he would agree with Mr. McIntyre that the papers were insufficient. But, he said, a Magistrate has authority to hold a person provided he is satisfied that a charge of crime has been made against him in another State until such time as he can be examined. Consequently the defendants, he argued, were legally held. He was allowed until noon to-day to file a brief on this point.

Mrs. Corbett, an intellectual-looking woman, was in court and sat with a woman in black who was addressed as "Mrs. Hand." The two women did not speak. "Mrs. Hand" was specially interested in Qualey. She inquired if there was no way that service of warrants could be prevented after a prisoner was released on bail.

MAD BULL TERRIER CLEARS EIGHTH AVE.

Laborers Scatter and Women Run Into Stores and Jump Upon the Counters.

MAN AND A DOG BITTEN

Animal Shot by a Policeman—Supposed to be a Lost Pet for Which $50 Reward Was Offered.

A black and white bull terrier, frothing at the mouth, and snapping as he ran, went like a streak down upper Eighth Avenue yesterday, and the cry of "mad dog" rose as people scattered in every direction. He drove to the four corners a group of Italian laborers that were busy repairing the surface line at 125th Street, and, seeing the panic, passers by retreated into shops and climbed onto newsstands.

At 124th Street Daniel Hart of 200 West 124th Street passed his path and was bitten in the right hand. As he turned to run toward a doctor's office Hart saw the terrier grab at a little yellow dog, which gave one sharp yelp and fled. The police have been unable to find the yellow dog since. At 123d Street the mad dog met a fearless terrier of his own kind and at once turned tail and started back for the gang of laborers.

This time they were more valiant and beset the dog with their picks and shovels, so that he ran west on 125th Street, taking refuge in a milliner's shop, where the girls leaped to the counters. As the dog came out in the open again Policeman Mulholland was ready for him with a revolver. He fired two shots and the dog rolled over dead.

The dog was taken to the Willard Parker Hospital, where an examination for rabies will be made this morning. After sundown a girl named Flossie Redmond appeared at the West 125th Street Station and told the police she was sure the dog was the one she lost last April. She had read the descriptions in the evening papers and they tallied exactly with her missing pet.

The girl is the fifteen-year-old niece of John Redmond of 270 West 180th Street, chief engineer of the Atlantic Building, 49 Wall Street. Her uncle, she said, had offered $20 reward. Her dog, she said, was a black and white bull terrier, a two-year old, with uncilpped tail and ears, and an unimpeachable pedigree. When she telephoned to the hospital they gave a similar description of the dead dog there.

HARVARD AERO MEET LOSES ITS SANCTION

National Council Adopts Resolution Requiring All Entries in Good Standing to be Accepted.

A VICTORY FOR HAMILTON

Harvard Promoters Now Must Accept His Entry Despite His Private Disagreements with Curtiss.

The Executive Committee of the National Council of the Aero Club of America decided yesterday, by a vote of 5 to 2, that no aviation meet in this country should be sanctioned unless the entry of every aeronaut who desired to enter and who was in good standing in the parent body was accepted. The immediate effect of the resolution is to refuse a sanction for the aviation meet that was to have been held by the Harvard Aeronautical Society in the Cambridge (Mass.) Stadium and surrounding grounds, from Sept. 3 to 13 next.

At the same time the Council put itself on record as indorsing the conduct of Secretary Jerome S. Fanciulli in the controversy. These resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That no sanction for a meet, congress, contest, or exhibition shall be granted to any club by the National Council, except upon the express condition that any such event shall be open to entrance by any qualified and licensed aviator, and no ground or reason other than that formulated by the National Council or the Contest Committee shall be deemed sufficient reason for refusing the entry of such aviator, and violation of this rule shall annul such sanction.

Whereas the Executive Committee has considered the questions involved in the Curtiss and Hamilton controversy, so far as the same affects the National Council, and nothing therein has been charged or developed which in any way reflects on the personal or official conduct of Jerome S. Fanciulli, the Secretary of the National Council,

Resolved, That this committee hereby takes the occasion to indorse Mr. Fanciulli's conduct in all matters pertaining to the office of Secretary.

It was for the Harvard meet that the entry of Charles K. Hamilton was refused, after it had been solicited repeatedly, and received finally, because Jerome S. Fanciulli, Glenn H. Curtiss's business manager, so the National Council learned yesterday, stated that if Hamilton's personal entry was accepted Curtiss, J. C. Mars, Charles F. Willard, Thomas S. Baldwin, and other Curtiss aviators would not compete.

Fanciulli told the promoters of the Cambridge tournament, the council learned, that Hamilton was still under contract to Curtiss for two years more. After Curtiss had been notified by Hamilton on July 8 at Atlantic City that he would no longer fly Curtiss biplanes, Curtiss sued Hamilton for $6,200, alleged to be due for unpaid royalties. Hamilton filed a counter-suit against Curtiss, claiming abrogation of the contract by written release, damages of $14,000 for non-fulfillment of contract, delay in sending aeroplane repairs, &c., and ever since July 8 has denied that he was under contract with Curtiss. Hamilton announced at the time of abrogating his contract with Curtiss that he shortly would embark in the manufacture of biplanes of his own design. With a machine of this type which is now within one week of completion in a New York City machine shop, Hamilton intended to compete for all of the prizes offered for the Harvard tournament, which aggregated $30,000.

The largest purse is one of $10,000, for a thirty-two-mile flight from the Harvard Stadium to Boston Light and return. J. V. Martin, general manager of the meet and of the Harvard Aeronautical Society, visited New York and Garden City for the special purpose of inducing Hamilton to enter the Cambridge meet, and finally succeeded in getting Hamilton and P. L. Young, Hamilton's business agent, to visit Boston and meet Martin's confreres. Fanciulli was present at this meeting in Boston, and when told that Hamilton had accepted the proposition for his appearance made by the Harvard promoters, informed Martin that if Hamilton's services were accepted on his individual entry, neither Curtiss nor any Curtiss fliers would be allowed to compete. Up to that time four Curtiss aeronauts, including Curtiss himself, had entered, and completed their arrangements for flying, as had two of the Wright exhibitors, Hoxsey and Brookins. Fanciulli further told the Boston promoters that an injunction would be sought restraining Hamilton from flying or the Boston promoters from paying him any money if he were permitted to enter on his own account.

After a number of meetings among the Boston promoters it was decided not to accept Hamilton's entry. Thereupon Hamilton filed a protest with the National Council against the sanctioning of the Harvard meet on the ground that the contract between Curtiss and himself was a matter for the courts to adjudicate and not one which was in any way the concern of the Harvard meet promoters. Hamilton stated in this protest that he was a licensed aeronaut and pilot under the rules of the Aero Club of America, of which both Curtiss and he are members, and that he was asking for a broad ruling on the matter of sanctioning meets wherein the entries of licensed aviators were refused on other grounds than that these pilots had violated the rules of the Aero Club or the National Council and had been suspended for this reason.

Fanciulli, who besides being Curtiss's business manager, is Secretary of the National Council of the Aero Club of America, said as a defense that Hamilton was still under contract with Curtiss and that he had "ordered Hamilton to appear at the Boston meet for five of its nine days, to appear on those days in place of Curtiss, who would fly the other four." Hamilton denied very bluntly yesterday that he had ever received such a message, either written or oral.

The Executive Committee, in a session from which Fanciulli was barred, then passed the resolution concerning sanctions and further ordered the application of the Harvard Aeronautical Society for a sanction returned, disapproved.

After sanctioning the aviation meet which is to be held in Pittsburg this week, the request of the Aero Club of Baltimore to have the elimination contest for the selection of the American team of three to defend the international speed prize against the challenging French and British teams, held in Baltimore, was read and filed. The elimination contest will be held at Garden City the first two days of the international meet, which is to be held there from Oct. 15 to 23. The applications of the Aero Clubs of Chicago, Philadelphia, Pasadena, Los Angeles, and Kansas City for sanctions for meets then were acted upon favorably, as well as one for an indoor exhibition at St. Louis.

"It is now up to the Harvard promoters," Hamilton said last evening, when asked what he proposed to do about the Cambridge meet. "Since the meet did not receive the sanction of the National Council any man who flies there will become an outlaw and will not be permitted to compete in sanctioned meets. I was invited repeatedly to participate in the Cambridge tournament, and the figures finally agreed upon for my appearance were satisfactory to the promoters and to me. Whether they will renew their offers or not and permit the entry of any other flier remains to be seen. Of course, if they do and if my entry and that of any others who want to appear are accepted, then I presume they again will apply for a sanction, and in that event the National Council may see its way clear to granting the meet a sanction."

TO FLY FOR SOLDIERS.

Wilcox Starts for Pine Plains, Where Army Manoeuvres Will Be Held.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 1.—Upon the telegraphic request of the War Department Philip W. Wilcox this morning shipped his biplane to Pine Plains, N. Y., where the joint manoeuvre camp of troops of the regular army and the National Guard of New York has just been established. He will give a number of demonstrations with his aeroplane for the benefit of the soldiers of the regular and militia services.

As Wilcox is himself still a novice in the handling of an aeroplane these tests probably will be of an elementary nature and are designed to acquaint the troops with the appearance and speed of a heavier-than-air machine while flying.

Wilbur Wright and J. C. McCoy visited the present aviation field and the site for the international meet a mile east of the present flying grounds this afternoon. Mr. Wright expressed himself as greatly pleased with both of the sites, saying they appeared to him ideal for both novice and expert, for training and for high speed and difficult contests.

A picture of a battleship is to be painted on a screen in front of the grand stand here and it will be used by the aeronauts as a target in dropping "bombs" of oranges.

VANAMAN GETTING READY.

Only Awaits Apparatus at Atlantic City to Begin Work of Assembling.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 1.—Melvin Vanaman, the engineer who with Walter Wellman proposes to make a Transatlantic trip by airship, arrived in this city yesterday, coming here directly from New York after his arrival from Europe. He said that all the aeronautic and navigation instruments had arrived on the same steamer with him, and were now in customs in New York, and he and Mr. Wellman are looking for them to arrive here to-morrow.

The big envelope is also in customs. It is packed in a large case, and weighs about four American short tons. The car, which is made of steel tubing and framework, will be 156 feet long and weigh about 5,000 pounds. The guide rope, which is a series of steel tubes, and all other appurtenances of the car are now on board the Oceanic, and they are expected to arrive in this country on Wednesday.

Carpenters are now engaged in building an immense shed for the housing of the big airship, and that will be completed by the latter part of this week. With this completed and their materials on hand, they will begin the work of assembling the car and inflating the big envelope.

The envelope will first be filled with air in order that a thorough inspection may be made of it before it is inflated with gas. Special apparatus was built in France under supervision of Mr. Vanaman for the generating of the oxygen gas with which the big bag will be filled. This gas plant came over with Mr. Vanaman and it is expected that it will arrive here to-morrow or Wednesday. Mr. Vanaman will supervise the setting up of the plant as soon as it arrives.

The work of attaching the car to the balloon will take only a few days. Mr. Vanaman brought along with him two expert mechanics, men who have had a great deal of experience in working upon balloons and airships of every description, and they will accompany the aviators on the trip across the Atlantic.

FALLING BIPLANE KILLS BOY.

And the Airwoman, Mme. Franck, Suffers a Broken Leg at Sunderland.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Mme. Franck, the Parisian airwoman who recently expressed her intention of competing for the New York-Chicago prize and who is the wife of an English journalist in Paris, to-day at Sunderland made a flight which had a tragic termination.

Her biplane fouled a flagstaff, turned over at a height of twenty-five feet, and fell on a boy spectator, killing him.

Mme. Franck suffered a compound fracture of the leg. The boy who was killed was struck by the motor, and several other persons were thrown to the ground and injured by the lighter part of the aeroplane.

LORAINE'S FINE FLIGHT.

Actor-Aviator Goes from Blackpool to Wales and Back.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Robert Loraine, the American actor-aviator, to-day went one better than Mr. Grahame-White, who yesterday flew from Blackpool to Southport.

Mr. Loraine started at 5 P. M. from Blackpool and flew rapidly south to Liverpool. He crossed over the Mersey, rounding the New Brighton tower and passing over an Atlantic liner lying in the river. He had to land in Wales owing to a slight accident to his tailplane but speedily reascended and returned to Blackpool before 7 P. M.

Altitude Records at Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 1.—New altitude records are becoming an everyday occurrence here. The aeroplanist Tyck to-day reached a height of 1,700 meters, (5,570 feet.) On Saturday Olieslagers made a flight to a height of 1,524 meters (4,991 feet) in a monoplane.

WALDO FILLS NEW OFFICE.

Appoints J. C. Rennard Electrical Engineer of Fire Department.

Fire Commissioner Waldo filled yesterday the position of Electrical Engineer of his department, recently created by the Board of Estimate. John C. Rennard of 77 East Fifty-sixth Street, the appointee, will receive a salary of $5,000 a year. He is a man of independent means, a member of many clubs, and an old friend of the Commissioner.

Like Commissioner Waldo, Mr. Rennard is an "army man." He was graduated from West Point in 1890, remaining there two years as a junior instructor, and then went to Columbia University, from which he was graduated in 1894 as an electrical engineer. Up to three years ago Mr. Rennard was of the staff of the New York Telephone Company.

OLD FIRE CHIEF'S CALL.

Eli Bates, 86 Years Old, the Guest of Waldo at Fire Headquarters.

Eli Bates, 86 years old, who was Chief of the New York Fire Department until 1884, and who was a volunteer fireman twenty years before he joined the department, visited Fire Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo at his office yesterday. The two chatted about past and present conditions in fire fighting.

The Commissioner took Mr. Bates through Fire Hall and showed him the improved system of alarms and signals and gave him a general idea of how an up-to-date department was conducted.

The old man seemed delighted with his visit, and congratulated the Commissioner on the general appearance of things.

Chief Bates, who lives at 236 Fulton Street, Jersey City, draws a pension from the city of $2,350 a year.

TARRYTOWN WOMEN IN SCHOOL FIGHT

In Autos They Are Electioneering for Their Own School Board Ticket.

MEN SAY THEY'RE CONFIDENT

But Women Declare They'll Elect Their Candidates If Hard Work Can Do It—A House-to-House Canvass.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The recent meetings held in the interest of woman suffrage under the auspices of the Hudson River Equal Rights Association at the homes of Mrs. Roswell Skeel, Mrs. Charles J. Gould, Mrs. Henry Villard, and others, has borne fruit, for a large number of prominent women in Tarrytown intend to exercise their rights at the annual school meeting, to be held in the Washington Irving High School to-morrow night.

The election promises to be the hottest in the history of the district, for the women not only have named a ticket in opposition to the regular board, but they are making a house-to-house canvass soliciting votes. Tickets have been printed, and they are being distributed where they will do the most good. In addition, the women have come out with a letter which explains their cause and urges the women of the community to support them. It reads:

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 2, the annual School Committee meeting for the election of School Trustees and transaction of other business will be held in this village at 8 o'clock.

This year three School Trustees are to be chosen by the vote of the people to care for our school interests. Many of the women of Tarrytown, mothers and friends of the children and young people who spend so many hours within the schoolhouse walls, feel that this matter calls for lively interest on their part, and should be as near their hearts as their hospital, Young Men's Christian Association, church, and home interests. Therefore a number of them from all parts of the town have united in this common interest and have met together to discuss our school needs and to plan how best to help their village in this matter by the exercise of the privilege granted them by the State. At the earnest request of this organization of women the following gentlemen have consented to be candidates for election at the meeting on Aug. 2: For School Trustee for three years, Frank R. Pierson; for School Trustee for three years, Frederick J. Hall; for School Trustee for two years, James H. Burten Shaw, M. D.

Their well-known standing for all that is best in the life of the community entitles them to the loyal support of the men and women of the town who are truly interested in the welfare of the school.

F. R. Pierson, who is heading the woman's ticket, is President of the Board of Education, and he also is named on the regular ticket, with which he says he is in sympathy. With him are Clarence S. Davison, a member of the present board, who is seeking re-election, and Charles W. Fairchild. This ticket is known as the regular ticket, and has the backing of some of the most influential men.

The men realize that the women are going to give them the biggest fight of their lives, and they are not leaving a stone unturned to get votes. More than 6,000 tickets have been printed on both sides for missionary purposes, and it is expected that the school auditorium will be packed to the doors.

There will be some clever politics to land the chairmanship of the meeting, as the women's committee, it is expected, will have a candidate for this important office.

Automobiles and carriages will be used to get out the votes, and no voter will be allowed to escape his or her responsibility. The regular ticket will win, so the men say.

The women, while not so confident, expect to give the men a hard fight, and if they don't win they say the fight will have a beneficial effect on school matters. One of the leading women in the movement said to-day:

"We are not politicians, but we are learning fast. We intend to get out a big vote, and there will be some surprises when it is counted. This is a fight to a finish, even if it takes years."

The women are traveling around in automobiles, getting converts for their cause.

WANT SCHEUCK TO TESTIFY.

Mississippian Arrested at the Hotel Imperial on a Federal Warrant

Frederick Scheuck of the firm of Scheuck & Co. of Aberdeen, Miss., was arrested yesterday at the Hotel Imperial by United States Marshal Henkel, on a writ of attachment issued by United States District Attorney W. D. Frazer of Mississippi, and taken to the Federal Building.

The writ states that Scheuck is wanted as a witness before the Federal Grand Jury in Aberdeen on Oct. 3. The case in which his testimony is required is not set forth in the writ, but it is said that it is one of the cotton bills of lading cases with which the courts in several Southern States have been busy.

Scheuck is already under $5,000 bail in Aberdeen. It is charged that he was preparing to leave for France. He will now be held pending advices from District Attorney Frazer.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—Indications are that the Federal Government will take up the alleged bill of lading frauds growing out of the failure of the cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co., according to cotton men here who learned of the arrest this afternoon of Fred Scheuch in New York.

Scheuch is a member of the firm of Scheuch Company of Havre, France, reported to have lost heavily in the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co. of Alabama, and also to have been concerned in the failure of Steele, Mills & Co. of Mississippi. Scheuch came to this country and engaged counsel to protect the interests of his firm. His detention is believed here to be more for the purpose of holding him as a witness than anything else.

TO PRODUCE WIRELESS BOOKS

Officers of the United Company Face Court Proceedings Otherwise.

Although Assistant United States Attorney Stephenson refused to talk of the case yesterday, it was reported on apparently good authority that the missing books of the United Wireless Company of America, which are wanted by the Federal Grand Jury, will be forthcoming at 11 o'clock to-day. Judge Hand of the United States Circuit Court has declared the officers and local Directors of the United Wireless in contempt for failure to produce these books, and if they are not in court to-day proposes to issue body attachments.

It is said that the missing books have been in a storage warehouse.

CATHOLICS DESIRE A REVOLT IN SPAIN

Priests Preach Violent Sermons —Carlist Leader Goes to Confer with Don Jaime.

KING STARTS FOR LONDON

Premier Canalejas's Note Received in Rome and Ambassador Ojeda Leaves That City.

MADRID, Aug. 1.—With Catholics at Rome expressing the hope that Don Jaime, the Carlist Pretender, may raise the standard of revolt and that the Catholics of the Biscayan provinces may rise in insurrection, and with the Socialists in Spain threatening disorder, the Imparcial, which has hitherto been unfriendly to Premier Canalejas, ranges itself upon the side of the Government in the conflict with the Vatican.

The Liberal press in general continues stanchly to support the Cabinet, to which a free hand to carry through its policy has been left by the departure of King Alfonso and his Queen for England. The Imparcial says:

"We are faithful members of the Roman Catholic Church, but we have always regarded the issue not as a religious but as a national problem, involving the independence of the civil power. Not Spain, but the Vatican, has created the present situation."

The Liberal press expresses especial indignation at the telegram of Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, indorsing the attitude of the Biscayan Catholics, who threaten to precipitate civil war and in telegrams to the Vatican place their lives and property at its disposal for the conflict.

Ex-Deputy Llorens, one of the Carlist leaders in Spain, left to-day for Frohsdorf Castle, near Vienna, the residence of Don Jaime, to confer with the Pretender. His late departure would indicate that Carlist plans for a rising are in no very advanced state.

BILBAO, Aug. 1.—The Roman Catholic priests throughout the Biscayan, or northern, provinces of Spain preached violent sermons yesterday against the policy of the Government in its conflict with Rome.

Preparations for a great Catholic demonstration against the Government on Aug. 7 are being continued in spite of the declaration of the Government that no demonstration threatening disorder will be allowed.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Aug. 1.—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria left here to-day to pay a visit to the royal family of England.

They will stop on the way at Rambouillet to visit President Fallières of the French Republic.

ROME, Aug. 1.—One hour after presenting the note of Premier Canalejas to the Vatican officially announcing that Marquis de Ojeda had been "called to Madrid for a communication from the Government," the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican left Rome. This was early this morning, and as yet no retaliatory measure has been taken by the Church, and Mgr. Vico still remains in Madrid as Papal Nuncio.

The statement issued by Premier Canalejas yesterday bearing on the controversy between Church and State has been carefully perused by the Vatican officials, who wish it to be clearly understood that the part of the statement in which it is declared that the Holy See intended to concede to the Spanish Government less than what was agreed to in 1904 is without foundation in fact.

It is Canalejas, they declare, who now wants greater concessions than those of 1904, on the plea that they were granted to the then Premier Maura and that Canalejas believes them to be insufficient.

In answer to this the Holy See retorts that it deals with the Spanish Government, not with parties in the Cortes. The convention between the Holy See and the Spanish Government agreed to in 1904, it is pointed out, had already been approved by the Senate and was about to pass the Chamber of Deputies when the Maura Cabinet fell. This, however, was due to matters having no relation to the convention or the religious question. Why, then, the Vatican asks, should greater concessions be granted to Premier Canalejas now?

Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, has prepared all the documents in the controversy for publication in a White Book if the Premier issues a Red Book on the subject.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Only about 2,000 communicants and regular attendants of Protestant churches live in Spain, according to the latest estimate for the State Department made two or three years ago. This estimate was prepared by the representative of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

In addition to the 3,000 regular attendants, it was estimated that there were about 10,000 Protestant adherents, or persons who, though attending services only occasionally, were more in sympathy and accord with the Protestant Churches than with the Catholic Church.

EXPORTS OF BIRD'S NESTS.

Siam Furnished World with $109,848 Worth Last Year for Soup.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The "bird's nest soup, $2 per plate," which appears on Chinese restaurant bills of fare, is or may be a delicacy made from real bird's nests, which form a unique item in the export trade of Siam, says Vice Consul General Carl C. Hansen of Bangkok, in a report to the State Department. Shipments from Siam during the fiscal year of 1909 amounted to 17,781 pounds, valued at $109,848, most of which were taken by Chinese cities, especially Hongkong and Singapore. What part of these exports reaches the United States was not reported.

"These edible nests are found in the islands off the coast of Siam," says Mr. Hansen, "and are the products of a species of birds belonging to the family of swifts. The nests consist almost entirely of the salivary secretion of these birds, whose salivary glands are much more developed than those of the ordinary swift. The season for the gathering of the nests begins in April and ends in September. The Chinese regard them not only as a great table delicacy, but also as a valuable tonic medicine in neurasthenia and pulmonary diseases. It is said that the demand in Hongkong for the nests exceeds the supply, and that the prices range from $15 to $25 per pound, according to quality."

Miss Withers Not Killed in China.

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 1.—Miss Lucille Withers, who went from this city to China to take charge of a missionary school about a year ago, is alive and well, according to advices received from China to-day. A month ago it was reported that she had been killed in an uprising of natives in Shan-Tung Province, and the State Department was asked to investigate the matter.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—Major Herwarth von Bittenfeld of the German General Staff was to-day appointed Military Attache to the Embassy at Washington and the Legation at Mexico City. He will succeed Major von Livonius, the present attache.

LA FLECHE, France, Aug. 1.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, who is the guest of Baron d'Estournelles de Constant at his home here, presided to-day at the distribution of prizes to the children of the Communal Schools.

ROME, Aug. 1.—The Pope to-day received in private the Right Rev. James J. Hartley, Bishop of Columbus, Ohio. Bishop Hartley presented a report upon conditions in his diocese.

SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—The French cruiser Montcalm, bearing Admiral De Castries, arrived off Cape Flattery to-day. She is due in Seattle to-morrow for a visit of ten days.

ENTERTAINS THE GAEKWAR.

George Kessler the Host of the Ruler of Baroda and His Wife.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—George Kessler of New York entertained the Gaekwar of Baroda and the Maharanee for the week end at his residence at Bourne End, on the Thames.

The Gaekwar and his wife to-day dined with the King and Queen at Marlborough House.

Mr. Kessler's house, which he calls New York Lodge, is surrounded by beautiful gardens and is in an idyllic situation. Mr. Kessler made the acquaintance of the Gaekwar on board the Mauretania when they sailed from New York recently, and invited him to spend a few days at his riverside house.

CHOLERA PANIC IN RUSSIA.

Mine Owners Predict Coal Famine if Miners' Exodus Is Not Checked.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—The general organization of mine workers in South Russia appealed to-day to the Government to adopt special measures to combat the epidemic of cholera which is raging with especial virulence in the great coal-mining district on the Donets River, in South Russia.

Approximately 2,000 cases, with a mortality of 50 per cent., are registered in the Bakhmut and Slavyanobsk districts of this region, and the scourge has caused a panic among the miners and a wholesale exodus from the mines.

The output from these districts has been reduced to from one-half to three-quarters of the usual quantity and the mine owners foresee a coal famine if the exodus of miners is not checked.

MORO BANDITS SLAIN.

Datto Appa and Several of His Followers Killed by Constabulary.

MINDANAO, Aug. 1.—A detachment of Philippine constabulary encountered a band of raiding Moros returning from Bukidnon to-day and killed their leader, the noted Datto Appa, and several of his followers.

Datto Appa had armed his band mainly with weapons obtained by rushing outposts and sentries at the various military posts in Mindanao.

FINDS FOREIGNERS WARY.

Mr. Stillwell, Returning from Abroad, Says Legislation Here Is Disquieting.

Arthur E. Stillwell, President of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway, returned from abroad yesterday on the Holland-America liner Rotterdam. He succeeded in placing $5,00,000 first mortgage fifty-year gold 4 per cent. bonds of his railroad with English investors. After closing up the business he made a tour of Europe and had a chance to study conditions.

"There have been so many laws made and so much investigation here that the European investor views our securities with distrust," said Mr. Stillwell. "They are afraid to venture, as no one knows what is going to happen next. I was told that there was too much politics. I guess that that is part of the trouble.

"Give the railroads a chance to make good rates, so that their earnings will be ample to pay investors, and this country will see the greatest prosperity it has ever known. I believe that the railroad companies are ready to spend $500,000,000 in the next ten years if there is assurance that they will not be hampered by legislation founded upon agitation rather than sound law.

"We want good rates to allow fair earnings. At present much of the money which would ordinarily flow here is finding its way to South America and particularly Argentina."

The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway when entirely completed, will run between Kansas City and Topolobampo, Mexico, on the Gulf of California, a distance of 1,659 miles. Already 878 miles are in operation. Mr. Stillwell said that a bond issue will result in the early completion of the extension from San Angelo, Texas, linking the southern end of the line with the Mexican National Railway.

MEXICAN LETTER FOR KEELER.

Police Hope It Tells About a Safe Deposit Package There.

Acting Captain Coughlin of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau received a letter yesterday from Mexico City addressed to Dr. Harry Bradley Keeler, who is now in Raymond Street Jail, Brooklyn, awaiting trial on a charge of swindling Mrs. Wilhelmina Lynch of 24 Vernon Avenue out of $14,000. It is believed that the letter contains information about a package which Keeler had in a deposit vault of a banking institution in that city when he was arrested here with his wife, Emma C. Keeler, who is in the Brooklyn jail with her husband.

Acting Captain Coughlin is in hopes that the package contains some of the money which Keeler is alleged to have stolen from Mrs. Lynch. The letter will be turned over to Keeler to-day.

It was said yesterday that an attachment against the $1,500 taken from Keeler when he was arrested has been made by Mrs. Lynch's lawyers.

Election Fraud Cases End.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 1.—All remaining indictments against H. J. Slattery and J. Delige for alleged frauds at the special Congressional election here last April were dismissed to-day. This ends the cases. No conviction was had. The cost of the investigation was about $7,000.

TWO MORE COMMANDS REACH PINE PLAINS

Sixty-ninth and Twelfth Regiments March in Briskly and Make Camp.

IRON JAWED MAN'S PROWESS

Wonder Tales of His Tug-of-War Contests—The Challenge He May Issue.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Sixty-ninth Regiment captured Pine Plains to-day when it arrived at Pine Camp Junction, ready on the instant, if necessary, to prove that they are soldiers. The regiment began detraining at 3 A. M., and within an hour the outfit, headed by its drum corps, was on the way to the camp assigned, two miles away.

It was bitter cold when the men arrived, but that had no effect on their enthusiasm, and they hustled over the black sand wilderness like school lads bent on a lark.

The Sixty-ninth, of course, awoke everybody else in camp when they got here. Col. Conley headed the regiment. He said he had brought all but about 100 of his men, and he thought that was a good showing.

After the Sixty-ninth came the Twelfth New York, over 700 strong, and like the men of the Sixty-ninth, bubbling over with enthusiasm. The Twelfth is made up of as husky a looking lot of youngsters as ever came to the manoeuvres. "Look at those chaps darting about like a lot of bees now," said one of the regular officers this morning, "and then take another look at them about day after to-morrow."

The arrival of these two regiments completed, with the exception of the Seventy-first, the quota of entire regiments that are to take part in the manoeuvres. Only the camp site of the Seventy-first, which is directly in front of The Hogback headquarters, is vacant to-night. That command is due early to-morrow morning, and when they have established camp the tented city will be complete.

Exercises Begin To-day.

Owing to the fact that these regiments were kept busy all day making camp, the exercises did not get really started to-day. To-night, however, the regular army umpires are handing out the preliminary problems which are to be worked out, and while the Seventy-first is making camp to-morrow morning all the other commands will be hustling for the sagebrush and swamps to show Major Reichmann, the chief umpire, and his assistants that the Manhattan soldier knows the game of war.

Squadron A, the first of the New York commands on the ground, will have a little war all of its own to-morrow, the squadron being divided into two forces, one under command of Major Bridgman and the other commanded by Capt. A. F. Townsend, the senior troop commander. The problem will be one of rear guard attack, and will be watched by several of the regular cavalrymen, who will act as umpires, and later on will give out the list of fictitious dead and wounded.

Among the troopers of this National Guard organization who will have a chance to distinguish themselves are Privates Elihu Root, Jr., Colgate Hoyt, who acted as orderly to a regular army officer during the invasion of Massachusetts; Alderman Cortlandt Nicoll, a son of DeLancey Nicoll, and Sergt. Major Thomas B. Clark, who, when he is not soldiering, is kept busy as the Vice President of the Night and Day Bank.

There were not nearly so many visitors to the camp to-day as had been expected owing to the fact that the sightseeing automobile service which was started Sunday went out of commission last night midway between the Plains and Watertown. One farmer near the little village known as Felt's Mills has two of the big "rubberneck wagons" in his front yard, and rumor has it that another is stranded near the big bend of the Black River, on the outskirts of the reservation.

When Gov. Hughes comes, as he is expected to do, in the next two weeks, he will have pointed out to him the saloons at the entrances to the reservation, and the officers will not be surprised if he makes an effort to find out why all these liquor selling licenses were granted.

Pay-Day Harvest Expected.

The regular troops are to be paid off on Wednesday. The enlisted men of those commands will then receive approximately $65,000, and the saloon men expect to get a large part of this money. The Provost Marshal and his guards will do all that is possible to keep the money away from them, but they are sure to get a lot of it, and right here is a great argument for the re-establishment of the army canteen.

"If we had the old canteen," said Capt. Townsend, one of the regular instructors with the Twelfth New York, "those places would not be there, and there would be no danger of any of the troops getting into trouble. The canteen would solve the question right off."

An inspection of these drinking shacks to-day showed that they are already receiving considerable enlisted trade, but so far no disorderly happenings in or near them have been reported.

So far one of the most popular attractions at the camp has been a negro soldier of the Twenty-fourth Infantry who is called "Iron-Jawed" Coleman. He hails from Alabama, and, according to reports, he has on several occasions outpulled a mule in a tug-of-war, holding his end of the rope in his teeth, while the other end was securely fastened to the collar of the mule. He is a member of the headquarters guard, and rumor has it that before the manoeuvres end he will issue a challenge to the Twelfth New York for a tug-of-war in which he will agree to outpull any twelve men in the regiment, using only his teeth, while they can use hands, feet, teeth, and all.

The headquarters cook, then, is also of the Twenty-fourth, and he is called "Wild William." He is the mildest-mannered negro in the regiment, and nobody seems to know how he got the name. Referring to cooking brings up the fact that for luncheon to-day Squadron A had tenderloin steak, French peas, potatoes, jams, prunes, tea, and coffee. It also served a beef stew the like of which the army has never smelled, much less tasted.

A brush heap fire in the camp to-day caused the sounding of the fire call in all of the regular encampments.

BAR NEW YORK'S TAXICABS.

New York Chauffeurs Not Allowed to Stand in Hoboken Streets.

Three drivers of the New York Taxicab Company, arrested in Hoboken yesterday in response to complaints from local hackmen were each fined $10 by Recorder McGovern for violating a city ordinance which requires a license from any vehicle that stands in the public streets for hire. The lawyers for the chauffeurs say they will carry the issue to higher courts by certiorari proceedings, for the company is wearied by an accumulation of such fines, running over the last year.

The New York cabs, often fifteen at a time, go to Hoboken at the invitation of A. B. Hexamer, proprietor of a large Hudson County livery, who calls them to help him fulfill his contracts with the various steamship companies which have passengers to transport to Manhattan and other points. Most of the piers have concourses, where the cabs may wait, but there is none such in front of the Holland American piers, where the arrests were made.

Two of the cabs had passengers when the drivers were arrested, and all were driven to the station in a high state of indignation. One driver, who had as his fare, an invalid woman en route for Chicago, was paroled until he could take her to the Pennsylvania station.

LOSES FAMILY IN BROADWAY.

Kaprow Had Just Met Them After Four Years' Separation.

After four years' separation, Marks Kaprow of 340 Bristol Street, Brooklyn, was with his family less than an hour yesterday, and then lost them again. His wife and four children had just arrived from Russia, and in Broadway they became separated.

Kaprow came to America from Russia, promising to send for his family as soon as he could save enough money. After four years' work Kaprow established a home in Brooklyn for them, and sent for them. They were released from Ellis Island yesterday.

Kaprow met them, and the newcomers were so interested in the Broadway buildings that they proposed a walk up that thoroughfare.

At Fulton Street Kaprow turned to speak to his family and could not find them. He dashed about excitedly for half an hour, shouting their names, but did not find them. Then he went to the Greenwich Street Police Station, and a general alarm was sent out for the missing family, none of whom speaks English.

ABANDON STOLEN AUTO HERE.

Car Found on the West Side Was Taken from a Toms River Garage.

A two-seated runabout, stolen from a garage at Toms River, N. J., was found yesterday morning at Twenty-fourth Street and Ninth Avenue by Policeman John Gavigan. Later it was identified by its owner and taken home.

At about 4 o'clock Gavigan saw the auto, but thought the occupants had gone to a garage to replenish their gasoline supply. Two hours later the car still was standing there. He notified Police Headquarters of the license number, which they ascertained belonged to Edward Irons of Toms River. Irons by telephone told them the car had been stolen from his garage Saturday night.

The automobile was towed to a stable, and Irons's son Ezra with Deputy Sheriff Rowland Buckwalter of Ocean County, N. J., came to New York, claimed it, and proceeded home in it.

Lawyer Morgan's Body Sent Home.

The body of Thomas F. Morgan, Jr., the lawyer who died in Roosevelt Hospital a few days ago, was shipped to his former home in Augusta, Ga., yesterday for burial. Mr. Morgan, with David Robinson, founded the Georgia Society in this city. He was a brother of Commander Casey Morgan of the navy, and his mother is head of the Daughters of the Revolution of Georgia. An uncle is Col. Peter W. Mendrim, former Mayor of Augusta.

MORE MUNICIPAL FERRIES.

City Acquiring Land in Brooklyn Once Used by Ferry Companies.

On motion of the Corporation Counsel, Supreme Court Justice Kapper in Brooklyn appointed yesterday three Commissioners of Condemnation to acquire for the city property at the foot of Broadway, Brooklyn, for use of a municipal ferry. The land is occupied by slips and waiting rooms which were used by the ferries between Broadway, Brooklyn, and Grand and other streets, in Manhattan, before these ferries ceased operation.

The city proposes to operate the ferries as municipal lines.

SUBWAYS BY ASSESSMENT.

Citizens' Union's Committee Favors This Basis for Outside Sections.

The Subways Committee of the Citizens' Union, of which Augustus H. Hand is Chairman, filed yesterday with the Public Service Commission a brief in favor of the construction of the outlying sections of the Tri-Borough Subway on the assessment basis. The brief addressed itself particularly to the Tri-Borough plan, arguing that if the outlying sections of that route were not built on the assessment basis it would be difficult to build other outlying routes on the same basis because of the probable contention of favoritism in the case of the territory served by the Tri-Borough Subway.

The Clink of Comfort in a glass of Iced Postum

Means more than the passing pleasure of a cool drink on a hot day.

Postum contains no drugs, but it does contain vitalizing food elements from wheat that afford lasting refreshment, and sustains the heat-wearied body by furnishing the support Nature requires.

Well-boiled Postum (directions on pkg.) chilled with ice and flavoured with sugar and lemon, makes a delicious drink that cools and comforts and is really a food for Brain and Nerves.

Again the Giants stepped lively at the Polo Grounds yesterday, setting up the fourth successive victory over Boston with surprising ease, the score being 4 to 0. The game was played in silence, the small crowd taking the Beantown downfall as a matter of course.

Some wag put it this way: "This Boston team can't win all the time, somebody's got to beat them once in a while, so New York might as well have a share of it."

Any way, beating a tailender is just about as exciting as Broadway is now after 1 o'clock. New York's work was brisk and gingery, as it should be on the eve of the Cubs' visit. The easy picking ended yesterday. What the Giants get during the next four days they are going to fight for.

As in all the Giant victories last week, they went into the game on the jump and got a good start. Curtis opposed them yesterday, and three crashing two-base drives in the first inning sent him under cover. Devore opened by flying to Miller. Doyle got a base on balls, and a stout clout to left by Snodgrass sent Lawrence to third. Red Murray hammered the ball at Abbaticchio, and it shot over his head on the bound to deep left, Doyle and Snodgrass counting. Bridwell rolled a grounder to Abby, who forced Murray at third. Bridwell stole second and scored on Devlin's joyous two-corner wallop. Merkle was hit by a pitched ball, and when he and Devlin started a double steal, Graham threw Devlin out at third.

Billie Burke, a rosy-cheeked and smiling lad, made his metropolitan début as a slabster for Boston. He's a southpaw, and during his share of the game, he allowed but six scattered hits. The Giants got one run while he was on the hummock. That came in the third. Doyle opened with a rousing smash to centre. Snodgrass sacrificed him to second. Murray then filled in centre for the second out. Merkle was hit by a pitched ball, and when he and Devlin started a double steal, Graham threw Devlin out at third.

Murray then filled in centre for the second out. Merkle was hit by a pitched ball, and when he and Devlin started a double steal, Graham threw Devlin out at third. Bridwell accepted young Burke's gracious liberality and walked. Then Bridwell started a delayed steal and kept himself and the ball in motion between first and second bases long enough to allow Doyle to score.

Crandall was in great shape, and let only one Bostonian get to third base. Like his game last week against the Doves, he gave no bases on balls. His five scattered hits were no more harmless than as many fouls. In the third inning, with two gone, Collins and Shean hit safely, but Crandall quickly buckled down and fanned Sharpe so quickly that he didn't know it. Beck got a two-bagger in the seventh, with one out, but he stayed at second base.

Listen to Manager Fred Lake's comedy in the ninth inning: "Come on now, boys, one of those nerve-racking rallies. On your toes and break it up." And right then and there Sharpe, Miller, and Abby went out quickly on three fly balls. Boston idea of a rally.

Perhaps there wasn't much noise, but why should there be when everybody's saving up to turn it loose on the Cubs today?

Brooklyn Blows Up in Eleventh.

In a loosely played game marked by heavy hitting, Philadelphia defeated Brooklyn yesterday at Washington Park by scoring three runs in the eleventh inning. Dessau, who relieved Rucker, was in trouble all the time. Three singles and a double by Grant gave the Quakers the victory. A running catch by Wheat was the feature. The score:

Pitcher Has Infantile Paralysis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Bill Hinrich of the Washington Club, a pitcher, who has been in a hospital for five days, was this morning declared to have developed a case of infantile paralysis. Though Hinrich is the first adult to be attacked by the malady, it has been epidemic in Washington for weeks past. Scores of babies have been afflicted with it, and the health authorities are very much alarmed. Hinrich is 21 years old. Infantile paralysis rarely attacks adults, but the rumor that Hinrich had the disease was affirmed by Dr. Cox to-day.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Indians won a freak game to-day, getting five runs off four hits. Wildness on the part of Carmichael, who started the pitching for Buffalo, caused trouble, and after the visitors took the lead in the second inning they were never headed. Mueller's good pitching in pinches was of the puzzling order. The feature was a home-run drive by Gettman. The ball went to deep centre field, and Ganley, who had previously walked, scored ahead of Gettman. Corcoran played a rattling good game at third base. It is reported that he has been sold to the Cincinnati Club. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Showing the Cleveland fans how baseball should be played, the New York Americans defeated the Naps in the first game of the series here to-day by a score of 4 to 2. Though outhit, they made up by base running and headwork what their sticks could not produce, and received a most enthusiastic ovation for their performance.

Jimmy Austin, native Clevelander, had the star rôle to-day. He drove in one run, scored another himself, and cut off a batting rally by a remarkable diving stop. Austin's great playing was done in the seventh inning. He drove the ball to Stovall back of first base. George made the stop easily, but instead of running to the bag he stood and held the ball, while Koestner, who started too late for first base, was beaten by the runner. This display of dullness on the part of Stovall brought jeers from the large crowd of fans. Austin then stole second with ease, and took third while Turner was throwing out Mitchell. Then, with two out, Jimmy got a good lead off third and started home when Koestner began to wind up. Instead of putting the ball straight across the plate, Koestner threw a wide one, and Austin slid in before Easterly could get the ball on him. The fans gave Austin one of the greatest ovations ever accorded a visiting player for his daring work.

Ford, who pitched for the Yankees, was batted harder than Koestner, but his support was better and he got the lucky breaks, some of the plays back of him being adorned with horseshoes. Koestner got a bad start. Daniels getting a hit and stealing before the Naps knew the game had begun. Then as Hemphill struck out the fleet outfielder went to third. He slid over the bag, and apparently Rath tagged him, but Umpire Connolly called him safe. This was disastrous for the Naps, as Knight was hit. Then he stole second, and both runners scored on Cree's double.

In the fourth inning the Yanks added another run after two were out. Roach walked, and then stole second. Austin sent a grounder through Rath that should have been an easy out, and Roach scored. In the seventh inning Austin added the final score by his fine work on the bases.

The Naps lost chances to score in the first and fourth innings through stupidity. In the first inning, with but one batsman out, Graney singled. Ford had given Turner three balls, and it seemed certain that "Cotton" would walk, when he hit at a high one, resulting in a double play.

In the fourth, with one out, Graney again singled. Turner, having learned his lesson, waited and walked. But he loafed when Lajoie drove the ball between short and third and was forced. Austin had to make a dive to reach the ball, and had Turner slid to second both runners would have been safe. Then the double steal was signaled. Lajoie went down, but Graney was napping and Mitchell caught him off third. After that the Naps were easy until the seventh. With one gone, Turner singled. Lajoie doubled, and after Easterly had died by the foul route Stovall singled, sending two runs in. This ended the scoring.

Tigers Lose Their Batting Eyes.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—Mullin was wild and was poorly supported to-day, and Boston took the first game of the series, 6 to 1. The home team got all its hits in the sixth inning, when it filled the bases, with no one out. Karger steadied down and retired the side with but one run. The score:

Waddell in Box for Browns Again.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 1.—St. Louis won the first game of the series with Washington today, 5 to 4. Rube Waddell pitched for the locals for the first time in a month, during which he has been under suspension. After doing fairly good work, he was displaced by Lake in the ninth inning. Walker was hit hard in the sixth inning and was replaced by Reisling. The score:

Coombs Routed by White Sox.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The White Sox knocked Coombs off the slab in two innings to-day, winning the opener from the Athletics, 6 to 1. White, for the locals, pitched a steady game all the way, giving seven hits. President Comiskey of the Sox to-day bought Outfielder Meloan from the Springfield "Three I." League club for $4,000. UNCLE SAM, PRIVATE CITIZEN.

A public-spirited farmer of the bearded and straw-chewing type, clad in red-and-white striped pantaloons with straps, a blue and starred waistcoat, a "grandfather's" hat, and leather boots, scratches with a quill his signature to an instrument deeding his property, situate on both sides of a mill stream, to a company that desires to construct a modern dam and develop and use the water power for the transmission of electricity. He gives this deed upon the express condition that the company, which is a public service corporation chartered by the State, shall not sell the power it generates above a certain specified rate.

Because of increased cost of labor and materials the company soon finds that the rate at which it agreed privately to supply the public with its current is too low. It appeals to the State Public Service Commission, which, after investigating, prescribes an increase of rate to a profitable basis, but above the maximum named in the contract with Uncle Samuel. The old man feels injured, he waxes choleric. "But I made this contract purely in the interest of the public," he declares to the Judge to whom he has appealed; "I stipulated that the rate should be low in the public's favor." "Yes," his Honor answers, "and as a result the public would soon have been deprived of power for use in its business through the failure of the company. Besides, you have usurped the function of the State, which, through its commission, is presumed to know and decide better than you what is for the welfare of its people."

The status of the United States, wherever it owns land within the borders of a State, is that of a private property holder. The Hon. WILLIAM E. BORAH, the insurgent and radical Senator from Idaho, maintained this position in the Senate Chamber on June 20 last, a position which, during his long citation of legal decisions that reinforced it, was not once seriously challenged by opposing Senators who had sympathized with the contrary views of ex-Chief Forester PINCHOT.

Mr. PINCHOT's policy with regard to the water power interests of the Western States may be summed up in these words: "We will give you the right to cross public land if you will agree to charge consumers only such rates as some Federal official shall name." But no such contract can be made to which the State is not also a party. The State has, concededly, the water power rights. It has the power to incorporate companies and to limit their capitalization, a matter of the first consequence in rate-making. The State makes the rules governing construction of dams, even on the public domain. It makes rules for the distribution of current, fixes the rate at which it shall be supplied, enforces the payment of the lawful rate, and prevents the collection of a higher or a lower rate. The exercise of these duties has never been ceded to the Federal Government or to any private person, but remains a sovereign power of each State. Like any other property-holding person, Uncle Sam may refuse to sell parts of his domain within the State for power sites. But, like the property of any other individual, his property is subject to the State's power of eminent domain. Senator BORAH makes this statement on the authority of a decision of the Federal Supreme Court:

> The right of eminent domain belongs to the State of Idaho as against the property of the United States so long as it is not being used for a Governmental purpose, the same as it does as to the property of an individual, and if it is proposed to adopt the policy of holding up the power sites until we concede or transfer away some of our sovereignty rights as a State, we will exercise the other power of sovereignty and condemn and utilize them.

Mr. PINCHOT cannot trust the people of Idaho to manage this affair of theirs in their own way. So much the worse, we should say, for Mr. PINCHOT.

BISCUITS.

THE TIMES printed not long ago two instructive letters signed by readers, the first trying to show that advertising increases the cost of living by stimulating the public to buy a greater variety and better quality of goods, the second that it decreases the cost of living by enabling business houses to command a wider market, to erect large and economical plants, and to sell their goods at lower prices. The standards of living are, indeed, raised by this process. It does stimulate expenditure, but it also directs it into economical channels.

The new "biscuit trust" has been organized on this principle. The Bakers' Union favors its formation, and for these official reasons:

> Any one who loves his fellow-man, who likes to know that he gets honest, clean food to eat, and hates to see little children die from eating the products of the rotten cellar bakeshops, welcomes consolidation in the industry. It means better conditions for the bakers, shorter hours, steady pay, even in the big shops not controlled by the union.

The "trust" will try to woo the American people away from its exclusive liking for bread to the consumption of more biscuits. We eat per capita 40 cents' worth of manufactured bakestuffs; the people of Canada $2.70 worth, and of England $4 worth. There are dietetic reasons, the heads of the new company maintain, why our habits should conform to those of the biscuit-eating Londoners. We are willing to hear their reasons, and, if convincing, to act upon them. The mere doubling of our consumption of biscuits would give two biscuit trusts sufficient business.

THE CASE OF CRIPPEN.

Only a corrupt mass of mortality, indistinguishable by feature or by sex, can be offered in evidence to prove that Dr. CRIPPEN really killed his wife, and that these are her remains. The circumstances point to his guilt. His motive is established. His disappearance with Miss LENEVE, both of them in disguise, and his behavior during and after arrest mark the all-but-convicted criminal. No physician engaged in the work of experimental dissection would so obliterate the evidences of identity in a corpse, and bury it under quicklime bricked up in his cellar. But the identity is lost irretrievably. Conceivably the body is that of some other person, or of an animal placed there by some one else than CRIPPEN. His actions may be inspired by fear, not by guilt. The motive may be proved, but it will be hard to prove the corpus delicti, the body of the crime.

If CRIPPEN should voluntarily confess, or if Miss LENEVE should make an incriminating confession of her own accord, it might serve as evidence against them. But in England what we call the "third degree" is never practiced. The officer who arrested him in the name of the King warned CRIPPEN against saying anything that might be taken down in writing and used against him. But if he should speak despite this warning the rule of the corpus delicti, which, though closely followed, is discretionary with the English courts, may in his case be abrogated.

JOHN G. CARLISLE.

Mr. CARLISLE will be remembered and his memory will be honored as a Democrat of the Cleveland school of Democracy. Himself a member of Mr. CLEVELAND'S Cabinet during his second Administration, his name goes into our political history associated with the names of BAYARD, of OLNEY, of GRESHAM, of WHITNEY, of LAMONT, of WILLIAM L. WILSON, and, among the living, of ex-Gov. FRANCIS and Gov. HARMON. These are the names of men to whom Democracy meant something. It meant, among other things, a century of tradition. This body of tradition and the principles by which the party and its chieftains had been guided, these men were unwilling to see set aside in favor of the new and un-Democratic doctrines of Mr. BRYAN. They were unwilling, as Mr. CLEVELAND phrased it, to see the old legends effaced from the party banner and in their place inscribed the strange new symbols of Bryanism.

Mr. CARLISLE performed his most distinguished service to his country and to his party, and exhibited to best advantage the great powers of his mind, we think, during his term as Speaker of the House of Representatives beginning in 1883, and in the long struggle at the beginning of Mr. CLEVELAND'S second Administration to bring about the repeal of the Silver Purchase act. Probably no man ever occupied the Speaker's chair who was better versed in parliamentary practice and in the rules and precedents of the House. Mr. CARLISLE was not a pliant Speaker, he was not considered easy and obliging, yet he won the high respect of the body over which he presided. In the councils and the conferences of leading Democrats at Washington to take thought and take measures how to secure from an unwilling House and Senate, and the Senate was particularly unwilling, the repeal of the Silver Purchase act, Mr. CARLISLE was always looked to for advice and suggestion, and both he gave with highest wisdom. At that time of stress and peril he spared himself no labor, but kept up the battle with unflagging zeal until the victory was won.

As Secretary of the Treasury in the second Administration of President CLEVELAND he was confronted with appalling difficulties and perils. Inheriting from the first Cleveland Administration a full Treasury, the Republican Administration of President HARRISON left it drained and burdened. Money was urgently needed for the current expenses of the Government. In addition to that, even worse than that, the country's fears, aroused by the Republican policy of the compulsory purchase of silver at a time when that metal was declining in value, caused such an encroachment upon the gold reserve required by law that measures had to be taken through bond sales in a most unpropitious season for its replenishment. It was a task in which no Secretary of the Treasury could have won great distinction. Mr. CARLISLE succeeded, at least, in averting the worst consequences of ill-judged legislation.

It is known that Mr. CARLISLE declined an appointment as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court offered to him by President CLEVELAND. It has been felt by those who knew him best that his qualifications for that great judicial office were so marked and notable that he would have won distinction and honor as Chief Justice. The habit of his mind was unquestionably judicial. Questions presented to him were examined with the care and the candor and the diligence characteristic of eminent jurists. But, leaving out of the question what Mr. CARLISLE might have done, in actual achievements there is abundant justification for the honoring of his name and his memory.

WE BLUSH FOR ROCHESTER.

When Rochester had defiled the Genesee River so that the nuisance was unendurable, what was the next thing to do? The idea of stopping defilement never occurs to anybody except under compulsion of law, so long as there is an easier and cheaper alternative. In Rochester's case Lake Ontario lay near at hand, and the obvious thing was to defile that. The consideration that some people must drink that water was nothing to Rochester, and it prepared to go ahead. As mere matter of form it submitted plans for the purpose to the State Commissioner of Health, who held a public meeting on the subject and took the advice of engineers. Both public and technical opinion was adverse, and the plans have been returned to Rochester with the advice to make suitable provision for the purification of its sewage.

This simple story seems to call for some expression of indignation and shame by somebody, and, since Rochester seems incapable of it, we blush for Rochester. Our hope is that the sight of Rochester in the pillory may discourage any similar plans under contemplation any nearer New York than Rochester. In Rochester's case it is evident that if it is to purify its sewage before emptying it into Lake Ontario it might as well purify it before emptying it into the Genesee River.

LABOR'S "UPLIFT" MOVEMENT.

A few days ago the General Committee of the Garment Workers' strikers made a formal appeal for public support in these words: "We want the sympathy and help of all fair-minded men and women. Our cause is that of human uplift, and if the manufacturers want to assume the position of opponents to this cause we are not responsible. We appeal our case to the American people, knowing that justice and right must and shall prevail."

The interpretation of these fair words was published yesterday in the following statement of the result of the negotiations up to date by the President of the strikers' union:

> The conference on Saturday ended, however, when we saw we could come to no conclusion on the subject of unionism. The manufacturers wanted to permit non-union men to work if they were competent. We asked how we could keep up union conditions in the factories, if there was an element we could not control.

In this case, therefore, the "uplift" of labor means the exclusion of all but unionists from the privilege of earning wages. It is impossible for any who are human to withhold sympathy for any sincere movement in promotion of human uplift, but this kind of uplift is another matter. In many ways unions are good things in the opinion of all, and in those respects they are entitled to the respect and support of all. No antagonism to trades unionism's universal beneficial activities is implied in reservation of approval of whatever unions choose to do in support of their own views of their own interests. Whenever unionists separate their interests from the common interests they challenge an opinion which should be given frankly, without any false sympathy. In the case in question those who stand for the rights of all to work and wages are truer friends of human uplift than those who stand for the enjoyment of those rights by themselves alone. No fairness of words can make it good for all that nine-tenths shall be excluded from the rights of earning a livelihood in the interests of one-tenth. Our institutions are not based upon the rule of the minority.

If this case stood alone it might be allowed to pass without comment, but similar cases are so frequent that it is necessary to take a stand in defense of citizenship as against human uplift of this sort. Much as all would like to see all wages raised, there is one greater boon, and that is the equality of all under the law. That is the first condition of human uplift, and it is the very condition which organized labor denies not merely to capital but to the large majority of its own class. There is no need of taking care of capital. It has the power to take care of itself if the law is enforced, and if the law is not enforced the results will be worse for others than for capital. But there is great need for taking care of that majority of our citizenship which is not organized, and which is not putting out any claims for human uplift.

It was reported yesterday that "fists, clubs, and stones were freely used in a riot by half a hundred striking union tailors." The objects of their resentment were some workers who had taken the strikers' jobs after the strikers had abandoned them. The need of the "scabs" was greater than that of the strikers. With whom should the public sympathize, and which of the two parties is really more in favor of the human uplift? Yesterday's mails brought another illustration from the opposite edge of the continent. In Portland, Ore., the teamsters on strike have carried matters to such an extreme that employers have combined against them and are educating the public in the issues underlying the open shop and the recognition of the union. In a statement the associated merchants say: "The strike as a strike is over. It consists now merely in slugging non-union men on the quiet and in outbreaks that keep the city in a turmoil. The Police Department is not stopping it and is not keeping the order that it should." Within a month we can catalogue assaults, riots, dynamitings, arson, enough to convince all except unionists, and even many of them, that the unions' plea that they stand for human uplift is unworthy of acceptance, however strong may be the desire to see the cost of living alleviated to wage earners.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Will Not Work or Cannot?

All sorts of problems are sent for solution to newspapers, and with a confidence sometimes amusing, sometimes pathetic, but always complimentary when the requests for aid or information are serious, as they usually seem to be. That quality is very marked in a letter received yesterday, asking advice as to what shall be done for an able-bodied young man of considerable intelligence who either will not or cannot work. The writer of the letter is apparently in doubt whether it is ability or inclination that is lacking, though he says that the case has been diagnosed by physicians as one of degeneracy. The young man's family, it is stated, have no desire to shirk any moral or financial responsibility for him, but he is a menace to their peace and happiness, and the letter closes with the inquiry, "Is there any legislation that can be applied to his case?"

Here, obviously, is a situation which the vague word "degeneracy" does not explain, but merely describes. It is only within years comparatively recent that any other explanation than laziness would be sought for such a case as this, or that any treatment would be suggested except that of telling the youth to work or go hungry. Nowadays, however, the alienists recognize the fact that what seems to the inexpert to be mere laziness may be a true psychosis—one of the many and not least grave forms of melancholia and a very different thing from the conquerable disinclination for work which many of us feel much of the time and all of us now and then.

As every phase of insanity is an exaggerated and uncontrolled normal quality, it is impossible to draw any hard and fast line between the sane and the insane, for though the extremes are easily determined there is a borderland where nothing is sure. It is certain that not a few men, seemingly quite able to work, endure, rather than do it, an amount of unhappiness and privation, of denunciation and humiliation, which in the aggregate form a price far beyond what anybody would willingly pay for the dull joys of idleness. It is at least probable that the case brought to our attention belongs in this category. The thing to do is to take the best medical advice that is available and follow it. If the boy cannot work, he cannot, and his family, if they are able, will have to care for him just as they would if he were afflicted with any other incurable disease. There is no relevant legislation except that which concerns asylums for the insane.

A Birdseye View of New York.

New York has a good many isolated tall buildings from the top of which views of the greater city as a whole can be obtained, and a good many thousand New Yorkers have availed themselves of the opportunity thus provided. A still larger number, however, have not done so, and these remain unaware of what a marvelous spectacle the metropolis presents when the eye can circle from the heights of Richmond around to the Jersey hills and thence through the Bronx region and misty Long Island back to the bay.

Both those who have and those who have not had this experience will find interest in a remarkable lithograph of huge size which the Pennsylvania Railway Company has caused to be made for the purpose of showing the position of its new station at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-second Street, in proper relation and proportion to the city's other notable buildings. The work has been admirably done, and though it has something of the stiffness as well as all the accuracy of a map, it is at the same time a real picture. At first glance it seems to be too highly colored, but the view from the upper windows of the Times Building nearly or quite confirms the lithographer's decision as to the multiplicity and vividness of tints given to New York by the materials used in the construction of its buildings.

What is shown in the picture is what would be seen by an observer looking down and eastward from a very high point a little to the south and west of the station. This makes the station itself seem lower than it really is, but emphasizes its enormous extent, and all the "skyscrapers" further off are brought out in fine relief as they rise here and there above the even level of structures made in apte-elevator days. The irregularity thus caused is seen to be falling into a sort of order that promises soon to have a beauty of its own, if it has not already attained it.

We are not grieved, of course, by the fact that rather more prominent than any building in the picture except the new railway station is the one occupied by THE TIMES. That was inevitable in any presentation of "The Central Section of New York City," which is the title of this production.

Cutting Grass Is Work.

It is to be feared that Mr. BABSON, the Massachusetts statistician whose opinions on the state of the country we printed Sunday, will find that he made himself unpopular with the whole great tribe of suburbanites by scolding them for hiring men to cut the grass in their yards instead of pushing the lawn mower themselves.

As a matter of fact, not a few of them still indulge in that violent form of exercise, but they would all be glad to avoid it if they could, and we cannot ourselves see why a man who has done a good day's work in the city, as is the wont of the suburbanite, should further tire himself and spoil his clothes by performing a task of this particular kind. In most cases it is at least possible that the time it would take can be devoted more profitably as well as more pleasantly to rest or amusement.

We never had much faith or patience for the theory that the fatigue caused by one kind of labor can be dissipated by turning to another. To whatever extent a man is tired he is tired all over, and—well, cutting the grass, even with the lightest-running mower ever advertised, is a very lifelike imitation of work, real hard work. The weariness it causes may or may not be balanced by the 50 cents or $1 saved, but Mr. BABSON might have admitted that just a few suburbanites are not wickedly extravagant though they prefer playing with the dog or sitting on the piazza to using up their precious hours of leisure at home as he advises.

RELIGIOUS MUSIC.

Would Have a Great Festival an Annual Affair.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Church of the Strangers, in Fifty-seventh Street, just west of Eighth Avenue, has acquired the commendable habit of having singing at its front door before the regular evening services begin. The other evening I came by at the beginning, when perhaps ten persons were present. In a very few minutes more than 100 had gathered, even vehicles on the street—not motor cars, however,—stopping for their occupants to listen. As I saw the crowd collecting about the singers, men, women, and children, black and white, and all denominations, it occurred to me that if a little music could draw so many, why shouldn't much music draw many more, and recalling how the churches are deploring their lack of drawing power and the more or less vain efforts they are making to encourage a wider interest in their mission, it further occurred to me that if all the churches, or all the religious organizations, of a great city like New York should get together and hold an annual festival of religious music for at least a week what crowds it would attract and what a religious interest it would develop along lines now almost wholly neglected outside of paid choirs.

So much I thought of this that I could see Madison Square Garden, in the month of May, let me say, filled night after night with thousands drawn thither to the singing and the music they had known all their lives and loved—choruses of hundreds of Sunday school children, orchestras rolling out the grand old tunes, great artists from the Metropolitan Opera House singing familiar hymns as no congregation has ever heard them sung, the finest choirs in the city with their best selections, solos, duets, quartets, sextets, and all the combinations, vocal and instrumental, known to religious organizations taking part, and I wondered if it would ever come to pass. And why not? The churches have money enough to produce such a festival, making admission free, at least the first year, and if the first were successful the festival might grow and spread until every city in the land fell into the chorus and these annual festivals of religious song would be held all over the country.

There is no question as to their drawing power, and as only religious music, the greater part of the most popular kind, would be given, the interest developed would be religious. At the same time, though the purely musical would not be the chief object, the artistic side need not be neglected, for some of our greatest music is religious, and lovers of music, whatever they might think of the churches, would be attracted. Furthermore, as a merely civic and business proposition, it could be made of great material benefit to the city, for thousands of visitors from a distance would attend as now they go to the Passion Play. There has been nothing like it in this country, and if it were successful in the beginning its future would be assured, and what its possibilities might be can scarcely be guessed at.

I am presenting here the merest outline; the details are so many that years would be required to develop them and exhaust the new things which could be presented. Isn't it worth while for the church people to consider? Isn't it worth while for the whole people of the city to investigate as an attraction of more permanent value than any exposition so far suggested? W. J. LAMPTON.

THE OHIO CONVENTION.

A Republican Thinks Its Candidate Deserves Defeat.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a born "Buckeye," I was interested in your remarks on "Staying the Flood," as applied to Ohio, and in the asseverations of "Insurgent" as to the strength of Republican disaffection. I think I can very readily understand why and wherein thousands of Ohio Republicans may be infinitely disgusted, as they gaze upon a State machine and convention engineered by Charles W. Dick at one end and by George B. Cox at the other—Cox, who was scored and scarred by the very man whom the convention so fulsomely praised!

That convention must have been a choice array of "representatives of the people." The members cheered Foraker's name twice as long as any other. When it is considered that the reason he was knocked flat in his last attempt to reach the Senate was the revelation of his activity in trying to buy a chain of Ohio newspapers for the Standard Oil Company, his present high value as a political asset in Ohio can well be estimated.

Candidate Harding has many merits; but, all in all, the candidate of such a convention deserves defeat, and Gov. Harmon deserves success. That is the settled opinion, I fully believe, of many a Republican besides myself.

Essex County "Insurgents."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice in a letter from a correspondent a statement that there are indications of Republican insurgency, "even in Essex County, N. Y." Having had an experience of about a dozen years as a resident of that hide-bound, rock-ribbed stronghold of Republican orthodoxy and standpatism, and being somewhat familiar with its rather tortuous politics, I beg to assert that if any progressive political ideas have invaded that delectable region, ("where every prospect pleases," &c.,) then no part of the country need despair. I could write what I am sure would be an interesting article, based upon my observation of Essex County politics, which, it is needless to say, is of but one complexion, the Democratic Party in that county being a quite negligible quantity. Perhaps I will do it some day. C. E. VREDENBURGH.

President's Western Trip.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With great satisfaction the friends of the President read in the morning paper of the abandonment or cancellation of his proposed trip to the West. It is therefore with decidedly mixed feelings they will read in the evening papers that the cancellation was with a string attached, and indications point to a cancellation of promises, not deeds.

Surely, President Taft must have some friend near whose advice he heeds, who will tell him that the course proposed will have a bad effect politically and is derogatory to the position he occupies. However earnestly the President may feel he must allow others to express for him.

Founder of Guardian Society.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has been called to the article appearing in last Sunday's TIMES in regard to the laying of the cornerstone for the new Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society's building. I was much interested in this article, but feel that a serious omission was made by your failure to make any mention of the founders of the society, Judge Joachimson and his wife Priscilla, who conceived the institution, obtained the charter, and for years solicited all the funds for its support, the present membership being instituted some time after Mrs. Joachimson's death.

Woman in the News.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a single newspaper I read to-day: "Girl Attacks Passengers," "Woman Horsewhips a Man," "Woman Advocates Thrashing for Men," "Woman Pummels a Man," "Girl Dogwhips a Youth," "Woman Advocates Horsewhipping for Men." This sort of thing makes me wonder whether the forbearance of American men has any limit. You do not hear of such things in Europe. They occur only in America, where women have a larger liberty and better treatment than in any country in the world. A. D. N.

PASTOR WANTS MORE MONEY.

Dr. Yule Resigns, Telling Elmhurst Congregation $1,200 Is Not Enough.

Unable to support and educate his family on a salary of $1,200 a year, the Rev. David Yule of the Elmhurst Presbyterian Church resigned at the services Sunday to take effect Nov. 1. Dr. Yule said that his repeated requests for an increase in salary had been ignored and that he found it impossible longer to do the work demanded by the congregation on the money he was receiving.

Dr. Yule has been pastor of the church for the last four years, and has paid a church debt of $5,000 and built and paid for a new $5,000 parsonage.

He left on his vacation yesterday, and it is thought probable that before his return his congregation may get together and offer him an inducement to reconsider his resignation.

John Stemme's Estate, $850,000.

The appraisal of the estate of John Stemme, who died on Jan. 10 last, was filed in the Surrogates' office yesterday and shows that he left a net estate of $841,355. He left his widow, Amelia Sophia Stemme, $300,000 and his residence at 41 West Eighty-eighth Street and its contents. The residue, after the payment of $80,000 to charitable and benevolent institutions, he left to his nephews and nieces.

Isaac Meinhard Left $500,000.

The appraisal of the estate of Isaac Meinhard, who died on Sept. 16, 1909, was filed in the office of the Surrogate yesterday and shows that he left personal property valued at $314,102 and a half interest in real estate at 10 Washington Place, 21-23 Waverley Place, 710 Broadway, 133-135 Greene Street, and 97-99 Bleecker Street, valued at $191,350.32, making the total estate $505,452.71.

Fighting Canadians.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial allusion to the fighting qualities of the Canadian could be made a bit stronger if you had told of their aid in helping Uncle Sam keep a flag over his land from 1861 to 1865. The records of the rebellion show that 68,000 natives of British America, now Canada, were enlisted in the Northern Army, of whom 18,885 were in New York regiments. The 14,000 of them at Gettysburg were fresh enough to keep Lee off Round Top. Without this 68,000 where would Sherman's army have come from?

I was one of that 68,000, and know what I am talking about. ROBERT FLAHERTY, Lower Price for Lamb.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Believing that you are not aware of the fact, I beg to inform you that the wholesale prices of dressed Spring lamb during the past three weeks have been about 1 cent. per pound lower than at the same time a year ago. But I have not heard, and I dare say you have not either, of a single retail butcher whose prices are lower for Spring lamb than a year ago. I notice that whenever the wholesale prices of meat advance the newspapers have promptly informed the public. When wholesale prices rise the butcher tells the editor, but when prices fall he doesn't tell the editor. He discreetly says nothing and continues to sell at the same high prices.

Chance for the Chinese Army.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A recent issue of one of our daily papers speaks of Lord Kitchener in connection with the reorganization and building up of the Chinese Army. The writer begs to inquire if there are not positions along similar lines in which the especial and peculiar talents of William Jennings Bryan and "Teddy" would have particular adaption. If the Chinese Government could be induced to offer and then persuade the two latter-named individuals to accept said positions it would be more than conferring a favor on many of us. D. C.

The Barking Dog Law.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note the item in to-day's issue "Fined for Barking Dogs. First Arrest Made Under Montclair's New Law."

Good! Now if we can only get our "official protectors" in the City of Orange out of their state of coma and do as much for us, adding talking machines to the above, we will be devoutly thankful. A VICTIM.

THE OUTCAST.

> "* * * And Satan there, > Coasting the wall of Heaven."
> —Paradise Lost.

From your own bright realm of anguish and fire—
Your kingdom of unhandled gold—
Your virgin Hell, new as the twilight dew,
Where only the thought of your crime is old,
Do you mount the hard skies through Chaos wild,
Through starless leagues of pendent gloom—
Thread the tousled lace of unordered space
To circle the marge of a dead hope's tomb?

You, the tarnished one, you, the defeated,
Thrown like a beggar from God's gate—
Thunder-shriven from the peace of Heaven,
The passion of Hope, the tenure of Fate;
Where is your pride, Oh Son of the Morning,
That you drift to the old home-skies—
That on poised wing, like a dreaming thing,
You hearken the music of Paradise?

Who knows so well the routine of Heaven—
How the shining ones idle there,
While lily-faces, in their ranked places,
Flower-like nod in slow, passionless prayer?
And the placid days fall like thistle-down
Athwart the fields of fruitless song—
That leisure inane your rebel disdain
Stung to worthy battle, splendid and strong!

You regret the meekened glories you mired
In the ruddle of dripping war?—
The impotent crown that you trampled down,
With resonant hate, on the burnished floor?—
You would wipe out the day that your spirit
Leaped its scabbard, mad to be God—
Diced the chartered good of known angelhood
To dispute with Him the governing rod?

You mind how your soldiery, wave on wave,
Beat down the ranks of serried white,
Till in His vast hands God seized the heaped lands,
And with shredded mountains strangled the fight?
And the solemn toll of the watch-tower bell—
Oh, that tender and silver cry—
Like the fading moan of an outcast lone
It trailed your fall through the cloven sky!

You, the tarnished one, you, the defeated,
Coasting afar the banished walls,
What memories start in your grief-graved heart,
As that silver cry from the watch-tower calls!
Where is your pride, Oh Son of the Morning,
That you drift to the old home-skies—
That on poised wing, like a dreaming thing,
You hearken the music of Paradise?

SAYS HE LOST LOTS BY TITLE SHUFFLING

Walsh Brings Suit to Have Harrisburg Bank Owner Made Responsible.

NAMES SEVERAL DEFENDANTS

All Were Dummies for Bailey, He Says—Foreclosure Shut Out His $800 Interest.

Michael T. Walsh of 115 West Seventieth Street, an official of the United States Safe Deposit Company, is bringing action in the Kings County Supreme Court, against Edward Bailey, President of the Harrisburg Trust Company and of the Harrisburg National Bank, and a Director in a number of corporations; Willard W. Moyer, secretary to Mr. Bailey; the New York & Flatbush Realty Company, and the Brooklyn & Trenton Real Estate Company, and other persons yet unnamed, in the purchase of two lots in the Kingsboro Park tract, Brooklyn, from the New York & Flatbush Realty Company.

Mr. Walsh alleges that the property never belonged either in law or equity to the New York & Flatbush Realty Company, but was under the control of Mr. Bailey. Affidavits embodying the allegations have been made by Mr. Walsh and his counsel, L. Holmes Jones, of the Liberty Tower, 55 Liberty Street, and John C. Langan, Vice President and General Manager of the New York & Flatbush Realty Company, is to be examined in the matter before Justice Kapper in Brooklyn on Friday.

The Kingsboro Park tract consists of portions of the old Longmire and Ryder farms, between Avenues R and S, East Twenty-seventh Street and Burnett Street, Flatbush. On May 8, 1907, Mr. Walsh purchased two lots there from the New York & Flatbush Realty Company, which, it is alleged, represented itself as able to give a clear title, for $75 down, $85 on the signing of the contract, and $16 a month till the principal and interest was paid off, with the right to give a mortgage for $800 when half the balance of the principal after the two first payments had been liquidated. The total of the purchase money was to be $2,200.

On June 27, 1908, the New York & Flatbush Realty Company notified Mr. Walsh that it had transferred the property to the Brooklyn & Trenton Real Estate Company, and that this concern would carry out the contract with him. This company, however, gave two mortgages on the tract, the fourth and the fifth, to one William L. Gorgas, Cashier of the Harrisburg National Bank, without his knowledge, says Mr. Walsh.

In September last year Mr. Walsh took this matter up on behalf of other contract holders as well as himself, and filed a lis pendens on the entire property. The result was that Edwin C. Bolton, a clerk in the Harrisburg Trust Company, brought an action for the foreclosure of the third mortgage on the property, subject to which the Brooklyn & Trenton Real Estate Company had bought it, and last February he bought the estate in.

In this way Mr. Walsh was shut out entirely after he had paid $800 on his contract, and he alleges that the New York & Flatbush Realty Company never had any right to the Kingsboro Park estate, and that Gorgas, Bolton, and Moyer were mere dummies acting to conceal the transactions of Mr. Bailey.

According to the records the history of the Kingsboro Park property is this: In December, 1905, Bertha G. McLaughlin purchased it, giving a mortgage for $52,000 on the northern half to Cornelia D. Longmire and a mortgage of $50,000 on the southern half to Elias H. Ryder. She also gave a third mortgage of $28,500 to the McLaughlin Real Estate Company. Miss McLaughlin was one of the defendants in an action brought recently by the Midwood Pa... Company, which resulted in the invalidating of a second mortgage for $202,000 and caustic comments by Justice Kelly on the business methods of Michael L. McLaughlin, Miss McLaughlin's brother.

This third mortgage for $28,500 came shortly into the possession of Edwin C. Bolton, who it is alleged, was simply the dummy for Edward Bailey, and Miss McLaughlin speedily transferred the Kingsboro Park property, burdened with the three mortgages, amounting to $130,500, to William L. Gorgas, who as the Cashier of the Harrisburg National Bank is also alleged to have been under the thumb of Bailey.

On Oct. 20, 1907, Gorgas passed the property over to the Brooklyn & Trenton Real Estate Company, a corporation with a nominal capital of $200,000, of which $73,000 was paid up. The principal shareholders in it were State Adjt. Gen. William F. Saddler, Jr., Arthur J. Tams, and Irwin C. Marshall. In taking title the company gave to Gorgas two more mortgages, the fourth and fifth, for $42,339 and $57,400, respectively.

Soon after Walsh filed a lis pendens on the property, Bolton, the holder of the third mortgage of $28,500, began action in the Kings County Court to foreclose. On Feb. 10 last the property was put up for sale, the Brooklyn & Trenton Real Estate Company and all those with contracts from it were wiped out, and Bolton bought in the tract for $28,500, the amount of the mortgage. On March 1 Bolton and his wife Louise conveyed the property to Willard W. Moyer, the secretary of Bailey.

In none of these transfers and mortgages does the New York & Flatbush Realty Company appear, but there is one transaction on record which seems to show that its connection with the property was understood by the owners of record. Not far from the lots which were sold to Walsh were two others, which had been sold to Lawrence Rittelman. They are on the portion of the tract burdened with a $52,000 mortgage to Cornelia D. Longmire, which was owned by William L. Gorgas in 1907. It appears that in July of that year Gorgas conveyed the lots to the New York & Flatbush Realty Company for the consideration of $1, and that concern conveyed them again to Rittelman for $1. At the same time credit for $400 was given to Gorgas on the $52,000 mortgage held by Cornelia D. Longmire.

In the affidavit made by Walsh it is alleged that "during all the time the said plaintiff dealt with the said corporations the aforesaid premises belonged and were under the control of the said defendant, Edward Bailey." He asserts that the third mortgage for $28,500 was fraudulent and was executed with the object of foreclosing all his rights to his lots and that the sale, whereby the Kingsboro Park property passed from the Brooklyn & Trenton Realty Company to Bolton, was also fraudulent.

He therefore asks that Bailey be declared the owner of the property and that his contract be held to have been made on behalf of Bailey. Moreover, he demands that he be placed in possession of his two lots, after he has paid the $1,382.67, the balance of the agreed price still due.

INSLEY NEW BUILDING HEAD.

President McAneny Appoints His Secretary to the Place Walker Leaves.

Borough President McAneny of Manhattan yesterday appointed Robert B. Insley, who has been his secretary since the first of the year, Superintendent of Buildings and Offices of the borough at a salary of $5,000 a year. This is the place to which Mr. McAneny reinstated William H. Walker last week on the promise that he would resign immediately.

Walker was appointed by President Cantor and removed by President Ahearn. Since then he has won a long fight for reinstatement and back pay in the courts. The Controller has withheld all payments of the salary of the office during the litigation, and this amounts to some $9,000.

Mr. Insley has been in charge of the bureau for several weeks. He will be succeeded by Julian B. Beaty, a lawyer, at present associated with Job E. Hedges. He is a native of South Carolina, a graduate of Princeton University, and was private secretary to Grover Cleveland for the four years previous to his death. In his junior and senior years in college he was secretary to President Woodrow Wilson.

MOSTLY LOW BIDS FOR HUBER'S RELICS

AN ACTOR TO THE RESCUE

James O'Neill Bids Old-Time Theatre Programmes Up to $23—Dr. Cook's Pole Story Bid In for 15 Cents.

The lure of cuttlefish, autographs, Siamese twins, and sea serpents, for the pennies and dimes of out-of-town visitors being a full decade past its palmiest days, Huber's Fourteenth Street Museum passed out of existence over the auctioneer's block in an all-day bargain sale yesterday.

Two notable collections—one of theatrical programmes and one of Indian relics—passed into the hands of men who will cherish them tenderly. The rest of the "natural, historical, Oriental, antique curiosities, mirrors, electrical fixtures," &c., went into the hands of plain dealers, who hope to realize more for them at subsequent sales than did the veteran founder of Huber's at the end of his long career.

James O'Neill, "the Count of Monte Cristo," was there, and he was an enthusiastic bidder for programmes of the Old Bowery, Park National, and Winter Garden Theatres.

"We have here," shouted the auctioneer mounting a box on the museum's second floor, with a stuffed whale in front of him and two stuffed alligators and a dog directly overhead, "We have here some rare theatrical programmes. They were sent in to Mr. Huber by a collector fifteen years ago, and he has never taken them out or their original package. They have never been on exhibition. Here you have a sample." And he unfolded a browned and weather-stained sheet from which the name Booth stood out in conspicuous black type.

"Now, what am I bid for these relics?"

"Ten cents!" shouted one of the dealers. John L. Sullivan's portrait and a newspaper account of his battle with Jake Kilrain had just gone at a similar figure.

"Outrageous! Ten dollars!" piped up an indignant voice in the rear of the crowd of several hundred people. And the veteran actor began to crowd his way to the front.

"Fifteen dollars!" he cried again as he came up close under the auction block, and then "Twenty dollars!"

Some one was stirred into action, and called out "Twenty-one."

"Twenty-three," said Mr. O'Neill promptly, and the packages he considered so precious were handed over to him.

"They are a famous collection," he said, "and very complete for the period between 1837 and 1845. There are bills among them of performances by Laura Keene, Edwin Booth, Mr. Sothern, Lawrence Barrett, Henry Irving, Edwin Forrest, Joseph Jefferson, Sarah Bernhardt, and many others. I'd have bid a great deal higher to get them; it would have been criminal to let them fall into the hands of the vultures to be hawked about with the mummies and the Chinese door knobs."

The other bit of bidding which took prices out of the 10-20-30 class in which saloonmen haggled for possible trade getters to perch behind their bars, was in a sale of four cases of Indian curios.

A full-blooded Sioux Indian, a graduate of Carlisle, was on hand to bid them in. But so was a dealer named Autley, who had orders to obtain them for a private collector.

"There's stuff there that's almost priceless," said the tamed and civilized Indian after his successful rival had departed. It has no duplicates, and none can ever be made. Thirty-odd years ago a collector named Hank Clifford came among the Sioux tribes. I collected this material for him, and after exhibiting it for ten years he sold it to Huber's for $400. That was twenty-three years ago, and it has been here in the cases ever since. I have come to New York once or twice in the meantime and have always called to look it over. When I heard of the auction I hoped to get some of it back."

The dealer, Autley, would not tell whom he represented. The curios went at from $10 to $50 an article.

With the exception of the two cases in which genuine collectors competed with each other for what they considered prizes, the auction emphasized nothing so much as that curious things have lost their interest in the rush of new diversions.

A bicycle contrivance that had vaudeville possibilities, brought $400 from a man who wanted it delivered at once at a nearby Summer resort. A picture of Dr. Cook on the front page of a newspaper surrounded by the text of his original message concerning the pole's discovery, brought 15 cents on a lone bid. Inspector Byrnes's picture in a group of twenty other "police celebrities" brought 5 cents more. The King of the Navigator Islands, surrounded by his subjects, was bid in at a dime, a case of six colored pictures of civil war battles going with it.

"I had those pictures made back in the days when it was expensive," said Mr. Huber. "They cost me $300, and there they go at a dime apiece. Oh, well, the museum business ain't what it used to be." And the veteran proprietor was visibly saddened while he spoke.

His mood of sorrow included his old-time ticket takers, who had let the crowd in without demanding their usual dimes and had to stir the crocodiles to show they were alive and ruffle the old owl's feathers to show that he, too, was still capable of taking interest in things in spite of the fact that he "had been there as long as the house."

Mr. Huber got one moment of cheer out of his desolate afternoon. It was when a picture of his museum, lithographed in colors was raised above the auction block.

"Twenty cents," bid some one, and then some one else called out "Five dollars." It pleased Mr. Huber that somebody cared. Before the last call the price had mounted to $16, and it was the record of the day for that kind of material.

Here's some of the listed items and their sale prices:

Case Confederate currency	$ .70
Stone picture and frame	.50
Model of Cathedral in Milan	.20
Two cases mining stock and bonds	.30
Case of Rogues' Gallery photos	5.00
Case noted actors	2.50
Revolutionary relics	4.75
Civil war ambulance	.50
Skeleton of horse killed in battle	.50
Only mounted white buffalo in the world.	1.25
Relics from Chicago fire	3.00
Orang-outang in coffin	.40
Sea serpent in glass, twenty feet long	.50
Picture of lynching of four men	.10
Bearded lady and Tracy the outlaw	.15

When the last of the freaks had been knocked down and the auctioneer's hammer had fallen on Offering 499—consisting of two sporting pictures and American flags—Mr. Huber left the place for his home, at Jerome Avenue and 162d Street. Luchow's restaurant, which got Mr. Huber's place, paid him enough to make him indifferent to future business cares. He doesn't ever expect to have another business engagement downtown, and will live in the Bronx in retirement.

NOTARIES FACE HUGHES.

Charged with Taking Acknowledgments Without Persons Being Present

ALBANY, Aug. 1.—Seventeen notaries public were summoned before Gov. Hughes at the Executive Chamber to-day charged with taking acknowledgments without the persons being present. The North American Civic League for Immigrants, which conducted the inquiry resulting in the charges, was represented by Russell I. Hare of New York, who told the Governor he was prepared to conduct the prosecution. The notaries against whom the charges were filed were Reuben Auerbach, Isaac Bier, Herman Borsig, Jr., Aaron Finesilver, Samuel S. Freedman, Mary Kelly, Bertha Pelican, Emmanuel J. Pelican, Francis J. Spieler, Samuel Weingarten, Samuel L. Zuckerman, and Jacob Zunzer of New York County; Charles Bresloff and Frank Motl of Queens County, and William C. Jones, Julius Schlotovsky, and Solomon Sufrin of Kings County.

It was announced when the cases were called that Fine and Spieler had resigned. Freedman and Jones appeared in person, and Weingarten was represented by counsel, who was given until Thursday to file an answer.

Gov. Hughes announced that his counsel, Roger P. Clark, would be appointed as Commissioner to take testimony in the cases where the accused made a defeense. The cases of those who filed no answer, he said, would be taken under consideration.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY ON "LOVE"

She Tells an Audience and Recites "Lovers Once, but Strangers Now."

Laura Jean Libbey, who wrote "When His Love Grew Cold," "Miss Middleton's Lover," and about sixty-eight other novels with similar titles, to say nothing of an equal number of dramas, told an audience on the American Roof Garden yesterday afternoon all about love, its symptoms, and how to recognize them. Miss Libbey made her remarks from what is known in vaudeville as the "drawing room set."

A deep-red velvet curtain hung across the back of the stage and there was salso a Louis XV. screen carefully placed on one side. Miss Libbey wore a white satin lingerie gown, a hat surmounted by a tremendous display of white ostrich plumes, and two very brilliant solitaires in her ears. The orchestra played "Annie Laurie" when she walked in.

Miss Libbey explained that she had come to read a play for Mr. Morris and that the manager had said he would never let her go until she had appeared in one of his theatres. To requote Mr. Morris's words as quoted by Miss Libbey:

"You who have do so much to teach the world about love must explain what love is to my audiences."

Thereupon Miss Libbey plunged into this task, using great world truths and epigrams with equal freedom. The audience applauded when she said that "American men were the most splendid husbands in the world."

She also dwelt at length upon that delicate time in love making called the "psychological moment," and her account of bashful John and Priscilla almost made one forget Longfellow. When the audience applauded, Miss Libbey recited a "song," which she said she had composed for the occasion. The name of this songe was "Lovers Once, but Strangers Now."

Some of the more literary in the audience remembered that Miss Libbey had already used this title upon a novel.

When it was all over Miss Libbey was recalled five times.

"THE ARCADIANS" REOPENS.

Large Audience Welcomes Return of Comedy to the Knickerbocker.

The New York run of "The Arcadians," interrupted by the hot weather, was resumed last night at the Knickerbocker Theatre, where a large audience gathered to welcome the English musical comedy. The performance moved with a dash and a swing which bespoke many recent rehearsals, and it is evidently not Mr. Frohman's intention to let the piece grow "stale."

The cast was almost entirely the same as that which had appeared in the play last Spring. Miss Julia Sanderson was the Eileen, Miss Ethel Cadman the Sombra, Miss Connie Ediss was Mrs. Smith, and all these three succeeded in imparting to their characters their proper values, and all three received very warm welcomes when they first appeared. Frank Moulan, Percival Knight, and Alan Mudie played the principal men's parts.

The songs "The Girl with a Brogue," "Charming Weather," "Bring Me a Rose," and several others had to be repeated several times.

A. Hammerstein Back from Euurope.

Arthur Hammerstein, who arranged the famous opera deal between the Metropolitan Opera Company and his father, arrived yesterday from Europe on the Rotterdam. He said that his father had announced all the news there would be in his family for some time to come. With Mr. Hammerstein was Jacques Coini, who will continue as stage director of the Manhattan, which position he has held for three seasons.

HOLD A HORSE SHOW ON AN OCEAN LINER

Owners of 226 Animals Enter Their Best in Competition on the Minnewaska.

FIRST EVENT OF ITS KIND

Passengers Enjoyed the Exhibition, and Fees Charged for Admission Made Up Good Purses.

The trip of the Atlantic Transport Line steamship Minnewaska from London which ended at this port last night was enlivened by a horse show, the first of its kind ever held upon the sea. The show was the event of the voyage, for the vessel was carrying a consignment of very fine horses, including some prize winners which will be exhibited at the International Horse Show in Chicago. An entry fee was charged, and this was divided up as prize money.

There were 226 horses on the Minnewaska, including fine Percherons and French Shires. The owners of nearly every one of the animals were passengers, and the idea of holding a horse show came about when these men got together to talk horse. The idea took hold at once, and the men instructed their horsemen to get ready their entries for the ring. The affair was held between decks on Friday afternoon. A ring was made by clearing a space near the stalls. Only a short run could be made to exhibit the gait of the entries, and the judging was almost altogether on points. The judge was Edwin Hobson, an Ohio horseman.

The horse owners on board were Samuel Bell and William Bell of Wooster, Ohio; Worth Dunham of Wayne, Ill.; J. Hamilton and Mr. Hawthorne, Canada; E. Hobson, Clifton, Ill.; W. V. Pewis, Wayne, Ill.; W. E. Pritchard, Ottawa, Canada, and J. G. Truman of Bushnell, Ill.

The class entries and the winners were:

French Shires.—Stallions, 4 years and over.—First and second prizes to Mr. Truman. Stallions, 3 years old—First and second prizes to Mr. Truman. Stallions, two years old—First prize to Mr. Bell; second, Mr. Truman. Mares, four years old—First and second prizes to Mr. Truman. Mares, 3 years old—First prize to Mr. Hobson. Mares, two years old—First prize to Mr. Hobson; second, Mr. Truman.

Percherons.—Stallions, 4 years old—First prize to Mr. Dunham; second, Mr. Truman; third, Mr. Powis. Stallions, 3 years—First prize to Mr. Pritchard; second, Mr. Hamilton; third, Mr. Powis; fourth, Mr. Hawthorne; fifth, Mr. Bell. Stallions, 2 years—First prize to Mr. Bell; second, Mr. Pritchard; third, Mr. Bell. Stallions, 1 year—Mr. Pritchard. Mares, 3 years old—First, second, and third prizes to Mr. Hawthorne. Mares—First and second prizes to Mr. Hawthorne.

Belgians.—Stallions, 4 years old—First prize, Mr. Powis; 3 years, Mr. Powis; 2 years, Mr. Pritchard. Mares, 4 years—Mr. Bell. German Coach.—Stallions, 4 years—Mr. Hamilton; stallions, 3 years—Mr. Hamilton.

The proceedings were in good horseman shape, and each event was called off, and the animals paraded in the narrow space, to the enjoyment of the many passengers who witnessed the show. Though the judges' stand was a box, upon which Mr. Hobson stood to get a better view of the animals, his judging was made just as carefully as at a regular show. It had to be, for there probably was never a horse show at which so great a part of the audience was made up of those who know all about a horse. There was the keenest kind of rivalry among the owners, an dthere was one story that the origin of the show was because of talk about "my horse being as good as yours." However, it was all done with the best feeling, and every one was satisfied with the awards.

Mr. Truman has on board forty sires, among which is Shelton Pride, a winner of many blue ribbons. The animal is to be exhibited at the International Horse Show in Chicago in November. In the lot is also Victor, a prize gelding. Besides being shown at Chicago, both animals will be shown at the State fairs in Illinois and Iowa.

NAZIMOVA'S COMING SEASON.

Mme. Kalich and Sam Bernard Also Among Those in New Plays.

The plans for Mme. Nazimova's coming season were announced last night by the Shuberts. The opening production of this Russian actress will be Schnitzler's "The Fairy Tale," which will be given here for the first time in English. That will be followed by Sudermann's "Johannisfeuer," in which Mme. Nazimova will be seen for the first time.

Mme. Nazimova will also continue in "Little Eyolf" and "A Doll's House," and later in the season will produce a new comedy now being written for her by a prominent American writer. She will open her season in September and will play her New York engagement at her Thirty-ninth Street theatre.

Brandon Tynan is to continue as the leading man of her company until Christmas, when he will be starred by the Shuberts in a new drama.

It was also announced last night that Mme. Kalich would open her season with the production of an American drama, "The Woman of To-day," by Samuel Shipman. The German and Russian pieces which are to be included in her repertoire will be presented later.

A third Shubert star, Sam Bernard, began rehearsals yesterday for his new piece. The book has been written by Mark Swan and Edgar Smith, the lyrics by Swan and Edward Madden, and the music by Jerome and Hirsch. The piece has not yet been named. The piece will be staged by Sydney Ellison, who arrived from England on Sunday. He staged the original London productions of "Florodora" and "Veronique."

DEMARON INQUEST PUT OFF.

Non-Appearance of Witnesses Delays It Until Friday.

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Coroner's inquest on the death of Clemente Demaron, who was killed by Louis Victor Seydel, a New York broker, at West Park on Sunday, July 24, was adjourned this afternoon until Friday afternoon, owing to the non-appearance of several witnesses whose presence had been expected. Mrs. Seydel, under subpoena, came to Kingston, but her testimony will not be taken until Friday.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Charles Frohman has arranged to present "The Echo," which Charles Dillingham will produce at the Globe Theatre in London next Spring.

"The Rollicking Girls" will be presented at the Columbia Theatre on Aug. 29.

Adolf Phillip will reopen his Wintergarten in Eighty-sixth Street on Sept. 1 with a new musical play, "Therese sei nicht boese," by Paul Herve, with music by Jean Briquet. The German version of the play is by Phillip himself. Louise Barthels has been engaged for the title role. Whly Frey and Adolf Phillip will be in the cast.

Charles Frohman announces that he will produce Winchell Smith's farcical romance, "Love Among the Lions," at the Lyceum Theatre, New London, next Friday and Saturday nights. The first New York performance will be at the Garrick Theatre next Monday night.

BILLS AT THE THEATRES.

At the Academy of Music last night the first stock production in this city of William Vaughan Moody's much-discussed play, "The Great Divide," was given by Corse Payton's company. The big stage provides adequate room for pictorial effect, and the drama was received with much applause. Claude Payton appears as Stephen Ghent, the role originally acted by Henry Miller, while Minna Phillips is seen as Ruth Jordan, the part which Margaret Anglin had in the original production.

The farce "Seven Days" continues at the Astor its long, uninterrupted run, while Louis Mann in another farce, "The Cheater," is still the attraction at the Lyric. Musical comedy holdovers that continue to be popular are "Girlies" at the New Amsterdam, "Up and Down Broadway" at the Casino, "The Follies of 1910" on the New York Roof, and "The Summer Widowers" at the Broadway.

At Hammerstein's Roof Garden atop of the Victoria Theatre Adele Ritchie appears in a new repertoire of songs. Sam Langford, who challenges Jack Johnson, is seen in a three-round bout. The bill also includes "A Night in the Slums of Eight Geisha Girls, Frank Morrell, Belleiaire Brothers, ten Russian dancers, Harry Breen, Martinetti and Sylvester, Luciano Lucca, and Manning and Ford.

VAUDEVILLE.

At the Fifth Avenue Theatre this week the bill includes Mme. Roeckey's educated monkeys in "A Night in a Monkey Music Hall." Elfie Fay returns to vaudeville with some new songs, Alf Grant and Ethel Hoag present "Something Doing All the Time," Spencer Kelly and Marion Wilder, the Four Melody Monarchs, Angela Dolores, Sergt. Brennan, and Van Hoven are also in the bill.

Laura Jean Libbey is at the American Roof Garden this week. She recites several poems and gives what is called a "Love Monologue." The Kilties, a Canadian Scotch band; Ethel Vevey, the English music hall singer; Lucy Weston, the three Yoscarys, Post and Russell, Eldridge, Brobst, and Henderson and Thomas are in the bill.

The Behman Show entered into its fourth week at the Columbia Theatre yesterday afternoon. Several new musical numbers are introduced, and there is a complete change in the vaudeville acts.

The Eden Musee this week shows a group of Secret Service officers breaking into a counterfeiters' den on the east side.

"The Rolfonians," headed by B. A. Rolfe, top the bill this week at the Brighton Beach Music Hall. Odiva, the Samoan Diving Venus, remains. Other features are Julius Tannen, monologist; the Avon Comedy Four, Barry and Halford, La Dent, an English juggler, and Marie Fenton.

At the New Brighton Theatre Mlle. Dazie appears in "L'Amour du Artiste," and Morton and Moore remain another week. Laura Burt and Henry Stanford present "The Order of the Bath." Among other entertainers are Badini and Arthur, George Thatcher, Max Witt's Girls from Melody Lane, the three Macagnos, and the four Koenerz brothers.

Manager Garnier to Quit Delmonico's.

Eugene Garnier, general manager of Delmonico's restaurant for the last twenty-three years and who has been connected with that establishment for more than thirty-six years, is to retire the first of next month. Mr. Garnier has a son who is a clerk in the restaurant. Mr. Garnier came to this country from France and is a naturalized American. His successor has not yet been chosen.

PENNSYLVANIA OPENS ITS NEW TERMINAL

Official Ceremony Includes Unveiling of Statue of Alexander J. Cassatt.

COMPANY OFFICERS PRESENT

First Trains to be Operated Through East River Tunnels on Sept. 8.

The Pennsylvania Railroad station was declared officially opened yesterday afternoon by President James McCrea, who accepted from the Memorial Committee of the Board of Directors the statue of the late President Alexander Johnston Cassatt. The statue was unveiled following the presentation by Thomas De Witt Cuyler, Chairman of the Memorial Committee.

Only the railroad men took part in the ceremony, which included the Board of Directors, Vice Presidents, and terminal officials, who were the guests of President McCrea in the special train on the run from Philadelphia. It was the first trip for some of the Directors through the North River tunnel to the new terminal.

"We are gathered here to-day," said Mr. Cuyler, "to take part in an event which marks one of the most important epochs in the history of the Pennsylvania Railroad. With the unveiling of the statue before which we stand it is proposed, Sir, that you should officially declare the station opened for the purposes for which it was built.

"It has been at once the privilege and duty of the Directors to have here placed this portrait of Mr. Cassatt, and how well the artist has done his work all will admit.

"We ask you, as the head of this great corporation, to take this statue into your keeping and to unveil it to the public eye, so that all men may know, as the inscription so aptly tells us, 'whose foresight, courage, and ability achieved the extension of the Pennsylvania Railroad system into New York City.'"

"On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company I accept this noble statue of Mr. Cassatt," said President McCrea. "It is fitting and proper that its unveiling should be coincident with the official opening of the great terminal which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has, prompted by his foresight and courage, builded for itself in this, America's greatest city.

"As the years roll around the greater will be the tribute paid to the genius of Mr. Cassatt, and it is the source of the greatest pleasure to those of us who had the privilege of knowing him to feel that there has been erected to his memory in so fitting a place a statue that will so truly express to those who follow the manner of man he was.

"As the fitting conclusion of these ceremonies, I now declare this station officially opened."

Among the 119 Pennsylvania Railroad officials in the party were Charles E. Fugh, First Vice President; Samuel Rea, Second Vice President; John B. Thayer, Third Vice President; Henry Tatnall, Fourth Vice President; W. W. Atterbury, Fifth Vice President, and N. P. Shortridge, Clement A. Griscom, W. H. Barnes, George Wood, C. Stuart Patterson, Effingham B. Morris, T. De Witt Cuyler, Lincoln Godfrey, Rudulph Ellis, H. C. Frick, C. E. Ingersoll, and Percival Roberts, Jr., Directors.

Mrs. A. J. Cassatt and members of the immediate family were also there.

As has already been announced, it is now planned to operate trains in the East River tube on regular schedule, beginning Sept. 8.

FATHER McNAMARA ILL.

Brooklyn Priest in St. Joseph's Sanitarium, Near Monticello.

The Right Rev. Patrick J. McNamara, senior Vicar General of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn and Long Island and rector of St. Joseph's Church, Pacific Street, near Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn, is dangerously ill at St. Joseph's Sanitarium, at St. Joseph's, near Monticello, N. Y. Bishop McDonnell, the head of the diocese, and Mgr. Joseph McNamee, a life-long friend of Father McNamara, are now at St. Joseph's.

Mgr. McNamara has been ill since early in June. He is suffering from acute indigestion. He went to the sanitarium on July 23. Mgr. McNamara is one of the best-known priests in the Long Island diocese. He has lived in Brooklyn since he was a boy. He is 66 years old and has been in the priesthood for forty years.

OLD FRIENDS HONOR CARLISLE

Officials Under President Cleveland to Attend Funeral Services To-day.

An informal meeting of the Association of Former Office Holders Under the Cleveland Administration was held in the parlors of the Hoffman House last evening to arrange for a delegation to attend the funeral services of John G. Carlisle, former Secretary of the Treasury, in Washington to-morrow afternoon.

Messages were received from several of the members who were unable to be present. One was from Judson Harmon, Attorney General under Mr. Cleveland, as follows:

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 1.

David Robinson, Secretary:

Mr. Carlisle was distinguished for intellect of a high order and a spirit always fair and just. I heard Mr. Cleveland say that Carlisle could not think crooked if he tried. I heard Ben Butterworth say to Tom Reed that while Carlisle was Speaker he was the fairest the House ever had, and Reed agreed. JUDSON HARMON.

Another telegram was from George B. Cortelyou, who referred to Mr. Carlisle as "of incorruptible honesty, unswerving devotion in the pursuit of this ends of Government which he believed to be for the common good."

The meeting selected as delegates to represent the organization David Robinson, the Secretary of the meeting, who was Commissioner of Immigration at Savannah, Ga., during Mr. Cleveland's Administration, and William Edward Curtis, who was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Carlisle.

Daniel E. Conklin.

CARLSBAD, Aug. 1.—Daniel E. Conklin, a retired merchant of Baltimore, died here this morning.

Mr. Conklin was widely known in Baltimore, where he had figured in many business, civil, and political events. For a number of years he was a member of the firm of Lyon, Conklin & Co., but some time ago retired from active business, retaining, however, his Directorship of several banks, among them the National Bank and the Continental Trust Company. Up to the time of his withdrawal he had been a large importer of tin plate and a manufacturer of hardware.

CHESAPEAKE WEAK FEATURE

Markets In Check by Uncertainty of To-day's Cotton Report—London Holiday Postpones Gold Engagements.

Perhaps because of the uncertainty which prevails concerning the showing to be made to-day by the Government's report on the condition of cotton as of July 25 heaviness was again the rule on the stock market. In speculative circles the two days of declining prices which followed the sharp upturn from Tuesday's depressed levels had brought the conviction that a rally was in order, and the failure of the expected recovery to materialize probably induced a fair amount of short selling, which was further encouraged by a sprinkling of liquidation. The volume of business was very light. There were one or two features of genuine weakness in the list of active stocks, including Chesapeake & Ohio, Rock Island common, and Missouri, Kansas & Texas common, some of the selling of the first-named stock being based, according to gossip on the floor of the Stock Exchange, upon the theory, proved sound in a number of other properties, that too much optimism had been displayed in the matter of dividend payments. In Chesapeake & Ohio the net loss of the day ran above 3 points, but it was much smaller in the other stocks named, and in general final quotations reflected little more than fractional recessions.

Outside of the apprehensions regarding cotton, which should be settled by the Government's figures, improvement in sentiment regarding the crops as a whole was effected by the prevalence of excellent weather conditions through the agricultural regions over Sunday. Cooler weather is promised for the corn States, but rainfall is still needed in many parts of Kansas and Oklahoma for corn, and in Texas for cotton. A serious deterioration in the corn crop of Oklahoma seems to be inevitable if the figures of the State Commissioner of Agriculture, made public yesterday, are fully confirmed, for the condition of the crop is put at 64.1, as against 85.4 last month and 64.3 at this time a year ago. The acreage, however, is much larger this year, and good rains would doubtless save much of the corn which now seems lost. On the Cotton Exchange higher prices for practically all options indicated the uneasiness felt in the trade over to-day's showing. General news of interest to the market was meagre, but the June and six months' earning statements of the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems were read with care, owing to the disclosure of the very large inroads made upon profits by increased expenses. In the case of New York Central, gross for the six months increased $4,397,000, while net operating revenues for the period actually decreased $842,000. With the Pennsylvania the corresponding figures for June were a gain of $1,176,000 in gross and a net decrease of $493,000.

Owing to the holiday in London our bankers, who were expected to take the major portion of the $4,500,000 gold reaching the English capital from South Africa during the day, were apparently unable to report their negotiations as having been concluded. With the resumption of business there to-day, however, engagements will probably be announced, as they have been in connection with each Monday's gold consignment for several weeks past. The foreign exchange market displayed firmness for the first time in a number of days, but quotations were up only some 15 points at yesterday's close. On routine transactions with the Sub-Treasury, representing the Government, the local banks reported a small gain on balance.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—A sudden selling movement in Lehigh Valley, which cost that stock a couple of points in the first hour's trading, was about the only feature of an otherwise quiet session on the local Exchange. About 2,500 shares of Valley were offered on the drop from 72½, last week's close, to 70. Later it recovered a substantial portion of this loss, and in the afternoon was ruling above the opening quotation, until the general closing reaction carried it down again.

TREASURY REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

Over $4,000,000 Reduction in Excess of Disbursements Over Receipts Over July, 1909.

FALLING OFF IN CUSTOMS

But Rush to Get In Before New Tariff Made July, 1909, Figures Abnormal —Currency Associations Progress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A grand total cash in the Treasury of $1,733,057,808, a total balance in the general fund of $92,356,224, a working balance in the Treasury offices of $30,502,824, and a decrease of $508,136 in the public debt during July is the way the monthly Treasury statements show the situation to-day.

The total ordinary receipts for July were $58,817,953, and the disbursements $68,411,709, exclusive of disbursements of $4,441,558 for the Panaman Canal and of $1,726,882 received on account of the public debt and of disbursements of $2,230,019 on that account. The excess of all disbursements over all receipts is $14,538,451, against an excess of $18,637,874 in all disbursements over all receipts in July, 1909.

The total ordinary receipts, which mean those outside of the canal and the public debt, were approximately $5,000,000 greater than in July of last year, while the ordinary disbursements were approximately $1,100,000 more than the same comparative date. The latter increase is partially accounted for by the $1,300,000 more paid on the census the last month than in the previous July. The corporation tax, aggregating $6,117,256 this month, helped to account for the increased receipts.

The customs receipts of $25,051,511 mark a falling off of virtually $3,600,000 from July of last year, attributable in part at least to the rush of importations just prior to the passage of the tariff bill last Summer. The internal revenue, outside of the corporation tax, amounted this month to $23,464,469, which is approximately $2,256,000 more than during the previous July, 1909. The miscellaneous receipts also showed a slight increase. The disbursements run about even between the two dates except that the civil and miscellaneous payments, which include the large census outgo, overran the same account for July, 1909, by more than $4,300,000.

There are now in existence 7,182 national banks, with an authorized capital of $1,003,717,135. These include nineteen, with a capital of $885,000, authorized during July to begin business, of which eleven had individual capital of less than $50,000, and the others more than that amount. Twenty-one applications were received during the month. Altogether there have been 9,822 national banks so far organized, of which 2,640 have discontinued business.

The total amount of national bank circulation outstanding is $712,029,828, of which $684,468,093 is secured by bonds and $27,561,735 is covered by lawful money of a like amount deposited with the United States Treasurer on account of liquidating and insolvent national banks and associations which have reduced their circulation.

Out of $36,000,000 of the $2,50 gold pieces outstanding, almost $2,000,000 worth are in the Treasury vaults, and the minting of these coins has been ordered discontinued for the present fiscal year, because they are in little demand.

The movement for the formation of emergency currency associations to enable the banks to issue aditional currency in financial crises, a precautionary measure adopted by Secretary MacVeagh at what he regarded as an opportune time of financial calm, continues. Inquiries as to what steps are necessary along this line were received at the Treasury to-day from banking interests in Cincinnati, Columbus, New Orleans, Decatur, Ill., and New Albany, Ind., making nineteen which so far have taken steps in this direction. The by-laws of the associations formed in Washington, New York, and Philadelphia have already been approved, though Philadelphia has yet to file its certificate with the Treasury, and the by-laws submitted by the proposed association at Atlanta have virtually been approved.

Equitable a Missouri Pacific Trustee.

The Guaranty Trust Company announced yesterday its resignation, to take effect Sept. 7, of the Trusteeship under the Kansas & Colorado Pacific mortgage covering part of the Missouri Pacific system. The Equitable Trust Company will act as the new Trustee of this mortgage. The reason for this change is that the Guaranty Trust Company has become the Trustee of the Missouri Pacific first and refunding mortgage, and does not wish to continue to act as Trustee of both mortgages.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News from Washington to-day of the Government's estimate of the condition of the cotton crop as of July 25, is awaited with more anxiety than probably ever before attended the transmission of the monthly report. Private advices of what has occurred in the cotton belt since the report of the field conditions on June 25 are unanimous in showing more or less serious damage not only in the Eastern section, where too much rain has been a deterring influence on cultivation, but in the more important fields of Texas and Oklahoma, where the weather has been too hot. After last year's famine crop of 10,350,000 bales, consumers who have to a larger extent than ever before been forced to shut down on account of prohibitive prices, hoped for salvation in the shape of a crop which would equal, if not exceed, the 13,850,000-bale crop of 1908. An increase of about 1,000,000 acres in the planting gave hopes early in the season of some such plentiful harvest, or at least, seemed to assure enough cotton to carry the spinners comfortably through another year, even if not enough to build up a world's surplus. Fickle weather has pursued the cotton planter right through the season up to date, and the open question in the trade is how much the damage since last month will have reduced the estimate of condition from the June percentage of 80.7. The guesses run from 72.9, the National Ginners' Association figure, or lower, up to about 76. Few venture to hope for anything above the latter level. The ten-year average is approximately 80 per cent. for July 25. Last year's figure of 71.9 at this date was the lowest in fifteen years. With a condition of 76 there is hope for a 12,000,000-bale crop, or better. At the National Ginners' figures cotton could not do much better than 11,000,000 bales.

Regular Pennsylvania Dividend.

The declaration yesterday by the Pennsylvania Railroad of the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. was scarcely made a matter of comment in Wall Street for the reason that no bear had been hardy enough to look for a reduction in this dividend, and the hopes entertained for a while in certain quarters that the Pennsylvania would increase its rate to 7 per cent. were abandoned some time ago. The discussion of dividend rates and of possible reductions continue, however, to be much in the mind of Wall Street. Thus, more than usual interest is being taken in the dividend meetings of Directors, as these come along even when there is no serious thought that a reduction in rate is likely. Recalling the recent National Lead dividend, the Street finds itself in a frame of mind in which it does not feel altogether safe from surprise, and hence these meetings are being watched with more than passing interest.

Big Gold Production.

An unusually large production of gold at the Rand is indicated in the estimate of the production during July, which reached 640,000 ounces, compared with 634,170 ounces in May, the previous best month this year, and with 620,794 ounces in July last year. In December, 1908, the output was 660,643 ounces, but this past month's outturn was the largest reported since the close of 1908. Since the beginning of this year the tendency has been pretty steadily toward enlarged production of gold, which has risen from 601,000 ounces in January to 640,000 ounces in July.

Business Ventures Appear Less.

New business enterprises incorporated during July were not only more than seasonably less in total capitalization than those incorporated in the previous month, but, taking the country as a whole, represented little more than half the capital involved in the incorporations for July, 1909. New business ventures of moment have been scarce as is natural in a season of business uncertainty. The announcement of the organization of a $30,000,000 "Federal Biscuit Company," to combine independent biscuit and cracker interests, was an exception that attracted notice.

Drought Damage Estimated.

The first official estimate of the damage done to Southwestern grains by the hot wave and drought which Wall Street heard last month was "shriveling" up crops in some sections, came yesterday in the Aug. 1 bulletin of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture. The damage to the growing corn was sufficient to pull the condition percentage down from 85.4, the July 1 figure, to 64.1. Last year at this time, however, the corn made an even poorer showing, the condition being 64.3. This year's acreage in corn is 11 per cent. greater than in 1909, when the crop, with a poorer showing at this season, was 70,281,972 bushels. What was lost in corn has, however, been made up in cotton. The sixty-four cotton-growing counties of the State report a condition of 86.1, a falling off of 3 since the July report, but still 4 above the Government's ten-year average figure for the State. At this time last year the average was 75.3. A bumper yield is looked for, and the hope is based not only on the high condition, but the increase of 19.1 per cent. in acreage with less than 1 per cent. abandoned.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

The wheat market was directly influenced by the receipts. The market moved a little irregularly during the morning, but there were only a few rallies, and on every advance there seemed to be wheat for sale. The greatest pressure was on September, and the carrying charges showed a widening due to the fact that fresh speculative buying is going into the distant months while the September feels the influence on the market of the actual receipts. The interior receipts for the day were 2,500,000 bushels, against 1,400,000 bushels last year, and the receipts at the seaboard and interior were nearly 2,900,000 bushels, or about 1,300,000 bushels more than a year ago. There was an increase in the visible supply of 2,293,000 bushels, showing the effect of last week's heavy movement. The receipts were comparatively heavy in the Southwest, Kansas City getting 1,152,000 bushels, while the estimated receipts at Chicago for to-morrow were 1,065 cars. The reports from the Northwest were of somewhat better yields than expected where harvest has progressed, although there is disposition to believe that the yields will be more disappointing as the harvest advances northward into North Dakota. English markets were closed, but the foreign statistics showed world's exports of 9,872,000 bushels, nearly 3,250,000 bushels in excess of last year. Private cables claiming damage as high as 30 per cent. for the French wheat crop and predicting need of large imports into France this season were received. Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red Winter, $1.07¼, nominal, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red spot, nominal, new, $1.08½, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern, Spring, $1.26½, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, new, $1.13½, and No. 1 Northern, Manitoba, $1.13¾.

Corn was quiet and showed at times some heaviness, although there was no decided pressure. There were scattered reports of rains. Oklahoma reported half an inch of rain, and the Oklahoma State report made a condition of 94, indicating a crop of 100,000,000 bushels, against about the same amount last year. The loss in condition for the month has been 21 points. The increased acreage is responsible for the expectation of a crop in bushels equaling last year. The Kentucky State report also showed some loss, although not serious. The visible supply showed a decrease of 139,000 bushels. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 73¼c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer nominal, elevator, export basis.

Oats were rather active and quite firm most of the day due to less pressure on cash markets. There was a decrease of 255,000 bushels in the visible notwithstanding heavier receipts last week. The actual receipts at the West for the day were heavy, being about double last year. Cash oats quoted: Natural white, 46½@49c, and white clipped, 48@52c.

The provision market was fairly active and lower. The live hog movement exceeded expectations, and this brought a good deal of selling on the market which rather easily carried prices down.

COTTON.

The cotton market was very firm most of the day, due, apparently, to apprehension regarding the Government report. Traders were afraid that the report would show a serious loss in condition. Last month the Government report made the condition of cotton 80.7. A year ago the condition was 71.9. A report by Miss Giles made the condition of the crop 76.4, against her report a month ago of 80.6, and a Western commission house was out with an estimate of 77.1. The weather was dry in Texas, although in Oklahoma there were fairly good showers. A report on Oklahoma and Texas by a local trade paper was quite favorable. There was, however, fear that the Government report would show a serious loss, and, acting on this, the market slowly worked up. The ten-year average condition up to last year was 80.6. If the private reports are a good indication of the Government showing the present condition will be considerably under a ten-year average and therefore indicate a yield per acre less than an average. The large acreage will partly make up for this, but only favorable conditions the balance of the season will result in a recovery of lost ground and put the crop in an average condition of promise.

New York spot cotton quiet, 5 points decline; middling uplands, 15.20; middling Gulf, 15.45.

COFFEE.

Coffee was extremely quiet at the start, with prices unchanged and the undertone rather heavy. Havre closed at noon, and left off having advanced ¾f at the start but part of the gain, and the final figures were net unchanged to ¼f advance. Hamburg was firmer, closing at a net gain of ⅛ to ¾ pfennig. Final prices here were at about best, and closing bids were 1 to 10 points net higher, with sales amounting to 20,250 bags. The Brazilian markets were firm, with Rio 50 reis higher and Santos unchanged. Weather conditions in Brazil were fine in the three districts and cloudy in two, with the minimum temperature 47 degrees. Warehouse deliveries of Brazilian coffee at United States ports last week were 63,777 bags, against 66,682 bags the previous week, and 45,804 bags last year. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States is 3,343,023 bags, compared with 3,571,392 bags last year and 3,325,021 bags two years ago. SUIT TO FORCE A BOND SALE.

Property of the Investment Securities Company Attached.

An attachment against property of the Securities Investment Company in possession of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the Standard Trust Company has been granted by Justice Bischoff in an action brought by the Standard Trust Company as trustee in behalf of bondholders of the Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Rapid Transit Company.

The Securities Investment Company, whose offices are in Pittsburg, was organized by interests identified with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and was designed to be a holding company for the securities of traction enterprises equipped by that company. The suit in which the attachment proceedings are a preliminary grows out of an agreement made by the Securities Investment Company on April 1, 1907, with the Transit Finance Company and the Standard Trust Company.

The Transit Finance Company delivered to the Securities Company 10,000 shares of the common stock of the Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Company, and released the Securities Company from certain claims against it and against the Lackawanna & Wyoming Company, receiving in return $300,000 of the 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the Lackawanna & Wyoming Company. These bonds were returned to the Securities Company in order that it might control their sale, the Securities Company agreeing either to find a purchaser at par or to purchase them itself before April 1, 1910.

It is to enforce this agreement to purchase or effect the sale of the bonds at par that the suit has been brought.

ROADS FEEL WAGE INCREASES

Pennsylvania and Central Have Gross Gains Largely Cut Down.

The effect on railway earnings of increased wages and other additions to operating charges was reflected in the statements of earnings for the month of June and for the first half of the calendar year issued yesterday by the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Despite large increases in gross earnings in June, the net earnings of both systems showed large decreases compared with the same month last year.

The New York Central earned $698,183 more gross, but showed $605,447 less net earnings, and the Pennsylvania with an increase of $1,176,400 in gross earnings in June ended the month with $493,200 less net earnings than it showed in June, 1909. The Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg did a little better, but even in their case all that was saved for net out of $1,420,200 increase in gross earnings was $12,000.

The Pennsylvania for the six months from Jan. 1 to June 30 earned $10,281,000 more gross than in the corresponding period last year, and increased its expenses by $7,938,700, resulting in an increase of $2,342,300 in net. The New York Central, on the other hand, increased its expenses by a larger sum than the increase in its gross earnings, so that while it handled $4,307,028 more business than in the first six months of 1909 it cost $5,239,269 more to do it, and the net earnings instead of an increase showed a decrease of $842,241.

CROPS GOOD, SAYS YOAKUM.

After a Southwestern Trip He Predicts They'll Exceed Last Year's.

B. F. Yoakum, on his return yesterday from a short Western trip, gave it as his belief that the crop yields this year, despite damage in some quarters, would be above those of last year. Describing the crop conditions in several Southwestern States, Mr. Yoakum said:

"Anxiety over crop reports from the Southwestern States has greatly subsided on account of good rains in some sections, prospects for more, and the fact that the damage was not as bad as reported. This year's Kansas wheat crop is estimated at 97,000,000 bushels, against 87,000,000 last year. The large crops of hay and oats will probably bring the total value of crops of that State up to last year's figures.

The crops in Missouri are as good as last year, and in the southwestern part of the State exceptionally fine. The oats crop is estimated at 5,000,000 bushels more than last year.

"Cotton in Arkansas and Oklahoma is in good condition, with from 15 to 20 per cent. increase in acreage. While the corn crop in Oklahoma has been damaged considerably, the wheat crop will run 25 per cent. greater than last year. That State will also yield a splendid crop of hay and oats. The cotton crop of Texas now indicates that it will exceed last year's, in addition to a good crop of rice and corn.

"All things considered, the crop conditions indicate a better yield than last year."

TRANSACTIONS IN JULY.

Transactions in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange for the month of July aggregated 14,295,325 shares, a decrease of 1,985,456 shares, as compared with the previous month, but an increase of 1,484,181, as compared with the corresponding month last year. The heaviest day's trading was on the 26th, when the sales amounted to 1,295,897 shares, and this was the only day on which the transactions reached the million-share mark, although on three days they exceeded 900,000 shares. The lightest dealings occurred on the 19th, when the sales were only 226,879 shares. For the Saturday half-holiday the maximum total was 384,867 shares on the 23d, and the minimum 134,073 shares on the 16th.

The following table gives the total transactions in stocks for July and the seven months of this year, as compared with the corresponding periods in each year back to 1880.

BLACK MATE BEATS ODDS-ON FAVORITE

Two Long Shots Finish in Front of Nimbus in Melrose Stakes at Yonkers.

Black Mate, the winner of the Melrose Selling Stakes at Yonkers yesterday, created one of the surprises of the day, though his victory was not altogether unlooked for, as he was played from a high quotation of 20 to 1 down to 12 to 1 at the close of the market. George Odom's Nimbus was considered the legitimate favorite, and he was always held at odds on, but third was the best he could accomplish, being beaten by Superstition, a 30 to 1 shot, besides Black Mate.

What was of greater racing importance than the Melrose itself yesterday was a mile and twenty yards handicap that brought together some of the best horses that are left at the track on the hill. Only six raced, but the result was the equaling of the track record for the route when C. R. Fleischmann's Apache won in 1:41 1-5. Shannon raced to the place, and T. C. McDowell's Huck finished third.

The showing of Huck was in startling contrast to his performance in the Yonkers Handicap, when he made all the pace for Dalmatian and ran a mile in 1:38 4-5, and Mr. McDowell was not at all satisfied with the manner in which his horse had been ridden by Scoville. Right after the start Scoville took Huck back, although the horse runs his best races in front. Through the backstretch and when the pace was not such as to make him a trailer, Scoville kept him on the outside, and at no time attempted to go to the leaders. He continued in the same fashion to the stretch, where Huck made up some ground to take third position, but the race was not within pounds of his previous effort, and there was ample reason for the dissatisfaction of Mr. McDowell.

Apache, the winner, went along with Shannon for companion to the head of the stretch, where he shook off the McGinnis three-year-old and won with plenty to spare by four lengths.

During the afternoon a telephonic message was received from Richard T. Wilson, Jr., President of the Saratoga Racing Association, making positive announcement that Ballot, from the stable of James R. Keene; Olambala, from his own stable, and both Fitz Herbert and Dalmatian, of S. C. Hildreth's string, would be certain starters in the Saratoga Handicap to be decided at the Springs on Thursday.

Several of the candidates had a final trial at Saratoga yesterday, and a wire was received at the track making public the principal moves. Fitz Herbert stepped this mile and a quarter in 2:08 4-5, and Dalmatian breezed the same route in 2:12. The Keene trio, Hilarious, Maskette, and Ballot, were all worked, and Maskette showed the best work when she finished out in 2:07 2-5. Ballot stepped in 2:08 2-5, and Hilarious in 2:08 1-5.

Jockey Eddie Dugan, under contract to August Belmont, will not be permitted to ride during the Saratoga racing season, which will begin Thursday. At a meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club, held in the Windsor Arcade yesterday, the action of the stewards of the Coney Island Jockey Club in suspending Dugan was approved and the suspension was continued. Dugan was suspended by the stewards for reckless riding, and the action was taken after several complaints had been made of his tactics in the saddle. The principal complaint came from James Rowe, trainer for James R. Keene, who made a charge against Dugan after the running of the Sheepshead Bay Handicap, in which the Belmont jockey was riding Sir John Johnson. The Keene starter in the race was Maskette, and Rowe's charge was based on the fact that Sir John Johnson had caused Maskette cut at the head of the stretch, and as a result King James was permitted to come through on the rail and beat the Keene filly to the finish. In addition to turning down the application of Dugan for reinstatement, the stewards revoked the license of Trainer J. P. Mehlenkamp. W. S. Vosburgh was appointed a steward to represent the Jockey Club at the Saratoga meeting.

Blue Girl Filly Wins for Whitney.

SANDOWN PARK, England, Aug. 1.—The Holiday Two-Year-Old Stakes of 400 sovereigns, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by H. P. Whitney's Blue Girl filly, Edie Ellen was second and Rupert third. Twelve horses started.

EMILY ELLEN'S STAKES.

Grand Circuit Racing at Detroit Opens with Fast Heats.

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—The opening of the Detroit Driving Club's twenty-sixth annual blue ribbon meet, which covers the second week of the Grand Circuit season, was favored with racing conditions little short of ideal. Fast time was made in all events, and the last race of the day, the 2:05 pace, brought out the two fastest heats of the year.

All races were won in straight heats, and the feature of the day, the Horseman and Spirit of the Times Futurity, for three-year-olds, proved somewhat of a disappointment in both the trotting and pacing divisions. The fields were small in both groups, only three accepting the issue in the pacing end of the stake.

Emily Ellen was the big winner of the day, taking the large end of the $11,000 Futurity for three-year-old trotters, in which Eva Bellini was the favorite. She led from start to finish in every heat, and was never in danger. The $11,000 stake was divided as follows: Emily Ellen, $7,500; Chatty Direct, $1,200; Eva Bellini, $900; Bergen and Bon Vivant, $300 each. In addition, David M. Cook of New York, nominator of the dam of Emily Ellen, received $300 and a silver cup valued at $500.

In the futurity pace Twinkling Dan was an easy winner in all three heats. The summaries:

RACING AT SARATOGA.

Canadians Rushing Horses to Springs —Verbal Betting on Races.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—With the opening of the Saratoga Racing Association's meeting only three days away, arrivals of horses at the race track have been so heavy within the last twenty-four hours that A. McL. Earlocker, the Racing Secretary, said to-night more horses would be quartered in the stables this Summer than in many years past. The Saratoga Racing Association offices here were opened to-day. Since the Grand Trunk strike has handicapped the Fort Erie meeting many requests for stable room have been coming in from Canadian owners who had not expected to come to Saratoga.

There were over 600 horses at the track to-night, and more are arriving as fast as the express companies can haul them. The box reservations are much greater than the average this year, Secretary Earlocker said. The association is counting on the Army Officers' Service Cup race, at a mile, for four-year-olds, to be run on Aug. 13, as a big feature. Nearly a dozen army officers already have their horses here in training for the event, which will be worth $300 and a two-hundred-and-fifty-dollar gold cup to the winner.

Saratoga County has a new Sheriff this year, but his orders are not different from those of other years since the anti-betting law was enacted. Verbal betting, according to court decisions, will be permitted, Sheriff Washburn stated to-day.

Frank Gould's Remendade Wins.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The Prix Memoir was run at Tremblay to-day and was won by Frank J. Gould's Remendade.

SONDER CLASS YACHT RACES.

Contestants in Trial Contest Must File This Year's Certificate.

There seems to be some misunderstanding among the owners of the sonder class boats who intend to enter their racers in the coming German-American trials, that are scheduled to start on Buzzards Bay Saturday, Sept. 3. One or two yacht owners who contemplate taking part in the German-American trials have asked the committee regarding its attitude toward measurements of yachts.

Since receiving these letters the committee of the Eastern Yacht Club held a meeting, when it was decided that no departure could be made from the established custom, namely, that every boat admitted to the trial races must file with Henry Howard, Secretary, at 33 Broad Street, Boston, a certificate of measurement signed by the measurer of the Eastern Yacht Club, showing that the boat conforms to the restrictions of the sonder class. The measurement and weight of the boats must be determined this season. Last year's measurements will not be accepted.

In order to avoid complications later in the season, the committee suggests that every owner of a sonder boat who intends entering these trials should communicate at once with the measurer of the Eastern Yacht Club and request him to make arrangements for promptly measuring and weighing the boats.

It is expected that the entry list for the trial races will be larger than that for the Spanish-American trials. In the latter seventeen sonder racers are entered, and it is expected that nineteen boats will take part in the later races.

The list of boats and owners who probably will enter the German-American trials is as follows: Sally VIII., C. E. Hellier, Sippican Yacht Club; Seacoon, J. L. Stackpole, Beverly Yacht Club; Helen, Dwight F. Davis, Sippican Yacht Club; Manchester III., Don Y. Pendas, New York; Bessie I. and Bessie II., George C. Thomas, Jr., Sippican Yacht Club; Wim, Francis J. Moore and William R. Sears, Cohasset Yacht Club; Juanita, Harry E. Morse, Beverly Yacht Club; Bandit, John C. Edwards, Beverly Yacht Club; Peg, Galen L. Stone, Sippican Yacht Club; Toboggan, R. W. Emmons, 2d, Beverly Yacht Club; Sally XI., Lawrence F. Percival, Corinthian Yacht Club; Skeezix, Frederick M. Hoyt, Eastern Yacht Club; Pet, and an unnamed boat, Harry Payne Whitney, New York Yacht Club; New Orleans, William Bullivant, Beverly Yacht Club; Demon, Frank B. Crowninshield, Eastern Yacht Club; Spokane III., Hugh Bancroft, Cohasset Yacht Club, and Cima, Guy Lowell, Eastern Yacht Club.

All-Around A. A. U. Championship.

The all-around championship, which will be held in the City of Chicago under the auspices of the Chicago Athletic Association, promises to be the most interesting competition that has ever been held for the blue ribbon event. The entry is the largest ever received for an all-around championship. Seventeen entries have been received; that will necessitate the track events being held in heats. The following are the entrants:

Ellery H. Clark, Boston Athletic Association; John J. Cody, Newton Young Men's Christian Association; Fred Thomson, Los Angeles, Cal.; Vic Kennard, Chicago Athletic Association; Brundage, Illinois; W. Draper, Notre Dame; L. Byrd, Illinois; R. G. Haskins, Michigan; John Gills, Vancouver, B. C.; H. W. Fitzpatrick, New Orleans, La.; B. Gish, Seattle Athletic Club; G. W. Philbrook, Cleveland Athletic Club; W. Crawley, Chicago University; E. B. Archibald, Toronto Young Men's Christian Association; John Bredemus, Princeton; A. Mensul, Chicago University, and C. F. Furey, Philadelphia, Penn.

ON THE TENNIS COURTS.

Youth must be served seemed the watchword on the lawn tennis courts of the Crescent Athletic Club as Charles M. Bull, Jr., defeated Richard H. Palmer, 9—7, 8—6, and Carleton R. Gardner defeated the veteran Stephen C. Millett, 6—2, 6—4, yesterday and thereby gained the semi-final round of the New York State championship tournament. Bull in the upper half couples on the bracket with Frederick C. Inman, while in the lower section Gardner couples with Lyle E. Mahan. The summaries:

Men's Singles.—Fifth Round—C. M. Bull, Jr., defeated R. H. Palmer, 9—7, 8—6; C. R. Gardner defeated S. C. Millett, 6—2, 6—1.

Men's Doubles.—First Round—R. D. Little and N. W. Nies defeated L. E. Mahan and H. D. Bulkley, 6—3, 7—5; Dr. W. Rosenbaum and E. S. H. Prendergast defeated A. Amend and partner by default.

Second Round—W. P. Blagden and F. F. De Rham defeated E. F. Torrey and E. M. Shepard by default; H. H. Hackett and F. B. Alexander defeated J. C. Tomlinson and E. F. Leo, 6—3, 6—4; W. A. Larned and G. L. Wrenn defeated D. D. Chaplin and C. L. Cleveland by default; O. H. Hinck and J. Z. Batten defeated Dr. W. Rosenbaum and E. S. H. Prendergast by default; F. C. Baggs and W. M. Washburn defeated E. C. Conlin and F. C. French, 6—2, 6—2; N. B. Beecher and G. A. L. Dionne defeated W. A. Noble and E. A. Blumenschein, 8—7, 6—2; C. C. Leonard and C. L. Clark defeated W. L. Pate and F. M. Doubleday by default; C. M. Bull, Jr., and H. C. Martin defeated Semp Russ and C. C. Cresson by default.

Third Round—M. E. McLoughlin and C. R. Gardner defeated W. A. Larned and G. L. Wrenn, Jr., 5—7, 6—2, 6—4; G. M. Church and E. P. Fischer defeated C. C. Cullinan and H. W. Shamberg, 6—0, 6—2.

Several of the prominent tennis players are in bad shape for the National singles championship at Newport this month. W. A. Larned is suffering from an injured leg, C. R. Clothier is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, G. F. Touchard is threatened with appendicitis, while M. E. McLoughlin, C. M. Bull, Jr., W. F. Johnson, N. W. Niles, Beals C. Wright, R. Le Roy, R. D. Little, F. B. Alexander, and K. H. Behr are decidedly below the form of years gone by.

The deciding of the New York State meeting this week and the matches at Southampton, L. I., the following week are apt to have a decisive bearing upon the National title. With Charles M. Bull, Jr., Richard H. Palmer, and Frederick C. Inman racing for the New York State honors, along with Carleton R. Gardner, it will be strange indeed if one of the number does not figure at Newport.

Lawn tennis matches in the doubles having National significance, the meeting of the champions of the South, East, West, and Pacific Coast will begin to-morrow on the turf courts of the Onwentsia Country Club, Lake Forest, Chicago, to bring out the pair of challengers for the titles held by Frederick B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett.

Five tournaments are scheduled by the committee of the Atlantic Yacht Club for the courts at Sea Gate beginning Aug. 13. The events are championship singles, handicap singles, championship doubles, handicap doubles, and handicap mixed doubles. The committee in charge of the matches includes John G. Saxe, Chairman; Clarence H. Eagle, and Fitz-John Porter.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Plea for Reduction in Duty on Chinese Rice Wine Is Denied.

A perplexing question regarding the classification under the tariff act of 1909 of so-called Chinese wine made from the distilled grain of rice was decided yesterday adversely to the importer by the Board of United States General Appraisers in a protest filed by Kwong Man Yuen, whose test case is understood to represent a large number of the handlers of this product.

Judge Waite, who writes the decision for the board, is unable to sustain the contention of the importer for a lower rate of duty. He accordingly upholds the classification imposed by the Collector. The merchandise was assessed under Paragraph 300 of the new tariff law providing for brandy or other spirits manufactured or distilled from grain or other materials, not specially provided for, $2.60 per proof gallon.

The Chinese importer set up the contention that the articles should be allowed to enter as "rice wine" under Paragraph 307, at the rates provided in that paragraph according to the amount of alcohol which the beverages might contain. The board, however, does not indorse the contention set up by the Chinese importer.

Judge Waite disposes of the importer's contention in this fashion: "Analyses of the various samples presented to the board show different percentages of alcohol, varying from about 20 per cent. to 56 per cent. of absolute alcohol, by volume. There is but one sample which contains less than 20 per cent, and four samples containing less than 24 per cent., thirty-two samples having been analyzed in all.

"No testimony was taken regarding the commercial designation of these commodities. We are satisfied, however, from the amount of alcohol contained therein and the report of the analyst, that the substances are not dutiable under Paragraph 307, as claimed by the importer. The protest is therefore overruled on all grounds and the findings of the Collector affirmed."

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Henry Oppenheimer Reported to Have Sold West End Avenue Plot of Nine Lots—West Side Flats Sold to Investors—Bronx and Suburban Deals.

The realty market was at a very low ebb yesterday and existed principally on rumors. One well-defined rumor was to the effect that Henry Oppenheimer had sold the plot of nine lots at the southeast corner of West End Avenue and Ninety-second Street.

The property has frontages of 131 feet on the avenue and 175 feet on the Street. It is restricted to the efection of private residences until 1913. Mr. Oppenheimer acquired the property in 1901, and it is one of the few remaining unimproved parcels along West End Avenue.

A prominent firm of west side builders who are said to be the buyers of the plot refused to either deny or confirm the rumor.

The rumor of a big deal on upper Broadway was also curfent, but it did not materialize.

Deal on Varick Street.

E. H. Miller and others of Elizabeth, N. J., have sold 107 Varick Street, a five-story tenement, on a lot 21 by 66, adjoining the southwest corner of Broome Street. The buyer is an investor, a client of N. F. Walsh.

Investors Buy West Side Flats.

Theodore Ortmann has sold for H. Rixmann the four-story tenement 413 West Fiftieth Street, on a lot 25 by 100, to a client for investment.

John R. and Oscar L. Foley and Moore & Wyckoff have sold for Mrs. Florence Zeraga 206 West Eightieth Street, a five-story flat, on lot 25 by 102.

Bronx Sales.

KILLED ON HIS WAY HOME.

Boy Who Stepped in Front of a Car Had Been on a Vacation.

Returning from a three week's vacation yesterday Raymond Henry, 16 years, was within a few blocks of his home at 620 East Thrty-second Street, Flatbush, when he was knocked down by a Flatbush Avenue car at Glenwood Road and Flatbush Avenue and killed almost instantly. He had alighted from a southbound car and was crossing the northbound tracks when the car which killed him bore down upon him.

It struck him, dragging him several feet before he was caught under the forward trucks and crushed. Edward Ringer, the motorman, applied the brakes, but his efforts were of no avail.

SURROGATE CITATION.

SURROGATES' COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York.—In the matter of the application for letters of administration on the goods, chattels, and credits which were of ADELAIDE LIVINGSTON, Deceased.—To the creditors of ADELAIDE LIVINGSTON, Deceased:

Whereas Elizabeth Livingston, sister and one of the heirs and next of kin of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased, has presented to the Surrogates' Court of the County of New York her petition praying, and intends to apply, for the appointment of herself and the Lawyers Title Insurance & Trust Company, as administrators of the goods, chattels, and credits which were of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased; and

Whereas, she, the said Elizabeth Livingston, has in and by her said petition further prayed, and intends to apply, that she may be so appointed administratrix of the goods, chattels, and credits of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased, and that letters of administration thereon may be issued to her and the said Lawyers Title Insurance & Trust Company without her giving a bond the penalty of which shall exceed double the amount of the claims of creditors, as provided by Section 2,664 of the Code of Civil Procedure; and

Whereas all of the heirs and next of kin of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased, have consented that she may be so appointed such administratrix, and that letters of administration may be so issued to her without giving a bond the penalty of which shall exceed double the amount of the claims of creditors, as provided in and by the said section of the said code;

You, and each of you, are hereby notified and required, under and by virtue of the said section of the said Code, and in pursuance of an order of this Court, bearing date and filed in the office of the Surrogates of the County of New York on the 14th day of July, 1910, to present any and all claims that you may have against the said estate of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased, to the Surrogates of the County of New York, at their office in the Hall of Records, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, N. Y., on or before the 22nd day of August, 1910, at and after which date the penalty of the bond to be given by the said Elizabeth Livingston upon her appointment as administratrix of the goods, chattels, and credits of the said Adelaide Livingston, deceased, will be fixed by the said Surrogates, or one of them.

FINDS MORE GRAFT; QUEENS OFFICIAL OUT

REAL ESTATE MEN HELD UP

Couldn't Get Maps of Their Land Unless They Hired a Favored Company —Wholesale Housecleaning On.

Nearly a score of resignations from important places in the Queens Borough Government were talked about yesterday, and while only one, that of Commissioner of Public Works Sullivan, was announced by Borough President Gresser, it was learned that if the others are not forthcoming in the next few days removals will follow as a result of the graft inquiry.

The Commissioner of Public Works is the next man in authority to the Borough President. Joseph Sullivan, who is a Corona saloon keeper, was appointed to the place in November, 1908, a few months after Mr. Gresser was elected by the Aldermen of the borough to succeed President Bermel. He had previously been a Cassidy man, but went over to the Gresser fold.

His resignation was accepted by the Borough President yesterday a few moments before he left for Albany to present in person to Gov. Hughes his answer to the charges preferred against him by the Citizens' Committee. At the same time Mr. Gresser announced Walter H. Bunn of Richmond Hill as Mr. Sullivan's successor. He was at one time County Clerk of Otsego County, Clerk of the Assembly, Clerk of the Democratic State Committee, and an Appraiser of the Port of New York, and is at present Secretary and Treasurer of the Colonial Deposit Company of New York.

Other officials expected to be affected by the Queens shake-up are Harry Sutphin, Assistant Commissioner of Public Works; Ira H. Le Veen, confidential Inspector to the Borough President.

Topographical Bureau—Robert R. Crowell, engineer in charge; Assistant Engineers Herman K. Endemann, John H. Weinberger, Robert T. Johnson, Albert E. Thomas, E. P. Ramsey, and Robert A. Abendroth.

Bureau of Sewers—Chief Engineer James H. Johnson, Assistant Engineers Albert Schriener, William L. Pyne, and Elmer W. Firth.

Mr. Gresser's friends declare that this is only the beginning of the housecleaning that he intends to make.

Commissioner Fosdick sent a report to Mayor Gaynor yesterday on the Queens Topographical Bureau, which is designated to draw up maps and plans for a uniform street and highway system, in which he makes many charges of mismanagement, undue delay of the work, consequent increase in the cost, and favoritism. The Commissioner also declares that the work that has been completed has been insufficiently done.

The names of the men in the list above appear frequently in the report, the methods adopted in the Metropolis Company-McLaughlin negotiations being pointed to as an example of what has been going on. John J. McLaughlin was, until a few weeks ago, Consulting Engineer of the borough. His connection and that of his brother, S. H. McLaughlin, with the Metropolis Engineering Company, a favored concern in the topographical work, is only thinly veiled. Of this the report says:

> Even when surveyors had already been engaged in the development of large estates, it was frequently found necessary to retain the McLaughlin concern. For illustration, in the Cord Meyer Forest Hills development Homer L. Bartlett was superseded by S. H. McLaughlin; in the Paris-McDougal Kissena Park tract Leonard L. C. Smith was superseded by the same concern; in the case of the Jamaica Estates Charles Leavett was forced to give way to the same interests.
>
> Our examination of the developers of property brought out the fact that while they were satisfied with the ability and experience of the engineers whom they had originally employed, they were compelled, through influences over which they had no control, to engage the McLaughlin concern. McLaughlin's fee was larger than is ordinarily paid to surveyors.
>
> McLaughlin's success in obtaining this practical monopoly of the surveying business in the Borough of Queens was due in large part to the control which he exercised over the Topographical Bureau.
>
> In December, 1905, just before leaving office, former Borough President Joseph Cassidy issued to S. H. McLaughlin, brother of John J. McLaughlin, orders for the preparation of 187 draft damage and benefit maps required in connection with local improvements and street opening proceedings. Since that time five different orders have been issued to S. H. McLaughlin for the preparation of maps.
>
> If it were possible to sum up in a single paragraph the conditions found to exist in the Topographical Bureau of the Borough of Queens it would be that the evidence convinces us that this bureau has, for the past five years, been administered primarily in the private interests of John J. McLaughlin.
>
> Since 1902 $1,281,946 has been expended by this bureau. In return for this enormous outlay about one-quarter of the territory is tentatively mapped and a much smaller portion finally mapped.
>
> I recommend that the facts included in this report be forwarded to the District Attorney for such action as may be possible in the premises. As far as the Topographical Bureau itself is concerned no permanent change can be hoped for until it has been thoroughly reorganized under new direction and with a largely new force.

Many Queens citizens were surprised yesterday when Municipal Court Justice John M. Cragen, former secretary to President Gresser, against whom four indictments arising from the investigation are pending, and who is now on $4,000 bail, appeared in the Fifth Street Court, Long Island City, and called the calendar. None of the cases on the calendar was ready, so he adjourned court.

IDEA NETS NEGRO $62,000.

Mechanic Invents Phonograph Attachment Which Edison Company Buys.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 1.—James Leach, a negro, who used to work in the Clendenning Handkerchief Mills here, has made $62,000 by inventing an improvement to the phonograph. He was considered to be an expert mechanic, and used to tell his friends that he was sure that he could improve the tone of the talking machine.

He left here for Middletown, N. Y., but continued to work at his ideas in the evening. The Edison Company heard of his efforts and invited him to come to them. There he perfected his invention and, according to the news which has reached his friends, he has received $62,000 for it.

He is now living with his parents in Charleston, S. C., his native town.

SLOW TO GET AUTO LICENSES

Only 10,000 Out of 40,000 Notified Apply Under the New Law.

Secretary of State Koenig would like to see at his automobile bureau, Seventy-fourth Street and Broadway, some 30,000 owners of cars. They are those left of 40,000 owners who should have obtained their license numbers under the new law before Aug. 1. The temporary permits granted to chauffeurs whose papers are still under investigation are not intended to apply to owners who have received notice that they are entitled to certain assigned numbers.

The police started yesterday to make trouble for some owners who failed to show the new number plates, and Secretary Koenig promises that there is plenty of trouble left and that it will be liberally disbursed unless owners become diligent to have their cars properly equipped.

A Brooklyn dry goods firm sent its delivery trucks out yesterday morning without the new numbers. It soon had trouble calls from chauffeurs in several parts of Brooklyn, and a message was sent to the Secretary of State. He issued a fifteen-day permit for the firm and notified the police that its automobiles were to be passed for that period.

That the evil of the young drivers which the new law sought to correct was a real one was indicated yesterday when figures were tabulated showing that 400 applicants for licenses are just over the age limit.

Last night the totals showed 10,000 examinations taken, with 9,600 licenses granted and 400 failures. The examinations during the day so far exhausted the waiting list that no examinations were scheduled for this morning, and the announcements for to-morrow contained a qualifying clause that they would be withdrawn unless a sufficient number applied to take them.

Jerseyites are expected in numbers to attempt to evade the law, as it overlooks the point of reciprocal relations and compels Jersey folk who wish to motor over the line to do so on a strictly cash basis.

TOOK JAIL KEYS AND FLED.

Convict Who Robbed Keeper of Metuchen Lockup Caught Here.

Erhardt Maick, a baker, 18 years old, was arrested last night at 106 East Third Street by Detectives Lemon and Sullivan and locked up at Police Headquarters on the charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Maick, who was a prisoner in jail at Metuchen, N. J., serving a sentence for burglary, relieved one of his keepers of his keys on Sunday and walked out. The Warden, Eno Fournatt, came to New York yesterday, and with the assistance of the two headquarters men found the man.

Maick was employed by Charles Folda, proprietor of a bakeshop in New Brunswick, N. J., and when he left several months ago Folda missed a gold watch and chain valued at $70 and $187 in cash. Maick was arrested, found guilty, and sentenced to jail.

On Sunday Maick was taking exercise when he noticed that one of the keepers had his keys hooked to his belt. Maick got into conversation with the keeper and got him so interested that he did not notice the prisoner remove the bunch of keys.

Maick then waited until an opportunity presented itself and made his escape.

KILLS THREE AND HIMSELF.

Discharged Fireman Beats His Wife and Child to Death.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 1.—Bert S. Durham, a discharged employe of the local Fire Department, ended a man hunt that began early to-day by shooting himself through the head after he had killed three persons, including his wife and child, and seriously wounded two others.

Durham, who had been hunted relentlessly for hours, dodged his pursuers, leaving them without a clue, boarded a car in the residence section, and rode quickly to the Plaza in the centre of the business district, where he put a bullet into his brain. He recovered consciousness later, but the Coroner says he will die. His victims were Donald F. Grant, engineer in the Fire Department, shot dead; Mrs. Durham and child, beaten to death; Peter Sampsell, Captain of hose company, dying from bullet wound, and Guy Elliott, driver in the Fire Department, who has a chance to recover.

Mrs. Durham and her child were killed while they lay asleep in their room in a downtown lodging house, the murderer using a steel bar.

LOST $100 SAVING A LIFE.

Brave Chauffeur Dropped His Wallet Rescuing Drowning Man.

It cost Francis J. Maher just $100 to save a man from drowning yesterday afternoon. Maher is a chauffeur in the employ of the Department of Docks, and was standing in front of the department office at the foot of East Twenty-fourth Street when he heard a yell "Man overboard!"

He rushed down to the river front and saw a man struggling in the water, while a hundred men on the pier stood yelling for help.

Maher jumped in and soon had the drowning man safe. When the excitement was over he slapped his hand to his hip pocket and found that a wallet with $100 had slipped into the water.

The man was Andrew Mackey, aged 61, whose home is on any stringpiece during this weather, and who rolled off while asleep.

COAT CAUSED COASTER CRASH

Switchback Collision Was Due to Its Getting Caught in a Car Wheel.

The police investigated yesterday the accident on the twin racing coaster at Clason's Point on Sunday evening, when twelve persons were injured in a rear-end collision between two of the cars. One with six passengers stopped at the highest point of the structure, and stuck there until the car behind struck it.

Arthur F. Turpin, President of the company which operates the coaster, explained that he had found a man's coat tangled in the wheels of the first car, dropped, it is supposed, by a passenger in the car ahead. They have not yet found the owner of the coat.

The police pronounced the coaster safe, and it was started again last evening.

Octogenarian a Suicide Under Train.

John Kelly, 82 years old, of 15 Grand Street, Weehawken, threw himself yesterday in front of a West Shore train at Seventeenth Street and Willow Avenue, Hoboken. Joseph Boyd, the engineer, was unable to stop the train, though it was going slowly, until the locomotive wheels had passed over Kelly.

Pet Dog's Bite Kills Her.

As the result of the bite of a pet dog five weeks ago Mrs. Julia Canton of 238 East Seventh Street died of hydrophobia yesterday in Bellevue Hospital. The first evidence of the disease came last Saturday morning.

NEW RATES STRIKE JERSEY COMMUTERS

And Mostly the Thousands Who Travel to This City Pay Them Meekly.

MONTCLAIR WOMEN AROUSED

They Protest at Higher Ten-Trip Shopping Rate, and Ridgefield Folk Boycott the Erie.

The commuting residents of far and near New Jersey lined up at their respective ticket offices yesterday, bought their August commutation tickets at from 40 cents to $1.50 more than they ever paid before, and went away on their commuting journeys little wroth. Although the increases, in most cases on a 20 per cent. basis, amounted to substantial sums, the crowds for the most part were good-natured about paying the extra cash. There were two notable exceptions.

Women protested loudly in Montclair and declared for a continued fight on the new conditions, and in Ridgefield Park protestants were busy circulating petitions asking signers to remain true to the boycott order issued some weeks ago. The Ridgefield oath of protest did not require its subscribers to keep away from their Manhattan business houses, however, as they had another way of getting to town that meant nothing worse than an awkward trip by a roundabout route coming and a long walk guaranteed to make them late for dinner on going home at night.

The Erie commuters from Ridgefield Park numbered about 600, and 400 of this number have signed the boycott. The Erie rise was from $5 a month to $6.05, while the West Shore line's rise was only 10 cents, to $4.45. The commuters signing the boycott will use the West Shore line, ferrying from Weehawken to Desbrosses Street. They cheered up when it was announced that the West Shore line would soon put on more trains and run its trains into the Pennsylvania station instead of stopping them at Weehawken. With this change they feel that they can hold out indefinitely against the Erie, and that the loss of $2,400 a month they can cause it will ultimately force it to make concessions. At Erie stations in other Bergen County towns there was no complaint.

In Montclair the problem which roused the women had to do with their pin money, it seems. Their commuting husbands have traveled on monthly tickets, while the women and children have used "family tickets" to do their shopping, good for ten rides a month. The rise on the monthly tickets was 85 cents, while on the ten-trip tickets it was 60 cents. The women think this rise entirely out of proportion. Their husbands have been furnishing them a fixed amount of pin money each month, and out of this the women bought their shopping tickets. To pay almost as much more for these accommodations as their husbands had to pay for six times as many rides was more than they could stand with good grace.

There was no organized fight against the commutation rise in Montclair, but the women are talking of trying to force the rise on their ten-ride tickets into proportion with the rise on their husbands' sixty-ride purchases. This would make the new figure $2.14 instead of $2.60 for the ten-trip tickets and $6.35 for the sixty.

About 3,500 commuters bought tickets at the new figures yesterday at Montclair. At Orange there was much bantering and agitating in the line of ticket buyers, but everybody made a purchase, and most of them seemed reconciled to a belief that the railroad had won the first round of its fight.

Bayonne commuters on the Jersey Central differed from the general rule, in that they had no raise at all to consider, while their neighbors in Newark had to pay an extra sum of 40 cents each. Why this was, nobody in either town could figure out, but the Bayonne people were not complaining about it.

From Paterson the rate was raised from $5.80 to $6.95, but there was no particular protest. The commuters were hopeful a month ago that they would be able to defeat the plans of the railroads, but when the Inter-State Commerce Commission ordered an investigation and then decided that it had no jurisdiction, they lost hope.

The new rates went into actual effect on July 20, but as the commuters had their monthly tickets until Aug. 1, they did not come into practical contact with the new figures until yesterday.

UNCONSCIOUS ON A CAR TOP.

Brakeman, Struck by a Bridge, Rides Thus for Fifteen Miles.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Martin Delaney, a brakeman on the Lackawanna Railroad, lying unconscious on his back, rode all the way from Boonton to Paterson, a distance of fifteen miles, on the top of a car before his plight was discovered late this afternoon. More dead than alive, he was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is in a serious condition, and is believed to have a fractured skull.

In a waking moment Delaney said that he had a recollection that while standing on top of the freight car he had been struck on the head by a low bridge. He fell backward grasping a support. He clung on for life, and while the train rattled he vainly shouted for help. Then he lost consciousness.

Throughout his perilous ride the brakeman was not missed, and the train was brought to a stop near the Barclay Street station, when a track hand discovered his plight. Delaney lives at Scranton, Penn.

HIGH BRIDGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—The police of this place are trying to locate the relatives of A. S Galvin, a Central Railroad brakeman, who was knocked off the top of a freight car here yesterday and killed. They have thus far been unable to get track of them. Galvin was struck by the overhead bridge west of the town. He was a new man on the Central, having previously been employed by the Lehigh Valley & Hudson Railroad.

Pleads Guilty to Selling Cocaine.

Because he had cocaine in his possession, which he was handing to a woman, John Lyons of 326 West Fortieth Street was held yesterday in $1,000 bail for trial by Magistrate Breen in West Side Court. The prisoner pleaded guilty. Lyons was arrested last week by Policeman Beadle as he passed the cocaine to Harriet Bulmer in front of 315 West Fortieth Street. Mrs. Bulmer is the divorced wife of a Brooklyn druggist.

PREYS ON DOG LOSERS.

Swindler Gets Fee for Giving Owners False Information.

A man who is making a practice of swindling people who have lost articles for which they offer a reward attempted yesterday afternoon to victimize Miss Mildred Rogers, a singer, of 168 West Forty-seventh Street. She lost a small, white, clipped poodle from her room on Friday evening. It answers to the name of Mary Louise, and has been Miss Rogers's constant traveling companion for the last two years.

She tried every known means of getting it back. She announced that she would give a liberal reward to any one who returned it, and watched the door anxiously for the bearers of good tidings.

A man called yesterday afternoon and declared the dog was in a stable in Fifty-eighth Street, not far from Seventh Avenue.

"I'm going downtown now," the visitor explained, "and as I'm a bit short of ready cash I wonder if it would be convenient for you to give me a little on account."

Miss Rogers gave him $1 and at once went to the address given. There was no stable there. A little way down the street was a dog fancier. The man there told Miss Rogers four or five other persons had called at the store in search of lost dogs. Some of them had not been so cautious as Miss Rogers, but had rewarded the supposed informant handsomely for what he told them about their dogs.

BOSS HEADS BAKERS' MERGER

$30,000,000 Company Elects Officials and Directors in Wilmington.

The Federal Biscuit Company, a thirty-million-dollar merger of the bakeries incorporated under the laws of Delaware, elected officers yesterday at Wilmington. Charles Royce Boss of New London, Conn., was made President, and Hartwell B. Grubbs of St. Louis, a leading spirit in the Consumers' Biscuit Company of New York, Secretary and Treasurer. Messrs. Boss and Grubbs and Adam J. Lang of Wilmington, Thomas G. Robinson, President of the R. B. Biscuit Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Lewis G. Reynolds of Dayton, Ohio, were named as permanent Directors. Ten other stockholders will be chosen to the Directorate in the near future.

It was announced that in addition to the eighty baking companies in the central wester and eastern parts of the United States, which will be absorbed by the new company. President Boss declared that the combination will maintain friendly relations with all competitors.

The company has purchased the patents, trade marks, and copyrights of the Reynolds Aertite Carton Company, together with the company's lands, buildings, and machinery. The Federal Biscuit Company will manufacture and use the airtight carton, which is said to be a very ingenious device for the display of its products.

SAVED FROM ONRUSHING TRAIN

Subway Policeman Leaps Onto the Tracks and Rescues Aged Heat Victim

John McBride, an Interborough special policeman stationed at the 149th Street station of the West Farms branch of the Subway, leaped from the platform to the uptown track yesterday and snatched from death an old peddler who had toppled on to the tracks with the heat. He tossed him into the arms of men on the platform and was then hauled up himself just as a north-bound train came to a sudden stop within five feet of him.

Thomas Doffman, the ticket taker, helped prevent the fatality by jumping to the trackside with a red lantern which he waved as a warning to the motorman of the approaching train.

At Lebanon Hospital later Dr. Cohen found that the injured man, Charles Meissner, 72 years old, of 405 East Twenty-second Street, had contusions of the back and scalp, but was not seriously hurt.

The accident occurred at 11 o'clock, just at the time when the station, which is the most important in the Bronx, is crowded with shoppers.

TWO SAVED IN CONEY'S SURF.

Man and Girl Swimmers Caught in the Strong Undertow.

As William Poker of 34 Attorney Street was bathing off Dreamland, Coney Island, yesterday afternoon he was caught in the strong undertow, and, after a struggle against the outrunning tide, threw up his hands 350 feet from shore. James Miller of the Life Saving Corps started for the rescue, but Miller weighs only 135 pounds, while Poker can beat that by a round hundredweight, and he fought blindly in the water.

It took some smart buffets, the assistance of some other swimmers, and a half hour of strong effort before the heavy man was dragged onto the beach, whence he was taken to the emergency hospital at Dreamland.

Nineteen-year-old Lena Grossman of 641 Sackman Street, Brooklyn, was taken with cramp about the same time, as she was swimming 150 feet off shore from Balmer's Pavilion. The head of the life savers there also met difficulties in the tide, and when he brought the girl ashore Dr. Opensky of the Coney Island Hospital spent an hour in the resuscitation work.

Browne Up Again on Lorimer Charges

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Lee O'Neil Browne, Democratic minority leader of the Illinois Legislature, faced trial to-day for the second time on the charge of having bribed fellow-members of the Legislature to vote for William Lorimer for Senator of the United States. There was another attempt by Browne's attorneys to quash the indictment. The former trial, before Judge McSurely, resulted in a disagreement, after the jury had been out 115 hours.

Grifenhagen Makes First Report.

Register Max S. Grifenhagen made his first report yesterday, embracing the first six months of his "business administration." It compares favorably with other branches of the City Government. The principal item is an increase of $187,000 over the first six months of last year in the receipts of the Mortgage Tax Bureau.

Receiver for Passaic Match Co.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Judge Cross in the United States District Court to-day appointed Charles G. Bergen of Passaic receiver for the defunct Consumers Match Company of Passaic. The petition was made by Devies Brothers, John Malcolm, and A. L. Freeman, creditors. The liabilities are said to be $40,000.

BANK CASHIER WIDER LOOKS FOR LENIENCY

Declines to Plead Guilty Until Assured No More Indictments Will Be Found.

WOULD GET OFF LIGHTLY

District Attorney Promises Nothing, and Additional Indictments Will Probably Be Returned.

Erwin Wider, the defaulting cashier of the New York agency of the Russo-Chinese Bank, who has confessed theft of some $600,000 of securities, did not plead yesterday to the indictment specifically charging him with the larceny of $11,400 of Baltimore and Ohio stock. The indictment covered only one of Wider's various admitted peculations from the bank, and the ex-cashier came into court prepared to plead guilty to it provided no other indictments were found against him.

That was the point under discussion most of the morning between Wider's attorney, Leon Ginsberg, and Acting District Attorney Moss, and it appeared from the developments that an agreement was reached. Indeed there was an impression in the Criminal Court Building that Wider would be indicted several times. Ginsberg declared, however, that his client would not plead guilty unless he had the explicit understanding that no other indictments would be found.

The reason for all the sparring on the subject of indictments and the plea, after Wider has admitted all that is charged against him, lies in the question of sentence. As at present indicted, on one count of grand larceny, Wider stands to receive a minimum of five years and a maximum of ten years' imprisonment—this latter, commuted for good behavior, scaling down to about six years and six months. Considering some of the sentences that are passed out for comparatively trivial offenses where other property than securities has been stolen, any such sentence for a man who has stolen half a million dollars has seemed to many inadequate, and it is believed that Mr. Moss was responding to this sentiment when he declined to enter into any agreement with Mr. Ginsberg, limiting the right of the District Attorney to have other indictments found.

Wider will come before Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions again to-morrow to make his plea, and it was not considered unlikely last night that he will have more than a single indictment to answer to when that time comes. In the courtroom yesterday he had lost all of the nervousness and apparent hysteria that characterized his behavior when first brought into court on Friday. He came over from the Tombs well groomed and nattily dressed. He talked in a cheerful manner with his lawyer, and after the postponement had been obtained walked back to the Tombs smiling broadly.

Down town yesterday there was the usual crop of rumors. One was that Wider had stowed away a big block of securities on the basis of which he was trying to negotiate with the bank to lighten the force of his prosecution in consideration of the return of some of the securities. This report was denied by S. Markowski, the traveling inspector of the Russo-Chinese Bank, who is in charge at the present time. Mr Markowski declared that the bank had traced every dollar of the securities taken and knew exactly where they were placed by Wider. He expressed a strong opinion that the bank would be able to recover substantially all these securities from the brokerage houses that received them.

Mr. Markowski was asked about negotiations between Wider and the bank. He would not be quoted directly, but from what he said it was gathered that attorney Ginsberg and the lawyer for the bank are in touch with each other, but not on any proposition materially to lighten Wider's punishment. The position of the bank is now that the prosecution is up to the District Attorney and that it has no other interest than to see Wider take the full consequences of his crime.

OLD MAN LONGS FOR IRELAND.

Wanders Into Green Fields and Thinks He's There—Daughter Finds Him.

Wandering away from the care of relatives and mistaking the green fields of Long Island for his boyhood home in Ireland, James Lynch, 80 years old, said to be a wealthy resident of Omaha, Neb., where he is known as the "Commodore," was found Saturday evening by his daughter, Mrs. Mary Hart of 206 West Forty-second Street, Manhattan, after he had been committed to the Queens County jail as a vagrant. Following his disappearance detectives were engaged by the family, and traced him to Flushing, where he had been locked up.

Mrs. Hart appeared at the home of Magistrate Fitch in Flushing in a big touring car looking for the wanderer. She obtained papers for his release, and lost no time in visiting the Queens County jail in Long Island City and reclaiming the old "Commodore." He was taken back home in the automobile, and it is understood that with a view to humoring him the family are preparing to make a trip to Ireland.

It is said that some time ago Lynch became restless in his Omaha home, and the family came to Manhattan and took up their residence at the address given with a view of appeasing the aged man's desire to go back to Ireland. Following his rescue from the jail it is said he informed his daughter that he was determined to get back to Ireland.

BOY STARVING AT CONEY.

Lads Who Befriended Runaway Proved Thieves and He Left Them.

Unconscious from starvation, George Mapht, 11 years old, of 185 Montgomery Street, Jersey City, was found yesterday by Patrolman Fred Coops lying on the pavement of Jones's Walk, Coney Island, where he had fallen. After Mrs. Amelia Boyle, the police matron, had revived and fed him, the boy said his father, Andrew Mapht, is a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"I saved $1 and ran away from home Friday afternoon, and came to Coney Island," he said. "Friday night all my money was gone. I had a good time while it lasted, though.

"I met two boys Saturday morning, and they bought me two frankfurters, and I went around with them all day and had a good time.

"On Saturday night I saw them rob a man who was sleeping on the beach. They got $3, and they offered me part of the money, but I would not take it, and I left them. Since then I have had nothing to eat."

Lieut. Keason notified the boy's parents, and Mrs. Mapht went to Coney Island and took him home.

ADMITS HE'S AN EX-CONVICT.

But Self-Styled "Bishop" Miraglia Thinks He Shouldn't Be Deported.

"Bishop" Paolo Miraglia, self-appointed head of the "Catholic Independent Church of Rome," who is detained at Ellis Island awaiting a hearing on the charge that he is an undesirable citizen, declared yesterday that his arrest was unjust. He was brought here from Springfield, Mass., on Friday, following information laid before a local Italian editor.

Miraglia, who came here on May 27 of last year, asserts that, although he has served time in Italian prisons, the crimes were committed more than ten years ago, and that under the Italian laws he has been restored to full citizenship. He admits that while editing papers in Piacenza and Parma he served several terms and was heavily fined for libel, and that while a professor at the Patti University he forged the signatures of the Faculty to fake diplomas, which he sold to deficient students. For this he was ejected from the school and excommunicated from the Catholic Church, but not prosecuted.

His hearing will be held before the Board of Special Inquiry some day this week.

Woman Must Stay in Matteawan

The writ of habeas corpus obtained early in last June by Charlotte Hitchcock, who was charged two years ago with having shot and killed her husband, was dismissed yesterday by Justice Giegerich in the Supreme Court. She asked that she be discharged from the Matteawan Asylum, to which she had been committed, on the ground that she was insane when she killed her husband.

THIRD TIME IN BANKRUPTCY.

William Street Tailor, Who Files a Petition, Has No Assets.

Michael N. Devine, a tailor of 146 William Street, filed yesterday a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $23,005 and no available assets.

This is Devine's third time in bankruptcy. He filed a petition on July 23, 1901, and was discharged on Nov. 25, 1901. On Oct. 6, 1908, a petition in bankruptcy was filed against Devine & Ronan, tailors, of which he was a partner. That petition still is before a referee.

Mr. Devine did not apply for a discharge on the second petition, and afterward did business as Devine & Co. at 150 Nassau Street, but closed. His last petition is to get rid of debts contracted as Devine & Ronan and as Devine & Co.

Among the creditors are Henry J. McCormick, $3,600; J. B. Ellison & Co., Philadelphia, $3,598; Lesher & Whitman, $2,593; Norton, Fessenden & Co., Boston, $1,721, and Philip Rheinberg, $1,544.

Arthur Ronan, his partner, committed suicide three months ago due to worry over an indictment against him growing out of the affairs of Devine & Ronan.
